ADDRESS BY DR. EDWIN MIMS

AT THE Y. M. C. A. BIBLE STUDY RALLY

A Large Crowd of Students and Faculty Present at Annual Meeting

The annual Bible Study Rally of the Young Men's Christian Association was held in the Chapel last Sunday afternoon at 3:30. Dr. C. Alphonso Smith presided over the meeting, Rev. Royal read and led in prayer, and Dr. Edwin Mims, professor of English Literature in Trinity College made the principle address, which was a powerful presentation of the whole subject of Bible study, and which was closely listened to by a large and representative audience of students and faculty. Dr. Smith presented a very interesting thought in his brief opening remarks. He said that among the Grecians, Homer was so universally known that the Greeks quoted from him on any and all occasions and everybody understood it. We have no piece of literature that fills such a place. The Bible, he said, is the only book that holds such a place. You can quote it anywhere and it will be known. And through it, he said, through its history, its romance, its parables, its imagery the writer and the speaker are able to make their strongest appeal.

Dr. Mims said in part:

"I never stand before a body of young men like this, that I do not feel the responsibility and opportunity of human life. We should all be glad that we are alive today, in the full enjoyment of health, and in the abundant hope of useful careers. I would that we might all feel what it means to live at this time and among these people. The supreme object of each one of us ought to be to fit himself to be the most efficient worker in bringing about the Kingdom of God. To this end we must use every possible means for the enrichment and energizing and vitalizing our personalities. If our religion means anything it should mean the development of the total, of the whole man under the inspiration of God. Every power that we have is capable of infinite growth; and to attain this growth in your University careers as well as in later life, should be your primary aim. God reveals himself in many ways to us—there is not a study that you have that may not become of use to you in expanding your intellectual and spiritual vigor. You shall learn from science more than you have ever known of the majesty and wonder and joy of God's Universe, at the same time that you are developing your minds in the direction of accuracy and precision and judgment. You shall find in history

FIGHT FOR PLACES FIERCE

THE FOOTBALL PRACTICE IS ON IN EARNEST

The 'Varsity Eleven is as Yet an Unknown Quantity—First Game Saturday

Football is the all-absorbing topic at present, and each afternoon crowds of students can be seen at the side-lines, watching the practice. Coach Greene has had the candidates hard at work, and already his training is beginning to show up. The ends are getting down under punts in a hurry, and are tackling the runner hard. The backfield men show much improvement in catching and running back punts. The line men are being coached as to how they should charge, both at offense and defense, and from present indications Carolina ought to have an invincible line.

Croswell will not be out again this year, as he had to have an operation performed for appendicitis. His loss will be a serious one, for he had no equal here in punting, and as a line-plunger he was one of the best. However, Capt. Thomas and Belden are both good punters, and there is no reason why Carolina should be outdone in this important department of the game. It is not yet settled as to who will play the backfield positions. Thomas, Wiggins, Ruffin, Hedgpeth, Williams, Kelly, Schimpf, McLean, Hanes and Watlington are all good men, and it will take some time to find out which of these men will compose the Varsity trio. For quarter on the Varsity, Belden and Mann are now running neck and neck, while Tillett is also showing up well. Deans and Hughes are also running a close race for center, and Morrison would make a good substitute for either. Howell is a tower of strength at his old position, right guard, while Isley and Ferguson are both good material for the other guard. Garrett and Norwood are now playing the tackles, but Grier and Coleman are giving them a run for their money. Manning, Rogers, Wadsworth and Lambeth will all make good men to put on the ends.

Coach Greene is having a hard scrimmage practice each afternoon, so that the players will become hardened early in the season. The scrimmage Monday afternoon was hard-fought on both sides, the Varsity winning out by one touchdown, which they made four minutes after play began. The plunging by Thomas and Wiggins, end runs by Wiggins, and a well-executed forward pass netted over sixty yards, and with only a few more yards to gain, Captain Thomas carried the ball over for a touchdown. After this neither side got within striking distance of the goal. Lester made several spectacular short end runs for the "Scrubs". The line-up in

DR. W. H. MEADE RESIGNS

FOR THE PAST EIGHT YEARS A RECTOR HERE

Will Retire from Active Work—Greatly Beloved in Chapel Hill

Dr. W. H. Meade, for eight years the Rector of the Chapel of the Cross, has resigned his charge and will retire from active work. The resignation has been accepted and will take effect the first of November. The news of Dr. Meade's resignation was heard with general regret both in Chapel Hill and on the campus. The usefulness of his life, the kindness and gentleness of his disposition, coupled with the scholarly dignity of his sermons, have endeared him to townsman and student alike.

Dr. Meade comes of good Virginia stock. Few families in Virginia have a more honored history than the family of which Dr. Meade is a descendant. He is the grandson of the distinguished Bishop Meade. Dr. Meade was educated at the University of Virginia and at the Theological Seminary at Alexandria, Va. He assisted his father at Lexington a year after his graduation, but his first charge was in Mecklenburg Co., Va., where he stayed four years. He was Rector of the Zion Church, Charlestown, West Virginia, for sixteen years. From Charlestown he went to Philadelphia where he had as his charge for four years, the Church of the Savior. From there he went to Roanoke where he was rector of St. John's Church for twelve years. The last Sunday in October, 1898, Dr. Meade became Rector of the Chapel of the Cross. From that day to this he has given his devoted life to the betterment of the the people of Chapel Hill and to the ennobling of the students of the University. The people of Chapel Hill and the students of the University are deeply appreciative of his helpfulness to them. His retirement from active service in his declining years is but the fitting reward of a useful life. The Tar Heel extends to him the best wishes for a happy retirement from the active services of a long and honored career.

Monday's scrimmage was as follows:

Manning	r.e.	Small, Belk
Norwood	r.t.	Oliver
Howell	r.g.	McLean
Hughes	c.	Deans, Morrison
Isley	l.g.	Ferguson
Garrett	l.t.	Coleman
Rogers	l.e.	Wadsworth, Lambeth, Pinnix
Belden	q.b.	Mann
Williams	r.h.b.	Ritch, Rhodes
Thomas	l.h.b.	Hedgpeth, McLean
Wiggins	f.b.	Hanes, Lester

The team will be in readiness by Saturday for the first game with Wake Forest. It is impossible to make any prediction as to what the score will be, as Wake Forest is an unknown quantity, this being the first football team the Baptist institution has recently sent out. While the season is yet young this first game will go a long way toward deciding who makes the Varsity, for practically every promising candidate will get a try-out in the game.

THE RECEPTION TO FRESHMEN

BY Y. M. C. A. LAST THURSDAY NIGHT

At the Beautiful Home of Dr. and Mrs. George Howe—Large Attendance

The social event of the fall opening was the reception given to the Freshmen by the Y.M.C.A. Thursday evening at Waldfriden, the home of Dr. and Mrs. George Howe. The extensive lawn was brilliantly illuminated by an orderly series of Japanese lanterns and the capacious home was tastefully decorated. Dr. Howe, Mrs. Howe, Mrs. Gilliam, and Mrs. Flynn graciously received the guests in the hall way. The Freshmen, contrary to expectation in view of their timidity at this stage of their college career, came out in large numbers unmolested by the wary Sophomores. Members of the faculty and people of the town, who so generously aided in furnishing refreshments, were present to add to and partake of the pleasure of the occasion. The refreshments, which consisted of cream and cake, were served most bountifully. Everybody had a good time and especially the Freshmen. This night will long be remembered by members of the class of 1912 as one of the most enjoyable nights of the year. The reception, which was more or less an experiment by Mrs. Howe, will become a precedent for the coming years and will be looked forward to with interest and pleasure.

Magazine in the Hands of the Printers.

The board of editors and managers of the University Magazine has made a good beginning. In consequence of the tireless efforts of ex-manager Hodge during the summer, the magazine is already on a solid financial basis. Two hundred and fifty subscribers outside of Chapel Hill have been secured and the number of advertisements already secured is exceptionally large. The cover has been changed. It will be white with blue lettering embossed. The contract for the printing has been let to the Ray Printing Company, a well known printing firm of Charlotte. The first issue promises to be a good one. The material is already in the hands of the printers and the business manager is counting on getting the issue out by the fifth or sixth of October. The following changes have been made in the personell of the board: Mr. D. B. Teague was elected by the Philanthropic Society to succeed Mr. S. W. Hodge, who will not return to college; and Mr. V. C. Edwards was elected by the Dialectic Society to take the place of Mr. R. A. Freeman, who is teaching school in Georgia. The magazine is under the excellent supervision of Editor-in-Chief, J. B. Reeves.
