CAROLINA LOSES DEBATE

PENNSYLVANIA WINS BY A NARROW MARGIN.

Both Sides Have Strong Argument—Pennsylvania Men Make a Good Impression.

Carolina's debaters, Messrs. P. M. Williams and T. W. Andrews, lost the debate Friday night with Messrs. F. W. Melvin and A. W. Smith, representatives of the Philomathean Society of the University of Pennsylvania. The vote of the judges stood two to one, and the decision was reached after more than half an hour's deliberation. The query was "Resolved, That the tariff should not be reduced at the next session of Congress," and Carolina had the negative side.

Messrs. Smith and Melvin were accompanied by Mr. F. A. Paul as alternate. Mr. Paul is an old debater, having captained the Pennsylvania varsity debating team for two years, and is an editor on The Punch Bowl, The Red and Blue and The Pennsylvanian. Mr. Smith is an editor on The Pennsylvanian and was a member of the debating team which defeated the Haverford and Zelosphic Societies last spring. Mr. Melvin, captain of the present debating team, was a member of the debating teams against Haverford in 1905 and against Columbia in 1906.

Messrs. Williams and Andrews never before represented Carolina in an inter-collegiate debate, but they showed up as unusually strong debaters, and the manly manner in which they accepted defeat won the respect and admiration of every one.

The debate was presided over by Judge James C. MacRae. Mr. J. W. Umstead acted as secretary and Messrs. W. K. Boyd, professor of history in Trinity College; E. P. Wharton, president of the Southern Life and Trust Company of Greensboro, and W. C. Jackson, principal of the Greensboro High School, were the judges.

When the case had been turned over to the judges and they had withdrawn, various people in the audience were called upon for speeches. Mr. Paul of Pennsylvania, in responding to the call for him, made a happy little talk, expressing for himself and his colleagues their appreciation of the hospitality which had been accorded them during their short stay here. He made quite a hit, and indeed all of the Pennsylvania men made a most favorable impression.

The Pennsylvania debaters took the attitude that the question is untimely in view of the present tight money market. It was urged that the country is verging on the edge of a panic and that an upheaval such as the tariff revision would cause would still further complicate our present unfortunate financial

SCHUBERT AND MR. WARDE

THURSDAY AND MONDAY NIGHTS RESPECTIVELY.

Schubert Quartette Renders Delightful Program—Mr. Warde Also Good.

The University has been favored by two Star Course entertainments since the last appearance of The Tar Heel—Schubert String Quartette of Boston on Thursday night and Mr. Frederick Warde, also of Boston, on Monday night.

THE SCHUBERT QUARTETTE

The Schubert String Quartette of Boston made its annual visit to the University Thursday night. For several years this quartette has been on the Star Course program, and needless to say their visits are sources of pleasure to lovers of good music.

This time the quartette gave even a better program than usual. Yet to the people who expected or desired rag-time it was a disappointment and be it said to the everlasting shame of some of the students that they manifested their disappointment and disapproval in a manner becoming the denizens of the peanut gallery in a city theater. Nay, it was worse. For, not being satisfied with causing disturbance in the hall, some irresponsible and childish beings must needs resort to giving the college yells just on the outside.

But, leaving out these disturbances and the consequent anger they caused the responsible and sane students, the performance was a distinct success. The members of the company are unquestionably artists of the first order, and their rendition of some of the most difficult pieces was a source of pure de-

Freshmen Defeated.

The Freshmen were defeated in Greensboro Saturday by the Greensboro High School to the tune of 9 to 5. The game was fast and snappy all the way through and the teams were pretty evenly matched.

The Freshmen scored first, making a touchdown but failed to kick goal. Later the "Highs" kicked a field goal and made a touchdown. The game ended with the ball in the possession of the Freshmen on Greensboro's two foot line.

CAROLINA TAKES A BRACE

RICHMOND COLLEGE HAS A PICNIC IN FIRST HALF.

In the Second Carolina Rallies and Wins the Game by Score of 13 to 11

Carolina defeated Richmond College here in an extremely interesting game of football Saturday afternoon by the score of 13 to 11.

The Richmond College men surprised every one by their plucky game and at the end of the first half, with the score 11 to 2 in favor of the visitors, the situation looked mighty bad for Carolina. But with the never-say-die spirit characteristic of the supporters of the White and Blue, Carolina got into the game in the second half and completely turned the tables on Richmond College.

Various conjectures have been put forward to explain the lethargy of the Carolina men in the first half. It may have been a spirit of over-confidence. If so, they soon realized that they were up against no puny crowd and must hand out the best in the house to the men from Richmond. But whatever the bugbear, it was put to flight in the second half—for Carolina played ball.

The game was interesting. It abounded in fake plays, forward passes, and long end runs. In the use of fake plays Richmond College was peculiarly fortunate and many a time she kept Carolina guessing as to which direction the leather would finally take. In the use of the forward pass both sides were successful, neither side being penalized more than once or twice for failure to work it successfully.

At the beginning of the first half Carolina kicked off to Richmond

Faculty and Varsity Have a Fight.

Prof. E. K. Graham and Dr. L. R. Wilson laid aside their dignity last Friday and met the varsity tennis team on the D. K. E. court in a contest for supremacy. A great contest it was—as interesting as the meet with Wake Forest and not nearly so one-sided.

It was agreed that three out of five sets should decide the contest, but fast though the playing was, it was impossible to play the five sets and the meet was called off at dark with the score two to one in favor of the varsity and a tie on the fourth set. The scores were: 6-3, 5-7, 6-1, 9-9.

The meet will probably be played off some time this week.

Athletic Association Fees Due.

The membership fees of the athletic association must be paid by December 1st. The election for the managers of the football team will be held early in December, and only those who have paid their fees will be entitled to vote.

THE UNIVERSITY SERMON

BY REVEREND MELTON CLARK OF GREENSBORO.

Spiritual Life His Theme—Held His Audience from Beginning to End.

Reverend Melton Clark, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Greensboro, on last Sunday night preached the University sermon for November. The large crowd of townspeople and students present almost filled Gerrard Hall. Mr. Clark held his audience from the beginning both by the force of his thought and by the ease of his delivery. His theme was spiritual life and he chose as his text the seventeenth verse of sixth chapter of Second Kings: "And Elisha said, Lord, I pray thee, open his eyes, that he may see."

The speaker began by saying that there was to every man the fact and possibility of spiritual insight, the fact and possibility of spiritual power. God is with his people in a especial sense to aid and protect them and he will give them the best spiritually. David stated a great truth when he said, "The angel of the Lord encampeth round about them that fear him" Many who ought to receive great benefit from this truth know nothing at all of it or its power. Many men have sought for spiritual power, but have not done it in the right way because they are blind. Oftentimes they almost attain spiritual power, but they meet with the rough places in life and fail because they have not the assurance of God's love.

The appreciation of the spiritual is possible to all. The miraculous spirit power which belonged to Elisha is an improbability today, yet any one by asking God can grow in spiritual power. The reason that some men have no spiritual power is because their spiritual sense is dead. We apprehend all things through the senses. If we have no light sense we cannot see, if we have no spiritual sense we can have no spiritual insight, no spiritual power. We must look to God and get the spiritual sense and spiritual power.

It was this power that stood Abraham, Joseph and Moses in good stead through all their trials and endeavors. It was by this power that Arthur Cumnor revolutionized life at Harvard, that Robert Speer left an indelible imprint on Princeton life, and it is by means of this power that the young men of Carolina can change and uplift the moral tone of the student body.

Dr. Archibald Henderson has accepted the invitation of the Winthrop and Curry Literary Societies of Winthrop College, S. C., to address them on the occasion of their joint annual banquet on November 28th.
