

VIRGINIA OVERWHELMS US

the leadership of Mr. C. A. Vogler played and played and the Carolina rooters under the leadership of Mr. E. C. Morrison and others sent cheer after cheer across the field. Nor did they cheer altogether in vain for in the second half the Tar Heel eleven took a brace and held Virginia to one touchdown and a goal.

— From The Times-Dispatch.

North Carolina won the toss, and chose to kick off to Virginia at the eastern goal. Crosswell returned the ball ten yards, and failing on downs, Crosswell punted to the forty-five yard line, getting the ball on a fumble. Williams made three yards through tackle, but Dunlap lost ground. Carolina kicked to Stanton, Virginia's right half back, who failed to gain. Virginia was penalized fifteen yards for holding, and then kicked to Williams, who ran three yards to the thirty-five yard line. Carolina punted out to Virginia, who made five yards. Stanton went through tackle for four yards, and Yancey bucked the line for five more.

Stanton went around the end for three, and Yancey again went through Carolina's line for four yards. Carolina held on the fifteen-yard line, and on the failure of an attempted forward pass Virginia lost the penalty of fifteen yards. Honaker tried an onside kick and Carolina fell on the ball on the twenty-five-yard line. Crosswell failed to go through, and then punted out to Yancey on the forty-five-yard line.

Yancey went twenty yards, but was overhauled by Crosswell. Neff went round right end for ten yards, and Stanton pulled off twelve more round the opposite end after he had dragged his tacklers several yards. He gained to within a yard of the goal, and Yancey made the rest of the distance, scoring the first touchdown within five minutes after play was begun. Cecil kicked goal, and the score stood, Virginia, 6; North Carolina, 0.

Carolina received the kick-off at the east goal, and Virginia went to the thirty-five-yard line. Williams, of Carolina, got the ball on a fumble, and punted out to Stanton, who ran back to the center of field. Neff dashed round end for ten yards, and then the ball was passed to the star Stanton, who went by the Carolina end for twenty-two yards. Neff went round the other end for twelve yards, and the pigskin was placed within two and a half yards of the goal. Belden was substituted for Crosswell of Carolina. Carolina held, and Yancey failed on a line plunge. On the next down, however, the full back was shoved over for the second touchdown, and Cecil kicked goal, making the score: Carolina 0; Virginia, 12. It was seen then that the game was lost for Carolina, tho she still fought gamely.

Belden kicked off to Virginia, defending the eastern goal. Stanton caught the ball and passed it to Neff, who gained twelve yards. Cecil kicked back to centre field. Carolina made slight gains, and was forced to punt. The ball went to Stanton at the thirty-five-yard line, and he gained four yards. Virginia punted, the ball going out of bounds at the fifty-five-yard line. The ball was brought back, and Elliott threw Williams for a loss. Belden receiving the same fate on a fake kick.

Belden punted, and Stanton advanced the pigskin to the thirty-five-yard line.

The Virginia right half swept around left end for twenty-five yards, but Virginia was penalized fifteen for holding. Cecil punted out to Carolina to the twenty-five-yard line, but Tillet fumbled the catch, and Bowen fell on the ball. A forward pass failed, and Cecil punted to Williams, who was thrown at the seven-yard line by Cecil. Belden punted out to Stanton at centre field. On the second down the same runner gained twenty yards around left end, but Yancey failed to go through the Carolina line. Honaker, on a quarter back play, went five yards. Elliott got the ball on an on-side kick on the ten-yard line, and Yancey took the ball over, but Virginia was penalized fifteen yards for holding. Cecil kicked to Tillet, who was thrown by Murphy behind the goal for a safety, making two more points for Virginia. Score: Virginia, 14; Carolina, 0.

Belden punted out from the twenty-five-yard line to the centre field, and Stanton ran back eighteen yards. Honaker swept around the end for twenty-five yards, and the pigskin was placed on the Tar Heels' fifteen-yard-line. Neff was shoved through three yards; Yancey went through for eight more, was shoved over for the third touchdown. Cecil kicked goal, and the score was 20 to 0 in favor of Virginia.

Virginia received the kick-off at the western goal. Stanton got the ball and passed it to Neff, who advanced it eighteen yards. The brilliant right half then swept far around end for thirty yards, and Honaker repeated the trick for twenty-five yards more. Within twelve yards of the Tar Heel goal the ball was passed to Stanton, who made a wide sweep around end for a touchdown, the fourth. Cecil failed to kick goal. Score: Virginia, 25 to Carolina, 0.

Virginia received the kick-off on the ten-yard line. Yancey fumbled, and Cecil punted to the forty-five-yard line. Williams gained three yards, but Carolina failed on the forward pass, and it was Virginia's ball on the thirty-yard line. Cecil punted out to centre field. Punts were exchanged, and the pigskin was placed in centre field, in Virginia's possession. Honaker swept round end on one of his famous quarter back plays for thirty-three yards six more were added, and time was called.

In the second half Virginia made only one touchdown. The Carolina players fought stubbornly to the end.

A WORD FROM THE MANAGERS

(Continued from first page) nual through the managers, and by furnishing material to the editors. M. L. Willis and V. C. Edwards, the Picture Committee, representing Mr. Waller Holladay, the Yackety Yack photographer, will be glad to make dates for your sittings at the earliest possible moment. These pictures must be made not later than this fall, in order to get them in the annual. It is up to the different classes, fraternities, tea ms, organizations, and individuals to have their pictures made as early as possible.

In order to help the editors, it is equally as important that the literary men on the campus should hand in productions to C. W. Tillet. There are men here who are good artists, yet, who have not taken enough interest in their annual to submit drawings. It is also most important that the members of the several classes should hand in their statistics at once. There are boxes tacked up on the bulletin boards for this purpose. Hand them in at once. Another important thing, and one which adds largely to the value of the annual, is drags. Do not overlook this but drop in the boxes for the purpose any good drag you may hear.

It is essential to the success of the annual that we sell as many as we possibly can. The more "Yacks" sold the better contract we can make. Apart from the value of reminiscences it may hold for you, the entertainment it will afford your family and friends, it is your duty to have one in your home and town, in order to advertise the University. Our college annual, as well as our athletic victories, influence more than a few to choose the University from among other colleges for their education. When the managers come around, do not say that you do not want a book, or to come around again, but subscribe at once. The contract will be placed within the next two weeks.

In the next article we will give in detail the amount of work involved in getting material for this book which will not only be instructive but interesting.

Again we wish to urge upon the students the necessity of cooperation this fall in order to get the Yackety Yack out early. We expect to have the book published and delivered not later than April 15th.
