As a result of the recent agitation twenty-five members were added to the Athletic Association, making a total of about one hundred and fifty members. Such a state of affairs is rather surprising and rather disappointing. The dollar fee clause in the constitution was the stumbling block, but the constitution was supposed to have been adopted by a majority vote of the students. Why the discrepancy? There seems to be something wrong.

Of course nothing can be done this year, but it is to be hoped that the membership in the future will be larger. It is surprising to know that five hundred of the students are willing for a hundred and fifty men to manage their athletic affairs. If something is not done, if the membership does not increase, it will eventually mean the degeneration of the Association into the ineffective body that it was last year. And this will mean the return of the management to the Advisory Committee. Shall it be said that the student body cannot attend to its own athletic affairs?

MANAGER GRAY'S success in disposing of season tickets is gratifying. A large number has already been sold and the polls are not yet closed. If one may draw conclusions from this sale, the financial outlook is not as bad as it might be. But not yet are congratulations in order. Seventeen games will be played on the Hill—a larger number than we have ever known before—and the solid financial support of the students is necessary. However, it is the belief of The Tar Heel that no more loyal body of students exists anywhere than at this institution—and the financial support will be forthcoming.

THE game Saturday may not be one to call forth any excessive amount of rooting, but the students cannot begin too soon to show the players that the solid support of the entire college community is theirs. Rooting, enthusiastic, continuous rooting is the assurance of such support. To a son of Carolina there is no more inspiring sound on earth than a fast and snappy "Yackety Yack." So, my brethren, don't make Phillips work himself blue in the face to rouse a few yells.

THERE has been a tendency on the part of some of the students to laugh at the players when the coach deals out a little criticism. Such is not the right spirit. It worries the coach and bothers the players. We are sure the students will desist when they realize that the training of the team is no laughing matter.

DURING the absence of the editor-in-chief last week, The Tar Heel was in charge of Mr. F. P. Graham, the assistant editor-in-chief. To him all credit is due.

DEPARTMENT OF MEDICINE

Undergraduate Department. The One Hundred and Forty-second Session will begin September 27, 1907. The course, which covers a period of four years, of eight and one-half months each, is eminently practical, and properly graded, beginning with laboratory instruction in the fundamental subjects, and concluding with a comprehensive system of clinical instruction, terminating in the Fourth Year with the assignment of students as clinical clerks in the Hospital.

A large proportion (at least 80 per cent.) of the graduating classes secure positions as Resident Physicians in Hospitals.

Summer School for Graduates. The clinics and laboratories of this Department are open throughout the year for the benefit of those who wish to engage in graduate work. For those whose time is more limited, a comprehensive course is given, beginning this year May 13, and continuing for a period of six weeks. This course is designed to meet the needs of the practitioner.
