A bunch of festivities are on the card for this P. M. There will be a matinee of the Georgetown affair. The Freshmen and the Bingham (Mebane) outfit will chase the pigskin on the athletic field. The gentlemen of the track will conclude their performances. These entertainments are scheduled so as not to butt into each other.

Our footballists packed their little bags and departed for the White House burg, Friday morning. There are twenty players in the bunch—Winston, Garrett, Thompson, Brown, Abernethy, Venable, Pember, Porter, Ruffin, Belk, Williams, Chambers, Will Tillet, Young, Applewhite, Parker, Stephens, Calmes, Spainhour and Crutchfield. The quantity is there all right, but as to the quality "mum's" the word at the present moment.

Closed gates have been the rule this week. Thursday, the gates were thrown open and quite a multitude betook themselves to the sidelines. In a gingery two period mixup the Varsity nosed out the scrubs 5-3. A very nice article of football was put up. The scrubs counted first. For a time it looked as if the Varsity were going to be trimmed but they rallied, and after Pember's 30 yard flank circle, Ruffin went over for the touchdown. Chambers, Pember, Will Tillet, Williams, Winston and Ruffin performed well.

The Varsity has improved somewhat since last Saturday but they are not a coin-winning proposition yet, by a long shot. They are not working together like a winning football team ought to. Their interference is rather off color. Furthermore—but everything will come out in the wash today.

We have a chance to take this game. It's up to the team. If the boys will just cut out the snoozing and play some genuine 1905 brand football there will be a hot time in a little old town called Washington, this afternoon.

Just a little more about that Yale-Vanderbilt encounter. Vandy, outweighed fifteen pounds to the man, outplayed Yale. They gained 90 odd yards around Kilpatrick, Yale's All-American end. They kept Yale from scoring on Yale's own gridiron, the first time such a thing has ever happened. With five minutes more to play, according to one of the officials the Southerners would have licked the Yale Bull dog in his own back yard.

Vandy, we offer you the sincerest congratulations. We wish the South land had a few more like you.

The two leading teams in the East, so far, are Princeton and Harvard. Both look mighty good. It's almost a sure bet that the championship will fall to one or the other.

Carlisle bumps against Penn today. We hope the redmen get a bunch of scalps but the odds favor the pale faces.

Talking about being mean to freshmen, just glance over the advertisement printed below. This poster brought out in green ink, is the production of certain fair sophomores at Randolph-Macon. It is interesting as being a peculiarly feminine way of teasing freshmen. This is the poster.
