University Calendar, Directory and Handbook Are Published Annually by the Association

This department has become one of the indispensable features of students life here. It does not serve as an advertisement of the Y. M. C. A. to the students. Its main object is to bring before the students and faculty such information regarding our college community as will be on ready reference at all times. There are three channels through which information is conveyed; viz., the University Calendar, the Directory, and the Handbook.

The regular University Calendar was not gotten out this year. There were various reasons, which made it inexpedient to publish a calendar for this year.

The Directory gives an alphabetical tions prepare stunts and the prize is awarded to the delegation pulling off the best and most original stunt. Last year the University of North Carolina delegation won the prize. We hope to carry a large delegation to the conference this year and to keep up our splendid record.

ATHLETIC

Still another feature of the conference which is quite pleasant and profitable is the athletic. The afternoons are devoted exclusively to recreation. The location affords ample opportunity for outdoor sports. Tennis tournaments, track meets, basket ball and baseball all take place. Along with these forms of recreation must be added that of mountain climbing,—one of the favorite forms of recreation with the delegates.

SPIRITUAL

The most permanent good of this college gathering is the spiritual. Men come face to face with life problems and get renewed strength with which to fight list of faculty and students, where they live, and in the case of the students, the number of the room. Printed in a small booklet form, a directory may be worn in the vest pocket, so that it can serve as a daily reference. These directories are of an invaluable service to the faculty and eight hundred students of the University.

The Handbook, frequently termed the "Freshman's Bible", is a small leather bound handbook, containing a resume of every department of college life, directly of interest to the new student. These handbooks gotten out by the Y. M. C. A. during the early summer, are sent by the University authorities, through the co-operation of the Y. M. C. A. Chairman of Extension Work, to all new students who are to arrive in September. Through careful study of this book during the summer, each student is made to feel that he has a "speaking acquaintance" with the University community of which he is soon to become a member. Besides the items especially devoted to the new students, certain records bearing upon the literary and athletic phases of college history have been chronologically arranged, so as to serve as ready reference for all the students of the University.

As a rule the publications are self-sustaining through the advertisements which are secured. The Directory and Handbook are both distributed gratis. This is merely another evidence of the Y. M. C. A.'s field of activity for usefulness.

brings its college colors, pennants, songs and yells. This tends to individualize the conference and brings out a stronger college spirit. One night of the conference is known as "stunt night". The various delega-temptations. It is a place of quiet revealing of power within each man.

To carry out this purpose, the strongest leaders of Christendom—men like R. E. Speer, John R. Mott, Clayton S. Cooper etc.—are brought to these conferences each summer. In addition to those most inspiring messages, each day the following conferences are held.

ASSOCIATION CONFERENCE

An hour each day is given to the consideration of the best methods and agencies for promoting the religious life of the students through the Christian Association.

MISSIONARY CONFERENCE

A missionary Institute is conducted each morning under the direction of the student volunteer movement. Many associations trace the development of their effective missionary meetings, study classes, library, missionary giving and general missionary interest to the inspiration and suggestions received by delegates at this convention.

BIBLE STUDY CONFERENCE

The Bible Study Conference is a most helpful one. To realize the most from these conferences, actual Bible Study is carried on each day. The entire conference divides into small groups for Bible study for an hour each morning under the leadership of men of experience and Biblical scholarship.
