"Vanity of vanities! All is vanity," saith Harry Moran. Yes Harry in our pessimistic moments we're inclined to share your view of the matter.

Not a game lost in two years! Well the long port wheeler was certainly due a walloping. The one he got made up for lost time, too, by the way. Of course miscues helped do the work but we lambasted him when he should have been strongest.

Raymond Lee's record throws him alongside the best college twirlers in the country. He has worked eight games and lost none. In seventy-two innings he has been scored on five times. Something to such a record isn't there?

However, gentlemen, Lee has been backed up by the finest infield combination Carolina has ever had. The writer has seen a number of college games, East, South and West, in the last six years, but he has never seen a college inner garden that equals that of Carolina, 1911.

Well, the fame of "Lanky" Lee has gone abroad in the land. The Brooklyn Nationals would consider giving him a trial if he cares to enter professional ball. This is not hot air either. Here's an extract from a letter written by President Ebbets of the Brooklyn Club to a friend of his in Fayetteville:

"We do not seem to get our pitchers going right. Would certainly be pleased to add another one to our list; Would it be asking too much of you to ascertain if pitcher Lee of U. N. C. would like to play professional ball; if so, at what salary?"

Is he a right or left hander and what is his age, weight and height?"

Thanking you, I am,

Sincerely yours,

C. H. Ebbets, Pres.

Brethren the end has come. The last game of the season has been played.

In the issue of May 20th we'll give you our last "Sportogram." There we'll review and summarize for you the work of the best baseball team that has ever played under the colors of old Carolina.

If you want to read a good college baseball story get hold of a copy of Zane Grey's "The Young Pitcher." Its the only yarn we've ever read that has a genuine flavor of college life and college athletics.

The hero as the title suggests, is a twirler, but he is neither a Frank Merriwell nor Frank's brother Dick. He gets the timber put to him once and awhile. The other young fellows are wholesomely human. A coach, whom it worth the price of the book to know moulds a team from a bunch of freshmen. If you enjoy flesh and blood stories get Zane Grey's volume.

In a one-sided game of ball Wednesday afternoon the Sophomores won from the Seniors by the score of 16 to 2. Only eight innings were played, and after the first one the game was not interesting. The Seniors used three pitchers, neither of whom were able to stop the heavy hitting of the Sophomores. Kennedy, however held the Seniors down to five scattered hits and a couple of runs.
