CAROLINA OPENS FOOTBALL SEASON WITH WAKE FOREST TEAM TODAY

Emerson Athletic Field Now in First-Class Condition for Scrimmage

GOOD FORM HAS BEEN DISPLAYED BY TEAM

TRAINING TABLE NOW IN FULL OPERATION FOR SQUAD AT UNIVERSITY INN

Emerson field is in great shape for Saturday's game with Wake Forest. The dust has been heavy, owing to the lack of rain, but a Studebaker sprinkler has largely eliminated this nuisance. The field has been marked off, and in doing so the surveyors found the goal posts to be but 296 feet apart instead of the regulation 300.

The goal posts have been padded to prevent injuries to the Varsity when in that vicinity.

The Varsity line-up has remained practically unchanged this week with Davis, Ingram, Borden, Price, Williams, Coleman, and Tennent as the likely subs. Bell has been switched from half-back to center, while Currie has taken his place in the backfield.

A few minor injuries have kept a few of the men out. Farthing

FIRST YEAR RESERVE MEN SHOW GREAT IMPROVEMENT

The first year reserve team under the direction of coaches Daniel and Peacock is fast developing inhas a strained muscle, Davis a slightly sprained foot, and Grimes a twisted ankle. All these men will be able to take part in Saturday's game.

DR. J. A. MacDONALD WILL DELIVER WEIL LECTURES

THE NORTH AMERICAN IDEA" IS THEME OF LECTURE HERE NOVEMBER 15th

On Nov. 15th the third annual series of the Weil lectures will be delivered at Chapel Hill by Dr. J. A. MacDonald, managing editor of the Toronto Globe, on the general subject, "The North American Idea." The series will consist of three lectures. In the first of these he will trace the North American idea, which he defines as "the right of a free people to govern themselves,' through the history of our country from the colonial period up to the present day.

apply this North American idea to the history of Canadian Colonies and show how it has gradually drawn the two countries, Canada and theUnited States, into a closer relationship with each other. In his last lecture he concludes with a portrayal of America's opportunity and responsibliity in extending to the rest of the world those ideas of freedom and democracy which dominate the North American continent.

Dr. Macdonald comes to the University with a splendid record

NORTH CAROLINA CLUB MEETS

STUDY FOR YEAR AND ELECTS OFFICERS

The North Carolina Club held its first regular meeting of the year Monday night in Gerrard Hall. The following officers were elected: President, J. A. Capps; Secretary, S. H. Hobbs; Steering Committee, Dr. E. C. Branson, Dr. J. G. Johnson, E. R. Rankin, R. E. Price, C. C. Miller and W. E. Price. The general subject for study and discussion during the year is "Wealth and Weal in North Carolina," which has been divided into three main divisions: (1) "Production of Primary Wealth" to be studied Oct. 9-23; (2) "Wealth Retention," Oct. 23-Jan. 8; (3) "Taxation and the Common Weal," Jan. 29-May 21. It is desired to make the Club more than ever a student organization, in which men may not only get a knowledge of their state and county, but may have the opportunity to be of great service to the people of the state.

MEET WITH MISS BARTON, '17, AND ELECT OFFICERS FOR THE YEAR

BELIEF IN ORGANIZATION

CO-EDS DEMONSTRATE THEIR

The "co-eds" are abroad in the land. Not in years have there been such an abundance of them on the campus. Wherever we go, whether it be across the campus or in the classroom, our eyes are sure to light upon one of those oncerare creatures. In fact they have become so numerous that we have almost become accustomed to the sight of them and we no longer for each of the varsity teams was view them with wonder and amazement. There number has actually reached the grand total of 14five seniors, two juniors, three In the second lecture he will specials, two pharmacy students, one post-graduate and one law student.

> That the "co-eds" are beginning to realize the importance that has come to them through their increasing numbers, was shown in the meeting held on Tuesday afternoon with Miss Agnes Barton of Hartford. The purpose of this meeting is as yet a profound secret. Whether it was held to discuss woman suffrage, chewing gum or college professors is not definitely known. At any rate the hostess, Miss Agnes Barton, was elected President and Miss Gladys Avery, of Morganton, N. C., secretary. The fourteen present ere as follows: Seniors - Misses Gladys Avery, Morganton; Agnes Barton, Hartford; Callie Lewis, Winston-Salem; Wirina Pickard, Chapel Hill; Isabel Sloan, Davidson; Juniors-Misses Anna Forbes Lid-

ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION ALTERS CONSTITUTION

ADDS AMENDMENT GREATLY IN-CREASING NUMBER OF ASST. MANAGERS FOR TEAMS

WILL MEET AGAIN NEXT MONDAY

Baseball and Track Assistants Will Be Nominated Then, and Elected at Another Meeting Tuesday Morning

An amendment, recently proposed by the Athletic Council, to create four sub-assistant managers passed by the Athletic Association Wednesday.

The new rule provides that, "There shall be four sub-assistant managers for each of the varsity athletic teams-which sub-assistant managers shall be nominated and elected by the Athletic Association in the same manner and at the same time as the assistant managers of the varsity athletic teams are now nominated and elected. Such sub-assistant managers are to come from the rising sophomore class. This amendment shall not debar any rising junior from being nominated and elected as assistant manager of a varsity team."

FOOTBALL PREPARATIONS STIR STATE HIGH SCHOOLS

Once more the high schools of the state are beginning to feel the stir of the football spirit. In hundreds of towns and hamlets scattered from the mountains to the sea husky athletes in blue jerseys and padded trousers are daily trooping out upon the field to undergo a gruelling practice under the stern eye of the coach. Baseballs and tennis rackets have been relegated to the dust of the top shelf. Books have been forgotten; history and mathematics have lost their interest. The tenth grader sits at his desk dreaming of thrilling plays,-the flying tackle and the mad dash across the field. The race for the high school football championship will soon be on. Asheville, Charlotte, Chapel Hill, Concord, Elizabeth City, Goldshoro, Greensboro, Hickory, Kinston, Newbern, Oxford, Raleigh, Rockingham, Salisbury, Shelby, Washington, Wilmington, Winston-Salem, and many other schools are fast rounding their players into shape for the opening games which will come off shortly. By a process of elimination the two strongest of these teams will be selected to battle at Emerson field for the state championship sometime after Thanksgiving. The Raleigh high school has three times clashed with strong teams from the west, and three times she has returned home victorious. Will she carry off the championship again? Raleigh of course, thinks she will. Charlotte, Wilmington, Greensboro, Winston-Salem, and the rest think differently. However it is a long time till the last of November, and in the meanwhile we can only watch and wait.

to a formidable machine. There are several big men trying for the team, and although some lack the experience, they have the physical qualities necessary to develop into good football players. With a considerable amount of coaching this year these men should make good varsity material for the next three years. The line has an average weight of approximately 165 pounds. The back-field averages around 145 pounds. At center Blount has been showing up well. McBrayer and Robbins at guards, and Conrad and Pickard at tackles are all heavy built men. At ends, Salmon and Ransom have shown up best so far. In the back-field, Daniel, Herty, Spruill, Bristol, Lewis, and Spaugh are working hard. In punting, Spruill and Herty have shown up exceptionally well. With these men, and additional others who might be mentioned, the Reserve Squad seems destined to turn out a team this year that can hold its own against all rivals.

Dr. C. H. Herty, who is president of the American Chemical Society, is presiding over a meeting of the Society in New York this week and also attending the second National Exposition of American Chemical Industries. He is expected to return October 3.

Dr. A. S. Wheeler has been away this week also attending the meeting of the Society and the Exposition.

The chemistry building is crowded this year, every available laboratory being occupied.

SENIORS ASSEMBLED PLAN CLASS SMOKER

The class of 1917 met Tuesday afternoon for the first time as Seniors and elected Kelley Hughes manager for the class football team.

The question of Senior smokers was taken up, and it was decided to have the first smoker sometime within the next week, at which time it will be decided whether regular monthly smokers will be held.

President Rand appointed on the Senior Stunt committee J. A. Capps, A. M. Lindau, W. T. Polk, Earle Harris, and E. K. Proctor. He also appointed Ratty Ranson, C. S. Harris, and H. G. Baity as a committee to decide on the Senior hat.

TENNIS PLAYERS FORM CLUB

A large number of men interested in tennis met Thursday afternoon and organized the Tennis Club. E. J. Perry was elected President, and A. H. Combs, Manager.

The Athletic Association has taken over the courts, improved them, and will keep them sprinkled daily, marked, and provided with nets. The Club is to formulate rules to govern the use of the courts. It was decided to have two playing periods each afternoon as heretofore. The following committee was appointed to draw up (Continued on Page Six)

DRAMATIC CLUB ADOPTS "LITTLE THEATRE" PLAN

The Dramatic Club is to be run on an entirely different plan this year from what has formerly been the case. It is to be run on "The Little Theatre" idea, which has recently gained so much popularity in most of the larger citeis. In this new plan some six or eight different one act plays are given at intervals during the year, no one lasting more than thirty minates. This system has been tried in most of the northern universities with great success, and Caro lina will be no exception to the rule.

RHODES SCHOLARSHIP EXAMS TO BE HELD OCT. 5th, 6th, 7th

There will be held in Raleigh, on October 5th, 6th and 7th an examination for those who wish to qualify for the Rhodes Scholarship to Oxford. The Scholarship entitles the person to whom it is given, three years schooling at Oxford, allowing 300 lbs. ($1500) each year. Though this examination does not determine the persons to whom the Scholarship is to be given, it does determine whether or not you will be eligible.
