CLASS FOOTBALL BEGINS

Juniors and Freshmen Lock Horns but No One Gets the Goat

The class football season opened with a close game between the Juniors and Freshmen Friday evening resulting in a tie 0 to 0, maintaining 1913's reputation of never winning a class football game.

The contest was interesting throughout as both teams were pretty evenly matched. The Freshmen showed good team work, pulling off several pretty plays, but the Juniors outweighed and outkicked them. During the entire game the ball seesawed from one end of the field to the other.

The features were numerous and varied; spectacular, comical and sad. Carrington's line plunges made consistent gains, while his punts several times put the ball out of danger. "Fatty" Bagwell conducted himself with agility of a French dancing master and his ferocious onslaughts struck terror into the hearts of his enemies until they believed him to be a Sophomore. Mebane had evidently been taking lessons from the rats in the South building, judging from the way he "skeeted" around right end.
Phillips tried to show his grit—and succeeded. Rights extinguished himself with a bloody nose. Sisk worked well but sometimes mistook headgear for football. The main feature of the game, came when Caldwell decided to turn renegade and defeat his team, but he quickly reformed and headed with the ball in the other direction, too late, however, to do any good or harm.

The game was close and interesting and for the sake of a pun we will say that while the Juniors played good ball, the Freshmen used "more head" work.

A little over a week ago, fall baseball practice started on Lambeth Field. Since that time many new men have appeared and a few old men have reported for practice. For the past few days a large squad has come out regularly and the new men are showing great promise. Prominent among the new men who have reported for practice are: Gammon, who pitched for Fishburne Military Academy last year and who will try for either pitcher or first base; Phillips, who was captain of the Episcopal High School last session; Massie, of the Episcopal High School; Walker and Butt, of Norfolk Academy; and Kailer Skeen, Jerry Ervin, Walter Hackley, and Schilling who have all played ball with different high school teams either last session or during the previous session.

Harry Spratt, who is at present helping coach the squad, thinks that prospects are good for a winning ball team next spring.—College Topics.
