

Sportograms

Carolina—, Virginia—. About 4 p. m. tomorrow you'll be able to fill that out.

Bretheren, Carolina expects all of you who can to be there. A multitude of us on the side lines and the boys will play as they have never played before. Lusty, loud lunges cheering may not win that game but it will certainly help a whole lot.

Our friend "College Topics," after paying a nice compliment to the fighting spirit our team always shows on Thanksgiving day goes on to remark that it will prove unavailing against their superior eleven.

Maybe so but we have doubts about that superiority. Tackle to tackle our line looks better. The ends are a stand off. At quarter Honaker has the call, easily. At full, Porter is head and shoulders above anything Virginia has shown this year. There is little to choose between the half-backs. There you are. It looks to us like a shake of the bag between the two outfits.

As to our chances to-morrow—we'll speak plainly. If the boys don't fumble and if Honaker doesn't get loose on a down field journey, we're likely to win. Now the boys, we are sure, are going to swing to the swineskin and they're going to keep their peepers on Mr. Honaker. Ergo—

The South's Turkey day program:

- Carolina vs. Virginia
- Georgetown vs. Lehigh
- V. P. I vs. A. & M.
- Davidson vs. Wake Forest
- Vanderbilt vs. Sewanee
- Auburn vs. Georgia
- Georgia Tech vs. Clemson
- Mississippi vs. Miss. A. & M.
- Arkansas vs. L. S. U.
- Washington & Lee vs. Alabama
- Texas A. & M. vs. Tulane
- Central vs. Ky. State
- U. of Texas vs. Oklahoma

We pick those on the left to win.

The boys left Monday afternoon. They went through Richmond to Williamsburg, 48 miles from the scene of hostilities. Light practice, Tuesday and Wednesday. They will come into the city, to-morrow, shortly before noon. There are twenty men in the squad—Young, Venable, Applewhite, ends; Garrett, Hedgepeth, Abernethy and Small, tackles; Parker, Thompson and Maclean, guards; Brown and Crutchfield, centers; Tillet, and Tillet W., Belk and Winston, quarters; Porter, Calmes, Ruffin and Williams backs.

The Virginia bunch is at Ashland, 17 miles north of Richmond. They also will get in to-morrow morning.

Gentlemen all, here's to victory and the sacking of Richmond.

Tennis Tournament Continues

The sophomores beat the juniors Monday in doubles, the score being 6-4, 6-4. In singles, however, Hobbgood, '12, beat Hunter, '13, 6-3, 6-3; while Cook, '12, beat Mebane, '13, 7-5, 10-12, 6-4.

The law team beat the freshmen 4-6, 9-7, 6-4.

The ladies of the Episcopal church have conceived a unique plan of conducting a bazaar here on December the 6th. In order to attract both students and townspeople, they will have on sale a great variety of articles to be used as Christmas presents. These articles will, in the main, be made by the ladies themselves. A welcome will be accorded to everyone, and no student need hesitate to ask of the ladies their confidential advice as to just "what she would like best." The place and hour of this bazaar will be announced later.

Interesting Exercises in Chapel.

nasium athletes enlivened the program with choice acrobatic and gymnastic stunts. These acrobats were Smith, Allison, Carter and Hughes, with Duls as manager.

A most interesting part of the program was of course the awarding of the trip to Richmond offered for the best new Carolina song submitted. About twenty men entered songs for this contest, most of which were of real merit. Mr. E. W. Turlington won out over all the others by his ingenious verses to the tune of "Auld Lang Syne."

NOW is a good time to pay for your Tar Heel subscription. See Cy Thompson on the campus or at postoffice.
