ONE FRIEND LESS

With deep grief we announce the death of him who was here from 1893 until 1897 as ambassador of the United States of America, Eben Alexander.

Who does not remember that sincere friend of Greece who loved our country only second to his own Fatherland, who so often afterward in published writings spoke in behalf of the rights of the Greeks?

Mr. Alexander was not only a friend of Greece but a Hellenist. Among the very best, having been appointed after his withdrawal from Athens Professor of Greek in the University of North Carolina, and afterward proclaimed its Rector.

For him who loved so well our Greek sun, that diplomat and scholar, our beloved land and violet-crowned city shed a tear of sincerest sorrow and grateful memory at his untimely death.

[Translated from an editorial taken from Hestia, a leading newspaper of Athens, Greece.]

SCHOOL OF MEDICINE

Undergraduate Department. The One Hundred and Forty-fifth Session will begin September 23 1910. The course of instruction, extending over four annual sessions of eight and one-half months each, is a carefully graded and eminently practical one, beginning with the fundamental branches with full laboratory exercises, proceeding through a comprehensive system of clinical instruction in which ward and bedside instruction and individual work on the part of the students form a large part, and terminating in the Fourth Year with the assignment of students as clinical clerks in the Hospital. A large proportion (more than 80 per cent.) of the graduating classes secure positions as internes in hospitals.

Entrance requirements embrace a minimum of two years of college work, including two languages other than English (French or German must be one of these) and at least one year of study with appropriate laboratory work in Physics, General Biology or Zoology and General and Inorganic Chemistry (including Qualitative Analysis).
