1913 In Eating Contest

On Friday night at the University Inn the class of 1913 gave its first class banquet. Jollity and mirth prevailed and the good things to eat were enjoyed by all who attended.

The class president, Mr. R. W. Scott presided.

The banquet committee consisted of Messrs. J. F. Lynch, (chairman), H. H. Hargett, C. B. Hoke, W. J. Cook, R. Kenedy.

The following were the faculty speakers: Messrs. Royster, Wilson, Booker and Bernard. The so-called responses were delivered by Messrs. Wiggins, Stokes, T. B. Gunter and Banks Mebane.

Dr. Mims on Book of Job

Doctor Edwin Mims gave the first lecture in a series of lectures which he proposes to give on the Bible as literature, Sunday morning at half-past twelve o'clock in his English class room in the Alumni building. The first lecture was concerned with the description of nature, the figurative language, and the melody and harmony of the verse found in the book of Job. The second lecture will continue the study of this book of the Bible, and the succeeding lectures, coming at the same hour on Sunday mornings, will consider other portions of the Bible famous for their literary qualities. Twenty men attended the first lecture.

A CREDITABLE PERFORMANCE BY GLEE CLUB

Glee Club Delights a "Fair Audience" With the Aid of Messrs. Sneath, Woolen and Daggett

The Carolina Glee Club and Orchestra gave its initial concert last Friday evening in Gerrard Hall. More than two months' nightly training and practice under the direction of Mr. Sneath, Mr. Daggett, and Mr. Woolen went into an unusually high class and enjoyable entertainment.

The hit of the program was undoubtedly the quartet with its negro dialect selections. Its pantomime rendition of "The Old Oaken Bucket" was an original idea in encores which took well with the galleries. Mr. Right's clarinet solo was an heartily encoered number. And Mr. Sneath introduced the personal interest element in his solo number by singing "Love's Twilight," and "I Know Two Eyes," two songs composed by Professor P. H. Daggett. The Orchestra was at its best in "The Chocolate Soldier," and "Madam Sherry," and came in for its full share of applause. The Glee Club was a well ballanced and nicely harmonized body, but its selections, save in one or two instances, were stale, and did not meet with the favor of the other numbers.

The boys sang and played to a "fair" audience as a consequence of the February dances. That circumstance must have added a slightly quicker time to the beat of Mr. Daggett's head, and a fuller tremelo to George Sneath's "Rosary".

Mr. H. S. Pember, first tenor in Glee Club and quartet, who was called to his home several days ago on account of the illness of his mother, was substituted for by Mr. C. T. Woolen who had prepared to serve as utility man in such an emergency. This interruption, however, may necessitate cancelling the two engagements which the Club has scheduled for Winston and Greensboro, on Friday and Saturday nights of this week, unless Mr. Woolen can be prevailed on to make the trip. The Club has in mind a more extensive tour of the Eastern section of the State further along in the spring.

Twenty-four members of the University Musical Association participated in Friday evening's performance. This number will be thinned out considerably before the longer trip is undertaken.

The Mandolin Club, listed on the program, was not further in evidence. This club will probably be developed in time for the trips, and will add variety to this concert.

It is reported that Professor Smith's lectures are creating a profound effect far outside the narrow bounds of university circles. The whole literary part of the nation, it is said, is beginning to read American short stories. That Virginia should be responsible for such a revolution is a matter of congratulation for all citizens of the old commonwealth.—College Topics.

LEGISLATURE COMMITTEE VISITS UNIVERSITY

Promises the University All the Treasury Will Stand.—How Much Is It?

Classes in the University were suspended during the twelve-thirty period on Monday so as to allow the entire student body to assemble in Gerrard Hall for the purpose of meeting the sub-committee of the committee on General Education in the House of Representatives. Representatives Spainhour of Burke, Roberts of Buncombe, Magette of Tyrell, and Johnson of Orange, were the visiting committee. Dr. Venable stated briefly in introduction that three elements make up the University's material equipment, faculty and student body; that he had asked the students to assemble so that the committee might make its investigation complete.

Mr. Archie Dees, president of the Senior Class and of the Student Council welcomed the Committee on behalf of the student body. He told the committee that the plea of the students was for larger clothes; that the students were at present forced to the uncomfortable necessity of wearing clothes which they had long ago outgrown. All the members of the committee except Mr. Johnson replied in short, pleasant speeches, dwelling appreciatively upon the needs of the University and promising that the Legislature would be as generous with the University as the financial condition of the State would permit.

Nat Cartmell to Run

Here is what Coach Cartmell has to say in regard to meeting Robinson:

"Recent sporting papers from England have brought news to me of a challenge issued by the American amateur sprinter, Lawson Robertson, who is now acting as trainer of the Irish-American Athletic Club of New York. In his challenge to the world's fastest sprinters, which was sent to the Manchester "Sporting Chronicle" in England, for publication, Robertson professes to have a desire to run for the sum of 200 pounds, or $1,000. Together with this challenge to the world the English papers printed a statement as having come from Robertson, to the effect that I am not willing to run him a race of a distance shorter than 220 yards.

"This statement is incorrect and unfair to me as well as to other American professional sprinters, as it has led the English to believe that Robertson while willing to run is unable to make a match in his native land.

"If Robertson is anxious to run me I will sign articles with him for a race for any distance from 130 to 500 yards, for as much money as he cares to get together. The race can be run on any fair cinder track.

The coach has met Robinson three times. In 1905 he defeated him in the hundred. At the Olympic trials in Philadelphia, 1908, Robinson won the 100 metre dash from him. In the semi-finals, at the Olympic games, how-

HENDERSONVILLE RESOLUTIONS

The Baptists Soak Us Again

Wake Forest 38, Carolina 16. That is all there was to it. The water babies simply outplayed us and carted the game away to the ice-house.

A square deal was our portion all along the line with the exception of the rooting, which to say the least was unsportsmanlike. However considering it was the water babies, we'll overlook it.

The first half was about a toss up between the two quints. Each threw five goals, but the Baptist gentlemen proved better in throwing rouls. They landed five in the basket to our none, making the score at the end of the half 15-10 in their favor.

The water babies came back strong in the second half and we went to pieces. They played beautiful rings around us and as a result, six points for us and 23 for them. Final score 38--6.

Our bunch was decidedly off color. They lacked a whole lot of putting up their usual game. They showed plenty of fight but not enough basketball. Consequently they got trounced.

Line up:

Tennessee Easy

In a one sided game of basketball Carolina won from Tennessee tonight 40 to 21. The floor was slick from the dances last week and prevented fast play. Tennessee seemed weak in every department of the game. Carolina showed improvement in team work from the last appearance on the home floor. The first half ended 26 to 6. Tennessee had thrown one basket from scrimmage and this in the last four minutes of play. Mr. Kipp of Tenn. refereed a very fair game.

ever, Cartmell vanquished him in the 100 metre event.

Coach Cartmell intends to do some training on the Hill this spring. If he rounds into condition he will very likely run an exhibition hundred at one of our meets.
