NON-FRATERNITY TO GIVE DANCE DURING JUNIOR WEEK

Organize Cotillion Club and Elect Leaders. Everybody Pleased.

The Carolina Cotillion Club, which was organized by the non-fraternity men of the University on Tuesday, March, 7, for the primary purpose of giving a dance during Easter week, met yesterday afternoon, adopted an informal constitution and elected leaders for the dance. The dance will be given on Thursday afternoon of Junior Week and will be led by Mr. J. S. Cowles, chief, and Messrs Norman Vann and Thomas Price assistants.

The chances are good that the first dance of the organization will be successful in every way. Sixty names have been secured by the secretary and everybody is enthusiastic over the prospect of opening up the social life of the University so that every man frat or non-frat will stand on his own merits alone.

The constitution as adopted yesterday afternoon shows the spirit of the organization. It is as follows:

Whereas the desire has arisen to see the social life of the University put on a more Democratic footing and to see dancing from being a fraternity activity alone become a University activity, it has been thought advisable for the organization hereinafter defined to come into existence.

Article 1. Section 1. This organization shall be known as The Carolina Cotillion Club.

Section 2. The purpose of this organization shall be to give dances as often as the members think advisable and to participate in the social life of the University in general.

Section 3. One or more dances will be given each academic year.

Article 2. Section 1. Membership in this organization shall be open to any student of the University with the exception of academic freshmen.

Section 2. There shall be no voting necessary to decide on membership in this organization.

Section 3. Any man eligible under section one of this article shall become a member of this organization upon presentation of his name to the secretary and upon payment of the annual fee.

Article 3. Section 1. There shall be a president, vice-president, secretary and treasury of the body.

Section 2. For any dances that may be given the members shall elect the necessary leaders.

Article 4. There shall be an annual membership fee of $1.00.

Article 5. This constitution shall be subject to amendment only by a majority vote.

You

Who have forgotten your pledges to "the Barnett Fund" will please take notice that we are nearing the ninth inning of this game. Will you please rally and let me hear soon.

D. B. Bryan, Com. Chairman.

Y. M. C. A. officers for ensuing year will be installed Tuesday night. They are J. C. Lockhart, President, F. B. Drane, Vice-President, C. E. Norman, Secretary, W. D. Barbee, Treasurer.

BIG TENNIS MEET JUNIOR WEEK

State Intercollegiate Tennis Association in Process of Formation

Tennis, for this season promises to be more interesting than ever before in the University. A real State championship series will, in all probability be played on the Hill during Junior Week.

The following letter, which explains itself has been sent to the different North Carolina Colleges by the Tennis Association.

"We wish to secure if possible your co-operation in the formation of a State Intercollegiate Tennis Association. The interest in tennis as an intercollegiate sport appears to be dying out in our State and it is hoped that in organization this interest may be revived."

The University proposes to these colleges to be host of their teams this spring and to perfect the plan of organization in a meeting here, which together with the tournament will be held April 20 and 21st. At this meeting rules will be adopted and a constitution drawn up.

It is hoped in this way to have all the State colleges meet annually in a tennis tournament at the least expense to all concerned, avoiding these rather expensive individual trips.

The proposals were sent to six colleges; A. and M., Trinity, Davidson, Wake Forest, Guilford and Elon. Already four have replied favorably.

Rules for the government of the association has been proposed:

1st. That the Association be called the North Carolina Intercollegiate Association.

2nd. That the Association have its president and its secretary to be elected at each meeting, in the hands of which officers are to be entrusted the arrangement of all meets and the transaction of all business according to the wishes of the association.

3rd. That the Association meet each year at some designated place (each college being the host in turn), and a tournament be played, the winning team to be presented with a cup or some other suitable reward.

4th. That the Secretary of the association make his report at each meeting and declare an assessment to meet general expenses upon each college in the membership.

5th. That all questions that may arise be referred to the Association in meeting assembled.

This step toward the organization of an intercollegiate association will no doubt cause a considerable revival of interest in Tennis. The colleges in most of the other States have made this move and proved its success.

Frank Graham '09 now an instructor in the Raleigh High school and four of the High School boys were on the Hill Thursday night to hear the preliminaries for the Virginia and Georgia debates. The young gentlemen with him, Messrs Clifton Beckwith, Phillip Woolcott, Carey Hunter and Oliver Smith are to debate the Greensboro and Durham High Schools on the subject of a national income tax, the same subject that Carolina will debate against Georgia and Virginia.

GLEE CLUB-ORCHESTRA TO TRAVEL

Will Dispense Music in Western North Carolina.

The Glee Club and Orchestra will leave Sunday for a week's tour of the cities in Western North Carolina: On Monday the Club will be in Statesville, Tuesday in Asheville, Wednesday in Morganton, Thursday in Hickory, Friday in Winston, and Saturday in Greensboro. Two performances will be given in Winston. Twenty-five men will be taken on the trip.

Students from the cities which the club will visit are asked to write home about it coming. The club this year is one of the best that has ever been organized in the University. The Twin City Daily speaks of it as "that splendid unusual organization."

PROFESSOR STACY SPEAKS

Talks to Y. M. C. A. Our Importance of Details.

Professor M. H. Stacy delivered on Tuesday night the address at the regular meeting of the Young Men's Christian Association. The subject of Professor Stacy's lecture was the importance of attending to details. He very earnestly urged the students to attend faithfully to the small details for they go to make up the great things and to the small jobs for they lead to the great positions. He used many appropriate illustrations which clearly brought out and forcibly supported his contention. The substance of the address is as follows:

"A person's career is often directed by just such a small thing as a railroad switch which being changed at Greensboro may send a train either to Memphis or to New York. A little pebble may influence the course of a great river. In the same manner do the details count in a man's life. If a working man saves and invests thirty cents per day from the time that he begins to work until he is sixty-one years old he will be worth $8,000. If a professional man (and most of you expect to be professional men) saves and invests one dollar per day from the time he is thirty years of age until he is sixty-one he will be worth about $17,000. This shows what the mere mechanical attention to details will do.

"I have been watching and studying this student body for ten years and I know that the student who has the most influence here and who is the most respected is the man who has paid the most attention to the details, the small every day affairs of life. It is this same man, also, that will make the greatest success in after life for by his careful attention to details he will win the confidence of his fellow students here.

An awkward, gawky, ignorant youth from Buncombe county entered the University in the fall term of the year 1821. He lacked many of the advantages and qualities of other boys; but he had this one: he carefully attended to the small details. This boy did not have much money and so staid only one term. He went back to Buncombe county and taught school for two years. Then he came again in 1823 and studied Law. He got his license and went back to his

GEORGIA-VIRGINIA DEBATERS SELECTED THURSDAY NIGHT

Preliminaries Hotly Contested. Inter-Society Debaters Also Chosen.

The preliminary contest was held Wednesday night in the hall of the Philanthropic Society, for the purpose of selecting debaters to represent the University in the forthcoming debate with the University of Virginia. The candidates for places on the team were W. A. Dees, J. A. MacGoogan, W. T. Joyner; all seniors and members of the Philanthropic Society, E. C. Ward, a senior of the Dialectic Society and J. A. McLean, a law student of the Philanthropic Society. The judges of the contest, Mr. Chase, Professor Bernard, and Dr. Mims unanimously decided in favor of Messrs Dees and Joyner.

The contest for places on the team that debates with the University of Georgia was held in the hall of the Dialectic Society on the same night. The contestants were I. C. Moser a senior, H. E. Riggs a junior, D. A. Lynch of the law class, all members of the Dialectic Society, P. Dixon, and E. W. Turlington, both seniors and members of the Philanthropic Society. Professors Winston, Noble and Wagstaff who served as judges of the contest decided that Messrs Moser and Lynch should represent the University in the debate.

The speeches of the successful candidates in both preliminaries were forcibly delivered and showed a thorough analysis of the subject. The losing candidates pushed the fortunate ones very closely for the places. Several of them, especially Mr. McGoogan would represent the the University in a most creditable manner.

The query for both debates is: Resolved, that the Federal Government should levy an income tax. Our Virginia debaters have the negative side while the Georgia debaters defend the affirmative.

The Dialectic Society selected its representatives for the "fresh soph" inter-society debate in competitive contests which were held on Monday and Tuesday nights. J. C. Busbee of the sophomore class and G. H. Ward, of the freshman class were chosen. The Philanthropic Society elected as its representatives, L. B. Gunter, of the sophomore class and S. W. Whiting of the freshman class.

An interesting little story is told of how well our debaters argued in the contests on Wednesday night. A law student went up to the Phi hall and heard Mr. Dee's speech on the negative side of the question. "The negative wins" he decided, "no more argument is necessary," and forthwith he went over to the Di hall. There he heard Mr. Moser's argument on the affirmative side and commented thus: "Why, how astonishing, the case is entirely reversed and the affirmative wins."

For the purpose of advertising the University of Missouri before state voters in order to obtain more appropriations for the next year, moving pictures of the various college activities are now being shown throughout the state.
