W. AND L. MEET SATURDAY N. C. LOSES IN TRACK MEET

LAST MEET FOR CAROLINA BEFORE STATE MEET

Standards for pole vault not high enough as they are to accommodate vaulters

Carolina meets Washington and Lee here Saturday in the last dual track meet of this season. The records made during this meet will serve in a large measure to forecast the part Carolina will play in the State meet to be held in Raleigh during May.

Last year Washington and Lee won from Carolina on their home grounds at Lexington by the narrow margin of 58 to 50. In that meet Carolina took first place in six events, Washington and Lee, in five, and they tied in one. A good many of Washington and Lee's old men are back and the meet this year promises to be as hotly contested as it was last year.

From such reports as are available it appears that Washington and Lee is strong along the same general lines that Carolina does best. They are especially strong in the half-mile, low hurdles, pole vault, and dashes. Their hundred yard man holds their collegiate record of 10 1-5 seconds.

Carolina, however, will hardly be walked over in these events. Our men in the half-mile, low hurdles, and dashes are pretty good. Winston ran the 100 yds. in 10 1-5 seconds against V. P. I. and has the state record at 10 flat.

The pole vault alone promises to be worth anyone's quarter. Already the standards for the vault are being lengthened in the expectation that both vaulters will clear them as they stand. Robbins of Washington and Lee, won the pole vault at the indoor meet held in Richmond in February. He is considered as probably the best

CAROLINA WINS SEVEN OF THE FIRST PLACES AGAINST V. P. I.

Thirteen points given away on account of insufficient number of men on trip

Carolina lost the track meet to Virginia Polytechnic Institute Saturday evening in Blacksburg by the score of 65 1-2 to 53 1-3.

Scarcity of entries clearly lost the meet for Carolina. In every event V. P. I. entered the full limit of men. In only three of the thirteen events did Carolina do so. Never over two men did she enter save in the mile and sometimes only one. In failure of entry Carolina gave away 13 points to her opponents. Don't misunderstand that Carolina freely gave her opponents this advantage without reason. Financial inability to carry more men on the trip, and Coach Cartmell's wisdom in preventing a pole vaulter from running, or a runner from jumping, caused the depletion in entries. Despite far fewer men in events Carolina won seven firsts, six seconds, and tied for one third place. V. P. I. won six firsts, seven seconds, twelve and one half thirds. Clearly numbers outclassed Carolina.

Carolina's winnings were good performances. Bob Winston tied the V. P. I. record on the 100 yd. dash and lowered the 220 yd. record from 24 1-5 to 22 4-5 sec. Parsley defeated the record holder for the pole vault. Ruffin smashed the high hurdle record by a full point. Atkinson beat the hammer record by seven feet. Llorens took away from them the glory of two mile traditions in 11 min. 23 sec. Of records Carolina smashed a few and tho defeated in the meet won her winnings well.

Coach Cartmell expresses himself as pleased and gratified by the showing the team made. In view of the poor condition of the track he thinks they did very creditable work.

SERVICES IN MEMORIAM

Speakers: Hon. Josephus Daniels of Raleigh, Prof. W. S. Bernard and A. H. Wolfe

Many students and a large number of the faculty gathered in Gerrard Hall last Sunday afternoon to pay a tribute of respect and affection to Dr. Eben Alexander, late Professor of Greek and Dean of the University. The memorial service was presided over by Dr. Battle. It was most fitting that Dr. Battle, himself a man who has given his life to this institution, should preside over the service in honor of one who likewise has given the power of his intellect and the love of his heart to the University of North Carolina.

The service was opened with a prayer by Mr. Hogue. The Glee Club sang a Latin Ode, after which Dr. Battle made a short talk that showed his own deep, personal friendship for Dr. Alexander. He paid simple tribute to the brilliant intellect, the deep learning, the statesmanship, but above all, to the perfect courtesy and kindly thoughtfulness of others that so distinguished Dr. Alexander. He told of Dr. Alexander's service to the university, of his devotion to his family, and especially of his deep love for that son whose untimely death was such a severe blow to the father. Dr. Battle spoke as a man on whom many years of intimate contact with Dr. Alexander had made their impress.

Mr. A. H. Wolfe presented the students' estimate of Dr. Alexander. The present student body, he said, knew Dr. Alexander only as seen thru the haze of his mechanical duties as Dean. And to show the students' estimate of him before he became Dean, Mr. Wolfe read from an editorial in the TAR HEEL of 1897 on the return of Dr. Alexander to the university after his service of four years as Minister to Greece the following sentence: "The TAR HEEL points the students of the day to a man; those who are more closely associated with him in the class room are to be envied; they will find in him dignity inviting approach, sympathy that understands, advice that does not sting." This estimate of a decade ago is the estimate of today. Among the chief qualities, said the speaker, that gave Dr. Alexander this place was his Robt. E. Lee-like courtesy and politeness, which has left its ineffaceable impress on the mind of every student. He closed with these words: "Add to courtesy of manner, simplicity of life; sympathy and interest in humanity; and to these, a fixedness of purpose and devotion to duty, and you have the elements in Dr. Alexander's character that appeal most strongly to the student body. Combine with these four qualities, the scholar, the diplomat, and the statesman, and you can understand why Dr. Alexander is always referred

CAROLINA 0 - NAVY 1

HEDGPETH PITCHES GOOD BALL ALLOWING 1 HIT

A combination of errors gives only score. Bule's batting phenomenal

Errors by Carolina and her inability to hit pitcher Anderson gave the Navy a 1 to 0 victory at Annapolis Saturday.

Despite some grave transgressions and extreme weakness in hitting the ball, the game is reported to have been at times brilliant with sharply executed plays. In fielding the Navy much surpassed Carolina, but in hitting Carolina got the best of it.

Hedgpeth was on the mound for Carolina and twirled a game worthy of a better score. Had his support been what it should have the score would not have occurred, for a combination of errors ushered Osbourne across the plate. Hedgpeth forced nine batters to fall prone to his wily curves. Only two of the Navy's batters could safely connect, and their hits came not together.

Anderson, for the Navy, also worked well. He fanned an equal number with Hedgpeth and allowed only one more hit. Each pitcher passed four men.

Carolina's slack fielding may be largely attributed to a relapse from the tension of hard-fought games with Guilford, Davidson, Kentucky, and finally Virginia. After four straight victories the strain had told.
