FIVE SUCCESSFUL DANCES.

Dr. and Mrs. Joseph H. Pratt; Mrs. Jewitt; Mr. E. G. Muse, Rocky Mount; Dr. and Mrs. C. S. Mangum, Mr. and Mrs. Woollen, Mrs. R. S. MacRae, Mrs. Cramer, Mrs. Fred Archer, Dr. F. P. Venable, Dr. R. H. Lewis, Dr. and Mrs. R. O. E. Davis, Mrs. C. S. McArthur, Prof. and Mrs. Palmer Cobb.

Stags: R. Wilson, W. Lambeth, George Fountain, Don MacRae, Ham. Jones, H. A. and H. E. Vogler, G. Palmer, E. Jones, J. B. Palmer, W. F. Small, Parsely, Lee, W. A. Montgomery, C. B. Ruffin, Richard Eames, F. Miller, W. T. Joyner, James Cheshire, James Wiggins, J. B. Whittington, Joseph Pogue, John T. Johnston, W. P. Jacocks, E. G. Bond, J. R. Wilson, C. Frazier, C. Carr, Lewis Tomlinson, Tom Worth, W. F. Carr, A. M. Eaton, Walter Moore, and others.

The honorary ball managers were: Messrs. Hazel Holland, T. R. Brem, T. S. Busbee, Floyd Simmons, Burke H. Bridgers, L. S. Holt, S. N. Clarke, C. V. Harris, C. S. Dey, and P. D. Gold, Jr.

Phi Beta Kappa Men.

After the luncheon Monday the local chapter of Phi Beta Kappa held a meeting in the Alumni building and initiated the following men, who had satisfied the requirements of the chapter that a student average 92½ per cent on all work taken during the first three years of his college life:

Messrs. F. E. Winslow, of Hertford, president; Frank P. Graham, of Charlotte, secretary; Kemp D. Battle, of Rocky Mount; W. L. Long, of Garysburg; C. W. Tillett, Jr., of Charlotte; J. M. Costner, of Raleigh; H. P. Osborne, of Jacksonville, Fla.; and David D. Oliver, of Mount Olive. The presidency goes to the man with the highest average. Mr. Winslow exceeded Mr. Graham in the three years' work by only one-fiftieth of a point, a difference infinitesimal but decisive in this case. Both deserve high commendation.

It had been purposed that an address would be delivered before the society at this time by Prof. William G. Sumner, of Yale, but a stroke of paralysis made his attendance impossible.

The Editors.

The various University publications will be in good hands next year. The Tar Heel will be edited by F. P. Graham, who has served as assistant editor-in-chief this year with unusual ability, and there is no doubt but that he will issue a publication in every way worthy of the University. D. B. Teague will act as assistant editor-in-chief. The associate editors will be L. C. Warren, Munroe Gaddy, C. Thompson, T. P. Nash, and one other man who will be elected later to fill the vacancy caused by the appointment of D. B. Teague as assistant editor-in-chief. C. B. Ruffin will manage the business end of the sheet. He has served this year as assistant business manager, and with the experience acquired in this way he will be in a position to make a good manager. He has not yet appointed his assistant.

The chief of The Magazine staff will be J. B. Reeves, who has shown this year that he possesses the ability requisite for this important position. The associate editors will be: O. J. Coffin, R. A. Freeman, C. W. Tillett, Jr., of the Di, and W. L. Long, T. P. Nash, F. E. Winslow, of the Phi. S. W. Hodge, assisted by C. B. Spicer, will be the business manager. Mr. Hodge possesses the business ability and energy for this place and he will doubtless break some records.

H. P. Osborne, of the S. A. E. fraternity, will be the chief editor of the Yackety Yack, with B. L. Banks, Jr., of the Phi, and Tom McManis, of the Di, as the business managers. These men have all shown unusual ability in their respective lines, and it is a safe prediction to say that the Yackety Yack will be worthy of the University. We have been unable to secure the names of all the associate editors.

Prof. Graham to Wed.

It has been announced that Prof. E. K. Graham will be married June 25 to Miss Susan Moses, of Raleigh. Prof. Graham is one of the strongest men in the faculty. He is universally respected by the students, who recognize in him a friend, a gentleman, one who will give a square deal under all circumstances, and a teacher of rare ability. Miss Moses is well known in Chapel Hill, having spent part of her life here. She is a young woman of much strength of character and of unusual intellectual ability.

A Correction.

It was stated in the last issue of The Tar Heel that the executive committee of the faculty refused to consider the Gunter case. This was an unintentional mis-statement. The matter was never referred to the committee.

LOCAL NOTES.

Davie Hall, the new biological building, is rapidly nearing completion.

The summer school for teachers opened Wednesday with a fair attendance.

Louis Hobbs has been elected captain of the baseball team for next year.

Dr. J. F. Royster will be married on June 17 to Miss Lake in Boulder, Colorado.

Miss May Hume is touring Europe, in company with some of her Washington friends.

Prof. Collier Cobb is spending the summer in geological investigations in Italy and in the Algerian Sahara.

Dr. K. P. Battle is spending some time in Raleigh gathering data in the State Library for the second volume of his history of the University.

Quite a number of the pharmacy men are on the Hill preparing for the State board examination to be held at Morehead City in the early part of July.

Mr. I. L. Potter will spend the summer recuperating at Barre, in the mountains of Vermont. He will study with Leland Powers next year in Boston.

The class of 1908 at a meeting held during commencement elected T. W. Andrews permanent president and Jas. A. Gray, Jr., permanent secretary and treasurer.

The Seniors won the championship of the college in baseball. The final deciding game was that with the Meds, played just before the examination period, in which the Seniors won by a small margin. The Seniors were in turn defeated by the faculty, for they couldn't find Dr. Lawson's curves and they made errors galore.

The Medical Society has admitted to membership this year twelve men from the first year class, who have made high grades in their work. They are Messrs. Cummings, Flagler, Harrison, Jacocks, Judd, Kerns, LeGwin, Leonard, Payne, Powell, Washburn, and Wilkins. The president of the society appointed Mr. LeGwin to act as temporary chairman till the proper officers are elected for the following year.
