 On another page of this issue will be found mention of the various prizes offered for literary accomplishments. Those who aspire that way may find some encouragement and help in the following—

Anybody can write a story about college life. If he has not attended college, so much the better. His imagination is the less trammelled. A few simple rules must be observed, however.

1. All heroes are named Jack, Stanley, or Dick.
2. All college men wear sweaters always, and smoke short, flat-bowled pipes.
3. There is always a "Fatty," who is a funny fellow.
4. Any four college men make up a quartette which can sing "Merhileeee we ro-hull along" at any time.
5. All college men are wooing a girl named Dorothy or Betty or Helen, who is "sweet and pure as an angel."
6. All college men address one another as "old hoss."
7. College men never study, but spend their time in tossing re-partee back and forth.
8. All college rooms are adorned with pennants and pictures of actresses (with or without their costumes.)
9. All college students call their fathers "Pater," and speak of "the honor of the dear old school" in a husky voice.
10. Volumes of Kipling or Service, and Henry W. Grady's speech may be found on any college student's bookshelf.
11. A great many Juniors are engaged, but most Seniors are woman haters. The stage of falling for chorus girls usually plays out after the Sophomore year.

We are indebted to the Harvard Lampoon for these pointers. That paper is fortunate in possessing an excellent jokesmith, who achieved his literary fame after having taken a correspondence course in motion picture writing. We believe they should have such a course here. In that way, the Pickwick and the two new movies could be used by the University as laboratories.

We cannot go to press without making comment upon the changed attitude which is noticeable among the students and some of the younger and better looking of the faculty, since the holidays. The light of expectancy and hope beams upon many faces.

Already the dreams of one of them have been realized, and that encourages the rest of us in feeling that we may yet reap the fruits of the leap year. Yet while we feel that, (1) etiam celeritas in desiderio, mora est, still we should remember that (2) mora omnis ingrata est, sed facit sapientiam, if we are constrained to wait four years for another chance.

1. In desire, swiftness itself is delay.
2. Delay is always painful, but we are wiser for it.

Dr. E. C. Branson spoke in Elizabeth City Saturday, December 11, at County Progress Day and in Manteo, N. C., on December 13.

Dr. E. C. Branson will address the United Daughters of the Confederacy at Goldsboro on January 19th. His subject is "Robert E. Lee."

This Matter Stands THIS WAY

When you go to your Tailor to order a Suit of Clothes you're governed by his idea of what sort of a Suit you should have.

Few men know for themselves what's what.

After your Suit or Overcoat is made you can tell whether or not you like it.

But if you don't like it, you kind 'o feel you have to take it, anyway.

That's not very pleasant.

Now, then—what we want to say to you, Men, is this:—

We make a study of Men's Clothing—study the details—study everything that will in any way tend to the production of perfect Clothes for all sorts of Men.

Then we have the Clothes built by the best Tailors in the Land. Men who understand their business.

We'll astonish Men who have never been here for Clothes with the high class of tailoring in our ready-to-wear garments.

And you don't have to take any garment that is not perfectly satisfactory in every respect.

OVERCOATS $15, $18.50 to $25

COMMISSION ON RACE PROBLEMS MEETS HERE

Noted Southern Educators Assemble on Hill

The University Commission for the Study of Negro Problems in the South met here Wednesday in Professor Branson's office. Eleven professors from Southern educational institutions were present.

The purposes of this commission are to meet in certain centers and have thoughtful men discuss race problems of the South, to promote a sympathetic study of race problems in the South, especially among students, and to make up a body of constructive thought about race problems.

Meetings of the commission have been held in Montgomery, Nashville, Richmond, Memphis and Durham. At the meeting in Chapel Hill no long papers were read, but short discussions and suggestions were made bearing upon the need to study the negro and give him instruction, and the financial exploitation of negroes by unscrupulous white men. Other problems were also touched upon.

The professors here who were called upon to say a few words were L. A. Williams, H. M. Chase, J. G. D. Hamilton, L. R. Wilson, N. W. Walker, A. Henderson, M. C. S. Noble, and M. H. Stacy.

The following are the professors on the committee who were present at the meeting: Jas. F. Dillard, from Charlottesville; W.

M. Huntley, V. M. I.; Dr. Morse, University of S. C.; Dr. Pharr, University of Florida; Dr. DeLoach, University of Georgia; E. C. Branson, University of N. C.; Prof. Scroggs, University of Louisiana; Prof. W. S. Sutton (chairman), Texas; Dean Hoskins, Tennessee; Dr. D. Y. Thomas, Arkansas; and Dean Doyster, University of Alabama.

HIGH SCHOOL BASKETBALL

State Championship Progressing; Teams Meet Here in March

As the basketball season progresses interest is being shown in the state high school championship to be held this year. It is expected that about fifty schools will enter. Those already entered are Raleigh, Durham, Wilmington, Winston-Salem, Asheville, Spencer, Belmont, Lexington, Clayton, Cary, Matthews, Chapel Hill, and Unionville. The strongest team from the East will meet the champions of the West here sometime during the first of March. A cup will be awarded to the winner.

Concluded from first page—were college athletics as effected by professionalism, remedies for evils in that direction, the sportsmanlike ideal in athletics, and regulation of eligibility rules.

Some of Mr. Taft's remarks will be interesting:

"On the prevailing great question of summer baseball, I am inclined to be temperate, but I have little patience with the muckrakerism evil. The trend of the times is against rowdiness, but it has not been eliminated." He continued by saying that although the desire to win may become so
