Well, we bagged the game, but we did no more than we should have done.

What in the milky pike is wrong with the regulars? That first quarter was painful. Outside of John Tillett you would have thought the whole bunch were at their cat's grandmother's funeral. Winston's touchdown dash broke the gloom to some slight extent.

As the game went on the subs made it more spirited. The last quarter with the second team on the firing line was 500 percent snappier than the opening period.

John Tillett went out in the third period with an elbow out of whack.

That means out of the game for several weeks. It is a pity, for he was playing the best game Saturday we've ever seen him play.

"Abby" was mighty aggressive the last three quarters. The tight jawed one is coming into his own.

"Bony" Porter was penalized a couple of times—but he ran some beautiful interference.

Calmes, Chambers, Ruffin and Williams advanced the oval with pleasing regularity.

Pember knows how to recover a punt. That 30 yard return was a beauty.

As a placement booter Stevens looks mighty good. That toe of his ought to be useful in the next few weeks.

Will Tillet bristles with energy. He kept the boys on their toes in that last quarter section. If he could hook twenty pounds of meat from "Stouty" Stewart—

That Baptist right tackle, Pointer, made things rather warm for "Ickey" and Bob Winston. He went through on several occasions.

We bested V. M. I. 6-0. V. M. I. and the Norfolk Blues fought to a draw. The Blues mopped with the Water Babies, 31-0. We walloped the Babies 37-0. Now, who says there's nothing in comparative scores? But halt a moment. Virginia frailed V. M. I., Saturday, 28-0 and Washington and Lee topped Davidson 14-12. Earnestly and profoundly we hope there's little in comparative scores.

There were other interesting bouts, Saturday. Vandy broke a bottle of coca cola by tying Yale 0-0. Navy just did nose out V. P. I. 3-0. Pittsburg ran over Georgetown 17-0.

Now, we meet Georgetown in Washington Saturday. We have a chance but it depends on several things. Our fellows must play according to coach Brides. He knows more football than they do. They must show about ten times more snap than they did in that first quarter Saturday. They must fire up and fight as if the devils prong were pricking them. If they will—they can all right enough—our Catholic friends may receive a slight shock.

The big series came out as we expected—though rather one sided. Mack's flingers didn't have to exert themselves in the least. His henchmen just whaled the ball to the tall and uncut. That's about all there was to it.

A number of entries have been made for the track meet Friday and Saturday afternoons. Some interesting contests are expected on both days.

WHAT?

What about a Chapel Hill merchant who does 95 per cent of his business with the students of the University, and yet boycotts every student publication?
