and three more Tuesday. There remain three dozen candidates from whom the team is to be selected. One more tin-canning, which will occur at the last of the week, will reduce the number to working size. Those men will then be carried with a few exceptions through the season.

Captain Stewart, Hobbs, pitcher on the 1912 team last year, "Harry" Hedgepeth, Sloan, pitcher on 1910 team, and Fleet Williams, pitcher on the Lenoir College team last year, are out for the twirler's position. Hamilton, McLeans, E.C. and W.F., are out for first sack. Duncan and W. Tillet, of Webb School team last year, are the only remaining candidates for second. Armstrong, Blythe, formerly of Davidson, and John Battle are laying siege to third base. Buie, of last year's Davidson team, Sumner, of the Bingham Asheville team, Harris, of the Chapel Hill team, Bailey, Belk, and J. Tillet cluster about short stop. In the outfield Hackney, Bivins, of the Trinity College team, Devane, of Red Springs, Rose, Page, Warren, Craven, Johnson, Stacy, Alexander, Nixon, and Temple of the Chapel Hill team, will battle for positions. With this personnel a good team will be constructed by our efficient coach, Dr. R. B. Lawson.

resonant with the majesty and determination of the King of England.

Young Harry Percy, Hotspur, is the fiery youth always goaded on by his mistress ambition, brave, impetuous, hotblooded. Although in the ranks of the rebels he commands respect.

During the whole representation of the play Mr. Williams sustained his reputation as one of the foremost readers of the day. The audience must ever henceforth look on the characters in Henry IV as living men.

The next Y. M. C. A. lyceum attraction is Polk Miller and his Old South Quartette which will be here March 3.

member of the French family of Krons which came to America early in the nineteenth century. Sometime before her death she said she knew of no relations anywhere, either in America or in France. She was over eighty-one years of age when she died.

Her father was Dr. F. J. Kron, a professor in the University. Throughout her life she held a pertinent interest in University affairs.

Interesting University Record

The third University Record of the year has just come out. This number contains the President's report and is most interesting to one interested in the condition of the University at present. The Record contains in addition to the President's report reports from the registrar, the librarian, the treasurer, the bursar, and all the deans of departments together with a detailed report from the department of education.

Some interesting facts found in the registrar's report are: the total number of students enrolled 818—this number has been increased some twenty odd to date, academic enrollment 585, the largest freshman, sophomore, and junior classes ever enrolled at the University. The average age of the freshman has been getting higher for the past four years. Ninety one and one fourth per cent of the students are native North Carolinians. Eighteen states and two foreign nations have representatives in college. The four counties in North Carolina sending the largest number of students to the University are, Wake, Mecklenburg, Guilford and Orange. Fourteen religious denominations are represented among the students.

All the reports of the deans of departments show progress in every department but throughout the whole report a miserable lack of funds is painfully evident. We are going forward steadily but are impeded on every side by poverty.

The Week's Chapel

On Monday morning Mr. Warner spoke on his impressions of the student field in Brazil. His brief discussion of Brazil and its people was very interesting to the students. The speaker refuted the idea that the government of Brazil is in the hands of negroes. The ruling classes of the country, he said, were neither negroes nor illiterates, an educational qualification being necessary to suffrage. Eighty per cent of the population are, however, illiterate. Among these people the Y. M. C. A. offers a wide field for service. Mr. Warner said the Brazilians are keen students, and wonderfully quick to learn French, Italian, Spanish, and even English and German. "The great need of the people today is a free opportunity to acquire the things spiritual," said Mr. Warner in his conclusion.

Dr. Winston, of the Law Department, spoke for a few minutes Wednesday morning on "The Rules of the Game"—the value of a knowledge of law to everyone. By giving examples of striking instances where even a limited knowledge of law would have been of vast service to the people concerned, Dr. Winston forcibly impressed the fact that "it pays to know the rules."

On Thursday morning Dr. L. R. Wilson called attention to the importance of the University's library in one's college course. There are four ways in which the library can be of definite help to the student, he said. In the first place, the use and mastery of the card index system enables one to get at material more quickly. Next, the application of this same principle to reference books, "books of knowledge", would be of great help to anyone. A third way in which the library contributes to one's college course lies in the fact that it contains great and powerful books, the influence of which everyone ought to feel. The fourth means of help grows out of the other three, for in arranging one's own library, the experience gained in familiarizing oneself with the University library will be of great help.

On Friday morning Dr. Venable spoke on the care and attention necessary in writing business letters. In such letters, Dr. Venable says, one always desires to make a favorable impression, and, therefore, decent looking stationery, pen and ink, and accuracy in the address are imperative, lest the man at the other end, having nothing save the letter by which to judge, may think you careless and ignorant. If you expect careful attention for yourself, you must at least give such to the person to whom you are writing. Dr. Venable spoke also about the importance of signing one's name to every letter, since a careless omission of one's signature often causes one's letter to be thrown aside.

Full Classes in Mission Study

The first meeting of the mission study classes was in the Y. M. C. A. auditorium last Wednesday night. The class that met was Dr. A. H. Paterson's and the attendance was unusually large. Up to date there have been three hundred and fifteen men enrolled in the five groups of mission study to be engaged in this spring. As an enrollment in mission study alone this number is unprecedented if the attendance at the first meeting can be taken as an index to the future attendance on all classes then is the percentage of attending members to reach the high water mark also.

The five courses of study given are: "The Challenge of the City" led by Dr. A. H. Patterson, "Japan and its Regeneration" led by Mr. Y. G. Minakuchi of Japan, "Daybreak in Turkey" led by Rev. R. W. Hogue, "Effective Workers in Needy Fields" led by E. E. Barnett and D. B. Bryan, "Modern Apostles of Missionary Byways" led by W. H. Ramsaur and A. R. Morgan. Time of meeting is different for each class. Dr. Patterson meets Wednesday at 7 p.m., Mr. Minakuchi's at 4:30 Sunday, Mr. Hogue's at 7 p.m. Monday, Mr. Barnett's at 5 Sunday, Mr. Bryan's at 8:15 p.m., Sunday, Mr. Ramsaur's at 5 p.m. Sunday, and Mr. Morgan's at 7 p.m. Wednesday.

All of the leaders are men unusually well trained to lead in such work. All are experienced in teaching such classes and each one is thoroughly acquainted with his topic. All students and people of the town are cordially invited to attend these classes.
