THE track season just passed has been the most creditable the University has ever experienced. Out of four meets entered we captured three and practically won a victory at Charlottesville. Nat Cartmell and his men deserve a world of credit. "Bloody" Nat is the best track coach in the South. In his two years here he has brought the University from a lowly to an enviable position in the world of track athletics. Which reminds us of a certain thing. What a trio of coaches we might have next year-Cartmell, Bocock and Clancey. In the coaching department at least, Carolina's athletics would be by far the strongest in the South.

WE wish to thank the Raleigh Evening Times for the friendly spirit shown to the Tar Heri, in clearly stating our purpose in the use of the word "Sore Back," in our recent poke berry edition. The Durham Sun also should feel grateful to the Times for its kindness in condescending to impart to its ivory headed Durham contemporary some much needed information in regard to matters journalistic.

Once and for all we'll say that, in using the term "Sore Back" we meant no reflection whatever upon the University of Virginia. Relations between Carolina and Virginia have never been pleasanter than they are at the present. We used the aforesaid term merely as a balance to "Tar Herl." That's all there is to it. If in our wildest dreams we had imagined that our head line was likely to cause the Sphinx of Durham to wake up and squeal in dreadful wrath we might have hesitated before printing it.

Wrive entered on the home stretch. Four more weeks and it will all be over but the shouting and the groaning. The young gentlemen of the diploma squad will have departed to shed light in the various dark corners of the universe. The second year freshmen will have resigned themselves to fruitless wailing and gnashing of teeth outside the sacred gates. And so it goes.

A few words in detail about this final month. Of course, firstly, it behoves all campus citizens to make strenuous efforts to pass their examinations. Secondly, it behoves them to make preparations for a final settlement of the various bills they may owe. Every May a number of young gentlemen rush off home and leave their creditors—in parlor parlance—holding the bag. This is rather hard on the creditors and it is nothing but thievery or regnery on the part of the aforementioned young gentlemen.

THE Senior co-eds are not sporting their class hats to any illuminating extent. It is sad but true. The 1911 gentlemen-Southern Cavaliers they are---were deluded with the idea that they were doing the chivalrous thing in making a gift of the head gear to the gracious ladies, but alack their chivalry is not appreciated. "Woe is us." Can it be that all love and respect for the gallant courtesy and knightly honor of Southern gentlemen are of the past? The 1911 chevaliers humbly beg an explanation. If they have made a break they ask forgiveness for their misguided zeal. If the top pieces didn't cost enough they'll attempt to levy a special class assessment wherewith to purchase something truly Parisian in tone and color.

Governor Woodrow Wilson, who will deliver our commencement address leaves Princeton, N. J. this afternoon for a four week's speaking tour of the West. His itenerary includes Chicago, Denver, Los Angles, San Francisco, Portland and a few other Western villages. We hope he'll be able to find Chapel Hill after he has concluded his round.

Items Concerning Commencement.

There will be no change in the usual order of the programme except the absence of the Phi Beta Kappa address on Senior Day, and the changing of the Senior orations to that day. The Phi Beta Kappa address will be omitted this year since the Senior Class did not ask that it be continued, until it was too late to secure a speaker.

The commencement address will be delivered by Governor Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey, ex-president of Princeton, and possibly next President of the United States.

The baccalaureate sermon will be reached by Bishoo Collins Denny, of the M. E. Church south. Bishop Denny, before his recent elevation to the episcopate, was Professor of Mental and Moral Philosophy in Vanderbilt University. He was for a time Chaplain at the University of Virginia and in 1886 visited the Asiatic missions of his church by Episcopal appointment. The Rev. Dr. Ira Landrith, who preaches the sermon before the Y. M. C. A., is president of Belmont College for women at Nashville, and is head of the now famous committee of "One Hundred" that has put the lid on in Nashville, and has kept it there. Dr. Landrith is one of the most active workers in his church, and has been, since 1909, editorial secretary of the Presbyterian Brotherhood of America.

The most notable feature of commencement will be the conferring of degrees upon all those who would have graduated had they not been called into service by the South during the Civil War. This conferring of degrees on the old students of the sixties will make this commencement one of the most interesting in the history of the University.

Washington and Lee will on May 5 have an inauguration of the Phi Beta Kappa fraternity. It will go under the name of the Virginia Gamma, since it is the third chapter in the State. The Alpha Chapter is at William and Mary, where the fraternity was founded, and Beta is at the University of Virginia.
