OFFICIAL ALL-SOUTH ATLANTIC

CAROLINA PUTS TWO MEN ON THE TEAM THAT WAS CHOSEN FOR WALTER CAMP

E. A. Thompson, next year's captain and confessedly the best South guard of the year and Porter at full back

Coach Brides was appointed by Walter Camp to select the All South Atlantic Football team for the official football guide issued by Spaulding. Coach Brides' selection was as follows:
E. Luttrell of V. P. I.
T. Von Glahn of A. & M.
G. Thompson of N. C.
C. Gibbs of V. P. I.
G. Hodgson of V. P. I.
T. Osborne of W. & L.
E. Elliott of Va.
Q. Stevens of A. & M.
H. B. Christian of Va.
H. B. Stanton of Va.
F. Porter of N. C.
Two Carolina men have been placed on the team, E. A. Thompson at guard and Porter at full back. Thompson has played a magnificent game the whole year, both offensively and defensively. He has been placed on every South Atlantic selection and has been called the strongest offensive guard that has shown up on the southern gridiron in years. Porter, tho he has not been placed on the first team by the other selectors has been mentioned as a very close second to the first selection. His work as a line plunger and a defensive player has been unexcelled in the football circle in which he has played.

Important Offices Held by Faculty

During the present year a large number of the University faculty held prominent positions in national and other learned societies. Among the number were the following:

Charles H. Herty, councillor-at-large American Chemical Society. Chairman, Division of Physical and Inorganic Chemistry, American Chemical Society. Secretary of Chemical Section, American Association for the Advancement of Science.

George Howe, Vice-President of the Classical Association for the Middle West and South.

E. V. Howell, Chairman of the Historical Section and member of the Council, American Pharmaceutical Association. Member of the national committee of six on drug reform.

R. H. Lewis, President, American Public Health Association.

W. deB. MacNider, member the Curriculum Committee for Pharmacology, American Medical Association. Collaborator, Journal for Pharmacology and Experimental Therapeutics.

J. E. Mills, President for N. C. Section, American Chemical Society.

J. H. Pratt, Councillor, Mining and Metallurgical Society of America; President of American Peat Association; Secretary of Eastern Carolina Drainage Association; and President of the Southern Appalachian Good Roads Association.

H. V. Wilson, Vice-President, American Society of Zoologists.

A. S. Wheeler, Councillor, American Chemical Society. Assistant Editor, Journal American Chemical Society.

THE LAST BANQUET OF 1910

SENIORS MAKE MERRY AROUND FESTAL BOARD AND WAKE ECHOES ON CAMPUS

Speeches from Drs. Henderson, Raper, Patterson and Mills, and from Messrs. Ramsaur, Boushall, Highsmith, Edmonds

The class of 1910 gathered themselves for the last time about the tables of the feast last Friday night. The senior banquet was held in University Inn at 9:00. As many of the seniors as had the cash, the credit, or any pawnable article were assembled in brotherhood.

The bidding, eat, drink, and be merry, was given by toastmaster Wolfe after a few most fitting and beautifully expressed remarks on the senior banquet. The rattle of the crockery soon told of the eagerness and pleasure with which each one was partaking of the excellent menu chosen by the banquet committee.

Dr. Archibald Henderson, guest from the faculty, was first called upon to season the feast with the spice of his wit. He spoke of the position of intellectual ambitions in the life of the South and of the American college. Referring to the days before the war when the gentlemen of the South were the most cultured people in the world. Dr. Henderson predicted that we would soon be so again. He added his voice to those that are daily complaining of the insignificance of learning. Mr. W. H. Ramsaur rose in response to Dr. Henderson. He spoke on the "Home Stretch of the Senior Class" calling for the class of 1910 to lead the college courageously.

Dr. C. L. Raper was called after the first course had been dispensed with. Dr. Raper told of a book he had read and which had a most determining influence in life. He recounted the story of Timon as told by Lucian. He sincerely hoped and confidently expected that the senior class of 1910 would not produce a single "Timon." J. H. Boushall in response spoke on "Class Spirit after College." He recounted the good that a class could do the University after graduation.

Dr. A. H. Patterson next spoke and he took as his subject "Hot Air, its Uses and Abuses." Dr. Patterson gave it as his opinion that the reason no Southern man has gained national prominence lately is the superabundance of hot air our public men are inclined to use. He found only one time appropriate for the use of hot air, the after dinner speech. J. A. Highsmith then addressed the class on the value of alumni organization after leaving college. He told of many ways in which an organization could aid the University and suggested that the best class gift 1910 could give would be better alumni organization.

Dr. Mills was the next speaker. He gave two instances of the inefficiency of modern colleges. They do not teach how to do things. They
