LECTURE ON CHRISTMAS

Rev. W. A. Stanbury gave One of the Best in the Y. M. C. A. Auditorium Tuesday Night

Rev. W. A. Stanbury gave one of the best of the Y. M. C. A. lectures of the term in the Y. M. C. A. auditorium on Tuesday night. He took as his subject "Christmas" and treated it from the standpoint of its observance. Mr. Stanbury said that Christmas was a time when we should get the spirit and inspiration of Christ and his life within us. That it is not a time for feasting, drinking, fireworks, and revelry with which it is now celebrated. The cause of the present method of observance is that people make themselves so busy with their business affairs that they think too little of Christ and exclude Him too much from their lives. Mr. Stanbury urged each one present to observe Christmas with a Christian spirit, in a Christian manner and to make it a time of charity and evangelism.

The lecture, sincere in thought, and delivered in Mr. Stanbury's earnest manner, deeply impressed those who heard it.

There was once a chemistry tough,
Who, while mixing some dangerous stuff,
Dropped a match in the vial
And after a while
They found his front teeth and one cuff.—Crimson-White.

The Universities of Alabama, Mississippi, and Louisiana have all been invited to play a football game in Cuba during the Christmas holidays.

Mary sat upon a pin,
She showed no perturbation.
For part of her was genuine
And part was imitation.—Crimson-White.

THE EMBRYOS OF FOURTH ESTATE

the rounds of the police court, the union depot, and the courthouse.

The visit to the State Department was made by Page, Orr, and Morgan. Every department was visited but "No news" seemed to be the only answer any of the officials could give for the day. This fact dampened the enjoyment of the trip scarcely at all, however, for on the way Mr. Britton told the party many interesting things about the art of getting the news. The students had the honor also of meeting a number of State officials, and though they were a little bewildered by the array of titles, their pleasure was by no means lessened.

Stephenson and Winters went with Mr. Richardson to the police court. Both were greatly pleased when they learned that this was their destination. They had therefore an equally good time as did the other party, but in news they fared little better. Stephen had the luck to make an interview, but the police court proved after all uninteresting for that day.

After both parties had returned to the News and Observer office, the whole class went with Mr. Daniels as host, Dr. Royster, Mr. Parabee, City Editor of the Evening Times, Mr. Britton, and Mr. Richardson, of the News and Observer, to the Yarrowborough Hotel where a very delightful dinner was enjoyed. From the table the party returned to the News and Observer office, where, after attempting to write various articles for the paper, the students spent the rest of the night until 2:30 a. m. inspecting the mechanical work of making the paper. This was absorbingly interesting to them.

The class returned to Durham on the 2:30 train, and came from there to Chapel Hill in an automobile. The entire trip, from beginning to end, had been to every one of the class most enjoyable and instructive.

Rather than have their hair clipped as a punishment for shaving the heads of a number of freshmen, three hundred students of the Louisiana State University went on strike and the institute closed. Following the clipping of the freshmen heads, President Boyd expelled three students from the school and announced that he would not take them back, unless all other participants in the tonsorial hazing submitted to having their heads clipped by freshmen and accept fifty demerits.

Last night I held a little hand
So dainty and so neat,
Methought my heart would burst
with joy
So wildly did it beat.

No other hand into my soul
Could greater solace bring.
Than that I held last night—
which was
Four aces and a king.
