WORK ON TRACK BEGINS

COACH CARTMELL ISSUES CALL FOR OLD AND NEW MEN

Fall Championship Meet Scheduled For Oct. 29. Medals For Each Event

There is soon to be a revival of activity on the track team. The track around the Mary Ann Smith building is being cleaned off and put in excellent shape. By Monday it will be ready for use. Today Coach Cartmell issues a call for all candidates for the track to come out. The coach this year intends to train not only the best track team Carolina has ever had, but also the best in the South. Cartmell will be on the track every morning from 10 to 1:30, and will give careful training to every one that comes out. Every man who tries for a place on the team will get incalculable good from this training.

In order to arouse greater interest in the track team there is to be held a championship track meet on Oct. 29. Every student in the University is eligible to enter this meet. Two prizes will be given for each event—a silver medal to the winner of first place; a bronze medal to winner of second place.

These medals are given through the generosity of Bob Bridgers, at one time Varsity half miler and captain.

There will be thirteen events on the program. The running events will be 100 yards, the 220, the quarter, the half, the mile, the two miles, and the low and high hurdles. The other events will be the high jump, the broad jump, pole vault, hammer throw and the shot put.

REMARKABLE FRESHMAN CLASS

Dr. Lawson reports that the results of the physical examination of the freshmen show that they are the best developed class physically that has ever entered the University, at least since Dr. Lawson was Physical Director, which is for the past six years. Dr. Lawson said the class was by far in better physical condition than any he had ever seen. He said that fully 95 per cent of the members of the class were men—strong men in every sense of the word. One reason for this wonderful development is the advanced average age of the class, which is a good deal over nineteen years. This is a substantial increase over last year and may be doubtless accounted for, at least in part, by the advanced entrance requirement of the University. Dr. Lawson remarked that the scholarly attainments of the class ought to be high, according to the axiom of the sound mind and the sound body, if the mental condition of the class might be judged at all from the physical. There is one freshman on the hill with a lung capacity registering 380. Dr. Venable evoked great applause in chapel by declaring that a man with a wind capacity like that ought to use it in the service of the University.

JUNIORS HOLD MEETING

A. B. FOLGER ELECTED PRESIDENT OF CLASS OF 1912

Date of Junior Week To Be Changed If Agreeable With the Faculty

One of the smoothest class elections this year was pulled off Thursday night when the Junior class elected to office the men who should guide the fortunes of 1912 during the coming year. The meeting was harmonious throughout and a wholesome unanimous goodwill was shown toward all who were elected.

The meeting was called to order by retiring president F. P. Barker, who, in a few well-chosen words, told of the work of the class during the past year, and gracefully turned over the administration to new hands.

Mr. C. B. Ruffin presented the question of the Yackety Yack to the class and asked that the matter be taken up at once. After some discussion, the class voted that the finance committee be instructed to collect unpaid assessments and that the class be assessed for the balance.

The election of officers was then declared in order and many speeches were made, varying in length from Cloward's simple statement that he "had a manin mind" which man, however was not in college, to the longer oratorical effort of Johnston when he nominated Armstrong. The following men were selected:

President, A. B. Folger.
Vice-President, John Lockhart.
Sec. and Treas. Fred Drane.
Historian, J. D. Philips.
Captain Football Team, Ben Cook.
Manager Football Team Claude Teague.

A committee composed of Pittman, Graham, and Burgess was appointed to look into the matter of class pins. The president appointed Doub, Winston, and Teague on the new finance committee.

Mr. F. P. Barker brought up the question of Junior Week and acquainted the class with the fact that the baseball team would be away at the time of Junior festivities. It was impossible for the manager to arrange other dates, consequently there was a conflict. A motion was passed that the question of the date be taken up with the faculty and that a committee be appointed for that purpose.

All the business being transacted, the president declared the meeting adjourned. With songs and yells for its new leader and for 1912, the crowd disbanded, conscious that a new mile post in class history had been passed, and that but one more remained.

Y. M. C. A. BEGINS WORK

The opening devotional meeting of the Young Men's Christian Association for the current year was held in the Association meeting room Tuesday night. A large and enthusiastic body of the students who are interested in the Y. M. C. A. and its work was present.

Dr. Venable made the initial address a talk thoughtful and earnest, and full of hearty encouragement in the work of the present year. He said that the new men should ask themselves why they are here, what they are here for, and when the question had been answered to consider their opportunities and make the most of them. The Y. M. C. A. met with his hearty approval. He said that a student should think of the reasons why he should join the Y. M. C. A., and of how he might help to make it a potent factor for the moral uplift of the University. Mr. E. E. Barnett, our beloved ex-secretary was present for the last time before leaving for his foreign mission. In a short talk he expressed his pleasure at being the Association's representative and his appreciation of the support that is so gladly accorded him. He prayed for the success of our work and invited our prayers for him and his work.

Mr. Costner made an interesting talk at the Thursday night meeting. His theme was symmetrical development. He said the man who overdeveloped the physical side is an athlete or a savage, the man who overdevelops the moral side is an enthusiastic or a fanatic; the man who overdevelops the intellectual side is an oddity or a monster. The true way is uniform development.

The regular devotional meetings are held on Tuesday and Thursday night of each week. Some member of the faculty or some visitor is secured to speak at the Tuesday night meetings which are about thirty minutes long. The Thursday night meetings are ten minutes shorter and are conducted by students. A cordial invitation is given to all to attend.

DRAMATIC CLUB MEETS

COMMITTEES APPOINTED AND PLANS MADE FOR THE YEAR

A New Play Is To Be Selected and the College Actors Will Have a Chance To Compete

The Dramatic Club held its first meeting of the year Wednesday night, for the purpose of bringing the members together and outlining the work for the coming session. Prospects are bright for a successful year. Professor George M. McKie will be the Director of the club this year. A committee was appointed by President Henry Smith to draw up a constitution and by-laws for the club, organizing it upon a more substantial basis than it has formerly rested on. A committee was also appointed to confer with Professor McKie in regard to the selecting of a new play. There had been some talk of rejuvenating the play given last commencement, "London Assurance", and taking it out upon a trip—it will be recalled what a success this play proved at the performances last spring. It was decided, however, that it would be better to begin work as soon as possible on an entirely new production. The Dramatic Club was most successful last year, being recognized as an integral part of college life. Altogether, over thirty men tried for parts in the last play. It is hoped that a still greater number will present themselves as candidates for membership in the Club this fall.

REGARDING USE OF TENNIS COURT

Tennis Courts Are For Use of Members of the Tennis Association Only

The afternoon is divided into two periods for play.

The first period extends from dinner time until 4:00 p. m.

The second period from 4 p. m. until dark.

The first member to appear on the courts after dinner has control of that court until 4 p. m., provided he stays on the court or in watching-distance of that court. In other words that member cannot hang his net and then leave the court to dress or attend laboratory, etc, and thus suspend playing on that court.

One member can reserve and hold a court for expected partners for a reasonable length of time.

One member can reserve and hold a court and then (in case he expects no one) invite other members to use his court with him.

A game of singles cannot be played if other members wish to double.

Reservations for the second starting, at 4 p. m., are made thus:

By a member writing his name and the date on the blank Reservation Card (found tacked on the post) and filing it on the post of the court he desires.

The first member to file his Reservation Card is entitled to the use of that court for that period.

But, if the member is not in the vicinity of the court by 4 p. m., his reservation is forfeited to the next member in waiting.

Reservations for the second period can be filed on the post only on the
