TOMORROW is the time, you men of Carolina's team! You have the goods. Deliver them! We are not good at prophecies but we know that you are going to play ball. If Virginia doesn't get a licking she'll come so near it that she won't feel good until the last Carolina man is retired. There's no need to say that we hope that you will win the game, and we can truthfully say that we believe that the game is ours until we hear to the contrary.

Well, let's lick them, if we can, and if we don't we think we'll do it next time. Virginia ought to make a good looser for we acknowledge that she is a good winner. All together men let's give Virginia her medicine this time.

So it seems that we are to have postal savings banks whether we like or not. We wanted them against Tulane, and we got them. We didn't want them against Virginia and Georgia, but we got them all the same. It seems try as we may the question of postal savings banks will be decided affirmatively. Yet the other side has been ably represented by Carolina twice, so if Virginia and Georgia will have these banks we think that we can at least say, "we told you so," if they bring not prosperity with them.

REALLY we hate to refer to it, but we think that there are a few subscriptions unpaid. This statement made, the point follows. This may be stated in the manner of this, We don't like to ask you, but we need the money. Furthermore, and lastly, we need it now! We would like to say of you "when we were a-hungred ye fed us, when we were barefoot, aye hatless and coatless ye clothed us." Any way we invite your prayerful consideration to the foregoing.

It is with pleasure that we have seen the results of our resuming our baseball games with Davidson. This pleasure may be greater because Carolina has won both games, but we think we would say the same thing if we had lost them. Davidson brought a clean, gentlemanly team down to play us yesterday afternoon, and we hope its visit was as great a pleasure to its members as it was to us who saw the game. The game, in spite of a little ragged fielding on both sides, was a good one. There was no kicking, no friction, everything went smoothly, and Carolina worked for what she got. We hope to see you play here next season Davidson! If you win then, why the game is yours, and we will still be glad to have had you on our diamond.

Tennis News

The racquet tournament was finished yesterday when Newton won from D. B. Teague. The prize winners were, Newton, Teague D. B., Lasley, J. W., and Battle K. D. Had not the tournament been so often delayed it would have been intensely interesting. Many men seemed to show good possibilities only to go down before the winners.

The class series is also beginning to warm up. To date the results have been as follows. The Sophs won from the Seniors. This game may be contested on account of the ineligibility of one of the Soph team. The Juniors and Seniors both won from the Freshmen. All the teams have shown up well so far.
