THE TAR HEEL through the failure of its quasi-head to work his head did a rank injustice last week. We will not go into details as to how this blunder occurred. Suffice it to say that it was caused by a too hasty temper and unreliable information which should not have been acted upon. This is one time that we—if you please—will not call our mistake "a natural one".

The reference is to the shot taken at the Durham Herald. The Durham Herald did not print the article referred to. It matters little what we thought at the time, it was indeed an injustice to accredit the article to any man except the man who did it. We may say that the Herald thinks so, too. Yet even without that last we are willing to admit our fault. We shall not try to condone it. The Herald did not print the article which we said it did. The mistake is ours, all ours, likewise this attempt to right matters.

YES, we lost the Virginia game, or Virginia won it, just as you please. We are not going to make excuses, or conjecture any "ifs". We have met with a reverse, but our case is far from hopeless. Our team played good ball Monday afternoon, and so did Virginia. Those who are not satisfied with the best men can do are too hard to please for us to care whether they are pleased or sore. A licking doesn't please Carolina any more than it pleases any other College. Yet, thank God, we can take ours like our team took it, fighting to the last minute. We nearly said that we died game, but, bless your life, we aren't dead yet. Virginia is going to have to work for the next game.

We have seen our team play ball. We have seen Virginia play ball, too. We are not going to place a valuation. Our team looks best to us; Virginia's team looks best to her. May the best win always! But, say, Virginia, don't you know that we are going to give you a hard run for your money? It is our impression that we did it Monday.

We were also in hopes that we would win the track-meet. We took third place. No excuses this time, nor the next. We'll win if we can. If we don't, we'll come so near doing it that the winner will suffer from mental anguish while she is winning. If our team had taken fifth place it would still be our team, and that will always be the strongest feeling at Carolina. So two teams have come home who did not do as much as we hoped. They did their best, however, for whatever else may be said there's not a quitter in the whole bunch.

We Get Two From Delaware

Carolina added two more victories to her string Thursday and Friday by defeating Delaware. Both games were rather dragging and featureless affairs becoming interesting only once when Delaware took a lead of four to two in the second game. This however was of short duration. Part of the listlessness of the game was due to the condition of the Delaware team. Their men have been sickening until they had only nine men left and Cann had to pitch three days in succession.

Carolina won the first game Thursday three to two. The noticeable features of the game were lacking. Hedgpeth fanned ten and Cann three. Hamilton and Fountain fattened their batting average. Although Cann did not strike out many our boys seemed to have a propensity for knocking worthless flies that we have seldom equalled.

The result of Friday's game was another victory to the tune of twelve to four. Moore, had been put out of the game with a sore thumb and Carolina had trouble in securing a catcher to hold "Reddy" Stewart. As is generally the case our fellows batted rather listlessly until Delaware took the lead. Then, however, they girded up their loins and ran men around the bases until they had piled up twelve runs. A feature of the game was the batting of Hamilton and Duncan, Hamilton securing two three baggers, Duncan, securing a single, a three-bagger, and a home-run when the bases were full. Winn fielded a difficult chance beautifully and also knocked a home run.
