AMENDMENTS PASSED

EXCITING WEEK CULMINATES IN MEETING IN CHAPEL SATURDAY

All questions passed unanimously except one. Bulk of time passed on one point.

After a week of the hardest politicking ever witnessed on the campus, the Athletic Association met in Gerrard Hall at 2:15 Saturday afternoon. The purpose of the meeting was the consideration of the amendments published in the Tar Heel last week.

The meeting went smoothly at first; the excitement was plainly in the air. The amendments were passed without discussion until the amendment fixing the Tar Heel board and the nature of their selection was called. This amendment had been changed by the committee so as to read as follows:

Section 2. The administration of the Tar Heel shall be in the hands of a board consisting of an editor-in-chief, two assistant editors-in-chief, and four associate editors, with a business manager; all of whom shall be elected by the association at the regular meeting in May, except the two assistant editors-in-chief who shall be chosen in the following way: At the regular meeting for elections the president of the association shall appoint a committee of five who shall nominate the assistant editors-in-chief. ## SOPH-JUNIOR DEBATE

MESSRS. J. A. McGOOGAN AND L. N. JOHNSON WIN FOR PHI.

Messrs. I. C. Moser and W. J. Hendrix represent Di on question woman's suffrage

Principle vs. expediency was the keynote of the inter-society soph-junior debate, held in Gerrard Hall Friday night on woman suffrage for the United States, between L. N. Johnson, '12, and J. A. McGoogan, '11, affirmative, of the Philanthropic society and W. F. Hendrix, '12, and I. C. Moses, '11, negative, of the Dialectic society. The organic argument advanced by the affirmative caused the judges, Professor A. H. Patterson, Professor P. H. Winston, and Professor M. C. S. Noble to decide, two to one, "That woman should be allowed to exercise the right of suffrage in the United States."

The argument advanced by the affirmative was a unit which centered around the propositions that democratic government in its nature is an outgrowth of the needs of the governed, that those directly affected by the government should have a voice in its direction, that woman today exerts a vital influence upon and is directly affected by the government of the United States and accordingly should have the privilege of the ballot. The negative sought to establish dynamically that in the interests of efficient government the polls should be denied to women. They sought to detach the argument from a basic principle and put it on a footing of practical advisability.

L. N. Johnson, of the sophomore class, led off for the affirmative. He outlined the argument of the affirmative, giving most attention to the relation of the individual to democratic government. He followed government thru three stages,—first the absolute monarchy, second, the limited monarchy, the monarchy ruling with certain advising and restricting bodies, third, modern democracy, the government by the majority for the service of the people. And in each of these periods he showed the gradual ascendancy of woman. In the tribal stage she was mere property. Bit by bit she was liberated from the existence of the mere household slave; bit by bit, she obtained recognizance in the various activities of religion and industry hitherto restricted to the stronger sex; until today she occupies her present glorious position in American life. At this point he left off, depending upon his colleague to carry the argument on to its logical conclusion.

Mr. W. F. Hendricks, who spoke first for the negative, argued that the fate of woman suffrage should be decided upon its merits as a force, strengthening and making more efficient the government of our nation. His ideal for the government of the American people was neither an absolute monarchy, nor pure democracy, which he stated is rank socialism, but rather the golden mean between the two, the practical working model of American democracy. The strength of a government depends upon strength and intelligence of its voters. Man

BASEBALL SCHEDULE

EXCELLENT SERIES RESULT OF MUCH CAREFUL WORK

Twenty eight games, sixteen on the Hill. Season tickets only $5.00

The baseball schedule has at last been given out for publication. Tho there has been a great deal of delay, the manager, Mr. Robert Drane, has been most careful to arrange an excellent schedule. Twenty-eight games are to be played, sixteen of which will be on the Hill.

The teams on the schedule that we did not play last year are: Trinity, Bingham, (Asheville), Hampden-Sidney, State University of Kentucky, Navy, Washington and Lee, and Wake Forest. Among those whom we have been accustomed to play, but who are not scheduled this year are Pennsylvania, Villanova, and Delaware.

Above all else Manager Drane is to be congratulated upon securing three games with Virginia. There will be no tie this year at least.

The students will learn with pleasure also that there will be a game at Durham and one at Raleigh.

The price of season tickets this year will be the same as usual, $5. Those who wish to get one must leave their name with Robert Drane, W. T. Joyner, E. F. McCulloch, Jr., or R. W. Winston. Going to each game separately will cost a man fifty cents each game or eight dollars for the whole season. By buying a season ticket one saves three dollars, or nearly half the whole cost.

The schedule:

- March 14, Bingham (Mebane) at Chapel Hill.
- March 18, Oak Ridge at Chapel Hill.
- March 23, Elon at Chapel Hill.
- March 26, Davidson at Winston-Salem.
- March 28, Lafayette at Winston-Salem.
- March 29, Amherst at Chapel Hill.
- March 30, Amherst at Chapel Hill.
- March 31, Trinity (Hartford, Conn.) at Chapel Hill.
- April 1, Lafayette at Chapel Hill.
- April 2, Lafayette at Chapel Hill.
- April 4, Bingham (Asheville) at Chapel Hill.
- April 7, Hampden-Sidney at Chapel Hill.
- April 8, Virginia (place left open)
- April 9, Virginia at Greensboro.
- April 13, Davidson at Chapel Hill.
- April 15, Guilford at Chapel Hill.
- April 16, Guilford at Durham.
- April 19, State University of Kentucky at Chapel Hill.
- April 21, Davidson at Davidson, N. C.
- April 22, Virginia at Charlottesville, Va.
- April 23, Navy at Annapolis, Md.
- April 25, Washington and Lee at Lexington, Va.
- April 26, Washington and Lee at Lexington, Va.
- April 27, Georgetown at Washington, D. C.
- April 29, Wake Forest at Chapel Hill.
- April 30, Wake Forest at Raleigh.
- May 2, Central University of Kentucky at Chapel Hill.
- May 3, Central University of Kentucky at Chapel Hill.

MAMMOTH TOURNAMENT

TENNIS ASSOCIATION OFFERS PRIZES TO WINNERS ON COURTS

120 men enter tourney for amateur singles championship of college

The annual tennis tournament conducted by the tennis association will be begun as soon as the schedule can be completed. The tournament this year will be the biggest ever conducted here and the man who wins first prize may pat himself on the back.

Those who are eligible to the tournament are all members of the tennis association who have paid their initiation fee excepting those few men who have played on the varsity team or have before won first prize in the association tournament. This means that in the first round there will be something like a hundred and twenty men. This is a colossal scale on which to be running a college tournament and probably no college in the south can boast of such an event.

The tennis association has ruled that during this tournament the courts shall be open at all times to those who wish to play off a match. Also the progress of the tournament shall never be delayed except thru the necessity of bad condition of the grounds.

The prizes offered to the winners will be the best racquet on the market to the winner and various prizes to others.
