CAROLINA PLAYS FIVE GAMES IN 6 DAYS. BREAKS EVEN TYING AMHERST

Plays William & Mary, West Va. Wesleyan and Vermont
Last Week. Double Header With Amherst Tuesday in Drizzling Rain

EVERY GAME PLAYED ON THE HILL. RALEIGH GAME WITH ATHLETICS OFF. RAIN.

Carolina has played five baseball games during the last week. She has lost two, won two, tied one. The team began the series with a shoky infield, with no hitting to brag of; and ended up with a team which called forth strong praise from Connie Mack. The sixth game which was to have been played against the Athletics yesterday in Raleigh had to be cancelled on account of rain.

The games in detail follow:

THURSDAY—WILLIAM AND MARY.

Carolina scored one lone run on William and Mary and won a slow, uninteresting game of eight and a half innings. Carolina scored when, with two on, third and short mixed on a high fly and fumbled and Bailey scored.

FRIDAY.

WEST VA. WESLEYAN GAME

In a game featured by costly errors by Carolina, Wesleyan College of Virginia defeated Carolina 5 to 2 on Friday evening. The quality of playing oscillated back and forth from good to bad, showing excellent work at times and very poor work at others. Slow fielding of a drive to right by Lambert in the seventh resulted in a home run. In the ninth Cornwell touched one over the left field fence for a full circuit. Carolina hit hard but at inopportune times.

Watkins, the "Freshman Find," pitched a great game and with decent support should have won. Here are the figures: Watkins fanned 13, allowed 4 hits. His three opponents fanned 2, gave 8 hits.

Nance's safe bingle when run in as a pinch hitter was a feature. Johnson's two long drives, one for three, the other for two were pretty.

SATURDAY—VERMONT.

The game with Vermont was a fast one and showed lots of baseball. Vermont started right out by scoring in the first, and Carolina retaliated immediately. After that there was a fight every inning for a decisive run. Again errors cost Carolina the game and Vermont scored two more runs while Carolina could pull but one. Williams after the first or second inning pitched masterfully. Shields at short, A. Long in right, and Patterson on first were new men. Carolina repeatedly drove the ball out on what seemed sure hits but Vermont's fielding was superb, and it seemed almost impossible to get a safe hit.

Carolina's showing in this game showed a decided improvement.

By Way of Summary.

Breaking through the smoke and noise of the outside state these facts stand out clear and unmistakable:

The agitation against gambling was started by students in a voluntary effort to cut out a sore spot.

A strong sentiment against gambling was aroused among students and by students, crystallizing in the meeting at the Phi Hall when twenty-odd leaders took an aggressive and opposing step by promising to report any further cases.

Inquiry has shown that the number of men engaged in gambling was much less than the exaggerated reports.

The newspaper publicity had its place, but the newspaper sensationalism came after the real good had been accomplished.

The University is healthier and purer because of the student body's effort to make it so and in spite of the filth which has been poured upon it.

ELEVEN ARE MIXED IN GAME OF CRAP

Six Students Suspended for Remaining Session.

Cartmell Resigns

SENTIMENT STRONG AGAINST OFFENDERS

Last Tuesday six students, four men of the town and Nat Cartmell, track trainer, were placed under a bond by the city authorities ranging from $15 to $25, charged with participation in a game of crap. The exposure followed from the action of one of the men in stopping payment on a check which he had given in settling his losses in the game. When the possessor of the check was notified by the Bank that the bit of paper was worthless he betrayed the whole affair to Policeman Long and the arrests followed.

Those arrested are Nat Cartmell, W. J. Patterson, Floyd Booker, M. B. Warren, J. Sparrow, not students; J. D. Kernodle, J. Johnson, F. C. Jones, G. B. Crowell, J. E. Ware, and Ralph Andrews, students. All these are bonded to appear before the Orange County Superior Court which begins its session for this term today.

Immediately after hearing these facts the faculty met and suspended the students until September. They have withdrawn from the University. Coach Cartmell has handed in his resignation as Trainer. He was partly employed by the University, which paid a part of his salary.

The feeling among the student has been very strong upon the matter; especially as an organized effort has recently been made to down the practice following an Editorial this paper of March 19th. The student sentiment was absolutely against it, and particularly because it was felt that a very small per cent of the students were participating.

Manager Carl Taylor has been trying to arrange a game with Wake Forest for Thursday of Junior Week but without definite result as yet. However, the game between the Varsity and such outlaws as Klutz, "Shag", Turbyfield, Groome, Tandy, and Mack would be highly interesting. The class stunts are a new wrinkle. The Freshman committee is working in consultation with Professors Daggett and James; the Sophomores, with Mr. G. M. Sneath and Mr. William Royster; and the Juniors, with Dr. J. F. Royster and Dr. J. M. Booker. The traditional Senior Stunt is reported to set a new pace. Dr. and Mrs. J. F. Royster are consulting members of the Senior Committee.

Arrangements are being made for the State Normal Orchestra to be here Thursday. The Faculty-Senior Ball Game will be the all-burlesque features of the program. Twenty professors are expected for the nine inning lineup. Prof. E. V. Howell is permanent captain. Several letter men are available, Dr. Royster, Dr. Herty, and Prof. Winston. Of the fratres in urbe Mr. "S." Barbee was on the first baseball team that represented Carolina back in the sixties. Dr. Archibald Henderson and the Acting Prexy were scrubs who got honorable mention by being in one or two varsity games in the nineties. Dr. Louis Round is the champion hitter of fouls in these diggings. Prof. Collier Cobb once ran to centre field before he was thrown out at second.

Batteries will be announced in time for the Sunday Supplement of the New York World.

Later advices from the Normal state that it will be impossible for the State Normal Orchestra to visit the Hill.
