TENNIS MEET IN ATLANTA

SOUTHERN INTERCOLLEGIATE TOURNAMENT AT EAST LAKE CLUB.

The Southern Inter-collegiate Tennis Association will hold its annual tournament at Atlanta about the middle of May. The matches will be played at the East Lake Club courts. There will be a tournament it both singles and doubles the winners being considered the inter-collegiate champions of the South. Also the winners will be given offices in the Association for their success. Lodging at the club house will be furnished for as many as possible of the visitors. Also a restaurant is run at the club house with very reasonable prices. Besides the tennis there will be also other means of enjoying oneself. Among other things there is a lake nearby for rowing, canoeing, and swimming. The tournament is open to anyone who has registered at and is a bona fide student of some Southern college. The University has never yet sent a team to compete in these tournaments and yet we believe that tennis here is in a farther state of advancement than at any other college in the state, certainly. If there is a tennis team among us with a desire for glory the chance is open to them.

N. C. WALLOPS BINGHAM--NOT

THE BOYS FROM MEBANE PROVE A HARDER PROPOSITION THAN WE HAD EXPECTED

The first scalp of the season of 1909 is now dangling in the wigwam of Chief Hamilton and his tribe of horse-hide warriors. However, it was no cinch to take it. The lads from Mebane showed unexpected form. They fielded well, and outbatted the locals, so the best Carolina could do was to win out by the narrow margin of three to two.

Carolina's strong point was the work of her infielders. Not a single error was chalked up against them. While no errors were charged to the outfielders, still their work on one or two occasions was rather slow. The locals showed up woefully weak with the willow. Only five safe hits were made off the delivery of Campbell, who to all appearances, had nothing puzzling. Duncan and Moore got two hits each, and the latter accepted eight chances without an error.

The Bingham team showed up well with the stick, getting eight safe bingles, two of which were two-baggers. Lutterloh, E. was the chief offender. He secured three hits out of four times at the bat. Lipscomb's neat catching was the feature of the visitor's work.

Bingham scored in the first inning. Campbell, the first man up, drew a pass. Horner forced Campbell at second, but reached first himself. Lutterloh, L. leaned against one of Duls' straight balls and drove it to the farthest extremity of right field. He was not built for a sprinter, so he got no farther than second. Horner, however, raced around the sacks and crossed the plate. Lipscomb fanned. Lutterloh, E. singled to right. Glover went out via second to first.

Carolina could not get a man across the rubber until the sixth. Moore led off with a safe bunt. Rose was safe on Horner's error but Moore was thrown out at third. Lipscomb threw wild to catch Rose at second, and Rose went on to third. Fountain singled scoring Rose. Fountain was thrown out at second by Lipscomb.

Two more scores were added in the eighth. Duncan singled to left. Hamilton walked. Moore bunted safely, filling the bases. Rose walked, and Duncan scored. Winn hit to Lutterloh, L. who made a double play, but Hamilton scored of the Advisory Committee, will preside.

A special invitation to this meeting is extended to the ladies of the town, who are among the most loyal supporters of the Y. M. C. A. The usual urgent invitation is of course extended the students, faculty, and men of Chapel Hill.

BASEBALL, TENNIS, TRACK

A FINE GAME EXPECTED SATURDAY—THE TRACK TEAM HAS A GOOD SCHEDULE.

Oak Ridge is the attraction on the diamond Saturday. Earle Holt always brings a team of fine ball players with him. Mayberry or Cowell will probably be in the box for Oak Ridge. The former was the mainstay of the Wilson team last season, and the latter was a star performer in the South Carolina League. A fast game is expected.

Manager Eames has completed his track schedule. It is by far the best Carolina has had in several years. Four meets have been arranged as follows:-

- Apr. 10, Wake Forrest, at Chapel Hill.
- Apr. 19, Inter-collegiate meet in Greensboro.
- Apr. 24, W. and L. Univ., at Lexington, Va.
- May 1, Clemson, at Chapel Hill.

Every college of importance in North Carolina will send a team to the meet in the Greensboro auditorium the night of the Carolina-Virginia game. Carolina will put forth every effort to win this meet, the first inter-collegiate meet ever held in North Carolina. The Washington and Lee and Clemson meets will be unusually close, and Wake Forest also has a strong team.

There are quite a few candidates out now, and there is a general interest in track athletics. Dr. Mangum is out as often as possible, and is giving the men some valuable coaching. At present it looks as if Carolina will be stronger in the long distances than in any other events.

The Class Tennis Tournament Will Soon Begin.

The class tennis tournament will begin the sixth and seventh of April. The tournament will have the following schedule and will be carried on as other tennis matches, the doubles counting forty points and the singles thirty points each. The schedule of games is as follows:

- Soph-Junior, April 6, 7.
- Fresh-Junior, April 12, 13.
- Soph-Senior, April 12, 13.
- Fresh-Senior, April 19, 20.
- Fresh-Soph, April 19, 20.
- Junior-Senior, April 28, 29

The matches are of sufficient distance apart to give each team a chance to get plenty of practice. Heretofore the class tennis series has been a rather tame affair but with such excellent conditions for practice and such lively interest in the game it seems that there may be quite an interesting contest this spring. This series of matches is practically the only consistent practice a man gets in playing doubles at the University.

REVEREND WEBBER SPEAKS

ARCHDEACON WEBBER MAKES SOME POWERFUL ADDRESSES.

Archdeacon Webber of Boston has been conducting services in the Episcopal church for the past week. At each meeting there has been a goodly gathering of attentive and appreciative students. Sunday night Rev. Webber gave a lecture-sermon on the Passion Play of Oberammergau. He described in vivid language the most significant and touching scenes in that magnificent spectacle and with a few words effectively brought in he showed the moral meaning of each scene. Rev. Webber delivered an address at 3:30 Sunday afternoon to men only in Chapel. The meeting was well attended by the students and professors together with a few villagers. Rev. Webber chose as his subject "The Higher Manhood." He made a most excellent talk. On Sunday night in the Methodist church he made his closing address to a union meeting. The church was crowded and the sermon was a fitting climax to what had gone before. The series of sermons by Archdeacon Webber has been an enjoyment to the students seldom equalled and we feel that he will receive a hearty welcome should he ever feel inclined to visit us again.

The Magazine This Month Proves the Best so Far.

The first twenty-eight or thirty pages of the Magazine for March are given to an address by William E. Fitch on "Some Things The Colony of North Carolina Did First in the Founding of English Speaking America". This article is well written, and is historically interesting; but it is too long for the average student reader. For this reason most of us find ourselves interested first, in "The Woodland Witch," a piece of verse more pretentious than the ordinary run of college-paper rhymes. We read next "Jumping Into Wealth," by W. L. Long, - a brief tale in which the hero jumps forty-five feet to fortune. "Carolina", a poem by Miss Bettie Fresh-Water Pool, follows. This poem is in thruth a State poem, and takes rank little below "The Old North State". "Faith", a two stanza poem, by Coffin, has good sentiments. "Chopin and Pal - A Comparative Study", by Alfred MacRae, reviews the points of similarity in the work of these two artists. "The Cynic," J. B. R., and "The Truth of It", by Coffin, are two genuinely humorous bits of verse. "Things Talked About", and the Sketch Department are well filled, and are probably the most generally interesting part of the Magazine.
