Dr. Wilson's Lecture to Classes in Zoology.

Dr. H. V. Wilson gave an illustrated lecture Tuesday night in Davie Hall to his classes in zoology. He showed photographic views of specimens of all the groups of the animal kingdom. The pictures, the sponges, coelenterates, anthropoids, and mammals, (including the primates) were very interesting and instructive.

Dr. Wilson showed the contrasts existing between the gorilla and man. This was probably the most interesting part of the lecture.
