picked up, and blood was discovered to be spurting from a large cut on the left side of his neck. He had fallen on some pieces of broken glass.

Assisted by the thoroughly frightened boys he walked toward the gymnasium, the nearest building. After going about 100 yards his strength gave completely out and was carried.

When the gymnasium was reached he was nearly dead. The sophomores left, going to their rooms, while Rand was left alone with his room-mate, Wellons.

Merriman tried to 'phone for a physician, but failed. Wellons attracted other students by his cries for help, and Dr. McNider and President Venable were summoned. When they came, however, Rand was dead.

His jugular vein had been severed, and he lived but ten minutes after the accident.

The entire community was shocked by the sudden and awful death of this young man. Every sympathy is felt here for the family. No first hour classes were held Saturday in order to allow students to accompany the body to the station. The University was represented at the funeral by Profs. A. H. Patterson and M. C. S. Noble, the academic classes by D. L. Rights, I. M. Bailey, L. R. Johnston, and R. A. Wellons.

Toward the four sophomores who were the unintentional causes of the tragedy, a great

Take Notice

Wednesday night the Athletic Council in regular meeting passed the following resolutions condemning the new habit of freshmen and others who have not made a Varsity team buying and using the Varsity stockings, jerseys and track suits:

Whereas, It has come to the notice of this Athletic Council that certain members of the freshmen and other classes have been wearing the regular style of Varsity stockings, jerseys and deal of pity is felt. That they were doing wrong, no ones denies. But the wrong was very small in comparison with the punishment which will always be with them.

track suits without having made a Varsity team, and

Whereas, This action on their part is the breaking of a respected precedent which we deem worthy of perpetuation,

Be it therefore resolved: That this Athletic Council as the official representatives of the Athletic Association of the University of North Carolina do hereby condemn in the strongest manner the wearing of Varsity stockings, jerseys or track suits by men who have not made the Varsity, team and

That a copy of these resolutions be published in the TAR HEEL, the official organ of the Athletic Association.
