SINCE The Tar Heel last appeared Carolina has won two notable victories: One a contest of brains in which Hester and Johnston were the stars, the other a contest of skill in which the baseball team, the coach, and Manager Gray were the stars. One victory was no less sweet than the other. Virginia has long been our dearest enemy on the gridiron and on the diamond and last year was established another battle field, of importance every whit as great as the gridiron or the diamond.

The debate, according to the press accounts, was of a high order, and knowing the Carolina men as we do we are sure that it was so. The fight was close. No walk-over was it: behold that one vote for Virginia. Our boys are to be congratulated, for on the same night that Carolina won, a Virginia team wrested the victory, by a unanimous vote, from Johns Hopkins in a debate on the same question.

And the game? Well, the game was anybody's game till the last Virginia man fanned the air in the ninth. At no point could the Carolina supporters sink back with a sigh of relief, thinking that the victory had been won. Those Virginians fight to the last ditch and the margin was only one little run. But not once did the Carolina boys let up in the intensity and coolness of their play. In the fifth for example, with the bases full and one man out, Fullenwider and his team mates wavered not and were calm with the calmness that comes in a great crisis. Altogether the game was a magnificent exhibition of the great American sport, and when the last ball was thrown and the news was flashed over the wire thousands of hearts throughout the Old North State breathed a prayer of gratitude and thankfulness.

ONE of the pressing needs at the athletic field is more seating room. Time was when the grand-stand and bleachers were large enough, but with Manager Gray placing season tickets here, there, and everywhere, that time has passed. At the games now-a-days an irritated yell may be heard from the bottom seat of the bleachers at frequent intervals for those who are standing to get "Down in front!"

We hope that the manager may get rich from his season tickets and donate a few shekels for the relief of those who are compelled to hug the fence.

New West Catches Fire.

Thursday shortly after dinner the New West building was discovered to be on fire under the first floor. The alarm was sounded, soon many buckets were in evidence, and in less time than is taken in the telling the fire was extinguished, with practically no damage done.

No one knows how the fire started, but it is supposed that some student carelessly threw a lighted cigarette on the floor, and that it fell through a crack and started the blaze.

Dartmouth and Villanova.

The Carolina bunch will play Dartmouth Friday and Saturday and Villanova Monday and Tuesday. The students have had no cause for complaint in the way the team has shown up thus far against the Northern teams, and it is hoped that the grand-stand and the bleachers will be packed for these four games, for something interesting is promised.

Intercollegiate Tennis Tournament

Carolina has been invited to send representatives to the Southern Intercollegiate Tennis Tournament to be held in Atlanta May 11, 12, 13. A large number of Southern Colleges will be represented. The four best players will be chosen as the officers of the Association for the following year. Messrs. Hubert Poteat and E. B. Earnshaw of Wake Forest are president and vice-president respectively, and inasmuch as Carolina won the meet with these gentlemen last fall it is to be hoped that she will send representatives.

Meds Slaughter the Freshmen.

The Freshmen met their Waterloo Friday afternoon on a field strewn with the dry bones of the Meds. The score was 18 to 1. Whitaker, an old Varsity man, was in the box for the Meds and the Freshman couldn't connect with his curves. Long for the Freshmen was not a sufficient quantity for the Meds, for they had but little trouble in finding the physiological action of his speedy ones. The work of the Doctors in the field was up to the notch, and the wise ones predict that the skull and bones will have to be considered in that final race for the championship.

Seniors Downed by Freshmen.

The Freshmen surprised every one Tuesday afternoon by defeating the Seniors in baseball by the score of 4 to 2. The Freshmen played a steady game, and their hits, aided by numerous errors on the part of the Seniors were sufficient to win the game. Thomas for the Freshmen pitched a good game while Matthews for the Seniors was hit rather freely. Cocke assisted Thomas at the battery and Rogers and Groome assisted Matthews. Fullenwider umpired.

DEPARTMENT OF MEDICINE

Undergraduate Department. The One Hundred and Forty-second Session will begin September 27, 1907. The course, which covers a period of four years, of eight and one-half months each, is eminently practical, and properly graded, beginning with laboratory instruction in the fundamental subjects, and concluding with a comprehensive system of clinical instruction, terminating in the Fourth Year with the assignment of students as clinical clerks in the Hospital.

A large proportion (at least 80 per cent.) of the graduating classes secure positions as Resident Physicians in Hospitals.

Summer School for Graduates. The clinics and laboratories of this Department are open throughout the year for the benefit of those who wish to engage in graduate work. For those whose time is more limited, a comprehensive course is given, beginning this year May 13, and continuing for a period of six weeks. This course is designed to meet the needs of the practitioner.
