VIRGINIA COPS SECOND AND LAST GAME OF SEASON

Carolina Puts Up Stubborn Fight, but Virginia's Weight and Teamwork Win.

Fighting with the gameness that characterized the set-to last Friday night, Carolina lost to Virginia in the last game of the season in Charlottesville, Wednesday night. Virginia got a safe lead in the first half with the score 16 to 7, but in the second period Carolina came back strong and scored 9 points to Virginia's 8. The score was 24 to 16 but if Ritch had thrown goals from fouls with his accustomed accuracy and made good four chances that went astray, and had Smith not missed two chances for baskets which came to him when he was uncovered but too tired to throw with certainty, Virginia would have certainly been forced to exert herself more fiercely to keep her lead.

Virginia had clearly the superior team both in weight and knowledge of the game, but what Carolina lacked in basketball she made up in gameness. Virginia seemed slightly overconfident at the beginning but managed to get a lead of 9 points before the half closed.

A refreshing incident occurred in the second half when Ritch and Bertram, the two husky centers, became enamoured of each other, and embracing tightly, in a manner that Referee Cartmell characterized as holding, swayed down half the length of the floor to slow waltz time. Under the shadow of the basket Ritch's fondness changed to desire and he took a nibble at the shoulder of his fair partner as both of them fell to the floor. Both men were put out of the game, but it turned out that neither had hard feelings toward the other.

Ritch scored four points for Carolina from free tosses. All of Carolina's field goals were scored by Smith.

The team showed none of the looseness that had been so evident in the other two games on the trip. Their defense againsts Virginia's dribbling was leaky at times. In the second half Tillett and Driver football players of about the same weight had a lively time of it. Between halves two members of Trainer Lannigan's boxing class fought three exhibition rounds. Nat Cartmell refereed both the game and the boxing match.

The alumni of Texas A. & M. have started a movement to make their University independent of the University of Texas, of which it was declared to be a branch by the law creating it. They claim that A. and M. has not received a fair share of the funds appropriated.

SPRING DEBATES AROUSE INTEREST.

Carolina Will Meet Virginia and Georgia April 22.

Much interest is being manifested in the coming debates with Virginia and with Georgia. Both of these debates will be held on the same night, probably that of April 22, though the date is not definitely settled. The preliminaries will be held Thursday night, when a number of good men will try for the teams. The candidates for the Virginia debates are Archie Dees, William Joyner, J. A. McGoogan, B. C. Ward, J. A. McLean. All of these gentlemen are seniors except McLean, who is a law student. All are likewise members of the Philanthropic society. Those entered for the Georgia debate are I. C. Moser, Paul Dickson, E. W. Turlington, H. E. Riggs, D. A. Lynch. All these are seniors except Riggs, who is a junior and Lynch who is a law student. All are members of the Philanthropic society except Moser.

These debates are in accordance with a pentangular agreement entered into by Virginia, Tulane, Vanderbilt, Georgia and Carolina. This year Carolina goes against Virginia at Charlottesville and Georgia at Chapel Hill. The query is, Resolved that a federal income tax would be a desirable part of our scheme of taxation. (Constitutionality granted)

The Tar Heels are to uphold the negative against Virginia and the affirmative against Georgia.

The Old North State University has such a glorious record in debate that defeat is simply undreamed of for a Carolina debating team. Last year the University calmly and gracefully scooped each one of the three debates of the year. This year a good beginning has been made for a like performance in the defeat of the University of Pennsylvania by an unanimous decision in Philadelphia.

It is expected that a good crowd of those interested in this college activity will be on hand Thursday night to hear the preliminaries, and to appraise the rising young debaters of the University.

BASKETBALL SEASON REVIEWED

Starting With Uncertain Prospects Carolina Quint Made Good.

Basket ball made its start as an intercollegiate sport of Carolina when the Virginia Christian College was played on January 27th, and defeated by the score of 42 to 21. After this first game Chabot, the Va., C. C.'s star guard, said that Carolina had the makings of a good team. And, despite many misgivings, because this was our first year in the game, this prediction has been largely fulfilled. The team has not won every game on the schedule—Virginia liked us twice, but compared with the glorious record of some of our all-star teams in another sport of the not too distant past, the season has been a howling success.

The team has been a good one. The men on it have fought like snarling cats in every game. They took their fight and nerve with them into every game and they didn't leave their "Carolina spirit" hanging with their N. C. sweaters on the side line fence. What they didn't know about basket ball they made up in scrap.

The Varsity team was composed of Ritch (Captain), Tillett, Long, Smith, and Hanes. This makes three freshman and two sophomores and means that next year we will have a team that is a fighter and one that, in addition, has had one year of experience. Captain Ritch was probably the hardest and most consistent player on the team.

But he had very little on his team mates. Tillet and Smith played hard in every game, while Hanes and Long were on the job all the time. The whole team fought. Virginia on its Southern trip played Trinity and Wake Forest before it tackled us. And according to Cecil, Carolina had the best team Virginia had met on its trip.

The quint won seven games and lost four. It beat the Virginia Christian College, 42 to 21, Durham Y. M. C. A. 60 to 18; Wake Forest 31 to 18; Davidson 27 to 25; Charlotte Y. M. C. A. 42 to 28; Tennessee 40 to 21; and Woodbury Forest. Wake Forest beat us on its home floor 38 to 16.

VARSITY LICKS SCRUBS IN FIRST CLASH OF YEAR

Baseball Bugs are Given Some Real Action.

The Varsity and scrub baseball teams got together Friday afternoon for the first time. They worked for seven innings and the score was 3 to 1—Varsity. The weather was a bit too cold for fast work and the contest was not very lively. Lee pitched for the Varsity for the first four innings and then Sloan relieved him. The scrubs were not hitting much. "Red" Stewart, who was on the mound for the second string, drew a three bagger which he turned into a run on Lindsay's error. Pember got a single. This was all the stick work the scrubs could do against the Varsity fielders. The first squad was somewhat more successful with "Red's" unofficial delivery. Captain Hackney and Sloan and Page got two-baggers each, and Edwards, McLean and Witherington drew singles.

The Varsity infield got very little to do. Hasty made two pretty put-outs and Edwards made a good one from third. Calmes made two errors in the last inning, but all the rest of the time he was getting everything that came his way. Lindsay got no hard chances, Witherington had few opportunities to show his pegging ability. He received Sloan and Lee in a satisfactory manner. Page got a good one in left field. Hackney got no chance. McLean got one easy one and disposed of it without trouble.

Hanes showed up well in center for the scrubs. He got several hard chances and handled them without trouble. The outlook is good for the second bunch. Armstrong, Whittaker, Hanes, Young are four fast workers. "Red" Stewart by pitching against the Varsity ought to help Coach Clancey materially in his determination to make his team heavy hitters above everything else.

Roach Stewart umpired in a satisfactory and entertaining manner.

Pill Rollers Meet

The Pharmaceutical Journal Club held a meeting in the reading room at the Pharmacy Building last Friday night. The following papers were read:

Fats and Fixed Oils, by L. E. Hesterley. He dwelt mostly upon their chemical nature and purification:

Sources of Sodium Chloride, by J. F. Hoffman. This paper was interesting as the writer gave in detail the methods of purifying the crude salt into commercial salt.

Origin of the Castor Oil Plant, by J. F. Hunicutt.

This included the habitat of the plant and the general way in which it is cultivated. He also gave the general method of obtaining Castor Oil—pure form from the seed of the plant.

Disinfectants and How to Use Them, by H. G. Coleman.

In this paper much stress was laid upon the methods of disinfecting rooms in which there had been contagious diseases and how to keep sanitary conditions around the yard,
