NEWSPAPER MEN OF STATE MEET HERE

TWO MEETINGS HELD DAILY—PROMINENT JOURNALISTS ADDRESS INSTITUTE

PRESIDENT E. K. GRAHAM SPEAKS

Welcomes Editors—Stressing Democracy of the University—Newspapers and Colleges Should Co-operate

Long cigars with noted newspaper men attached have been wreathing the Y. M. C. A. building in smoke the last three days. For the State Newspaper Institute has been with us.

And the cigars, the "glad-to-see-you-old man's," and frantic searches for Mr. Thornton, chairman of the local Grub and Lodgings committee, have been thickest around the Y. M. C. A. because there "Buzz" Tennent and faithful staff had their office and linotype machine and there got out daily "The Press Institute News." And even on a vacation these old newspapermen were glad to find a feeble imitation of the clatter and clutter of their city offices in the miniature establishment of "Buzz" and company. They couldn't keep away.

THE MEETING THURSDAY

"The newspaper man in North Carolina must be a well rounded man," declared President E. E. Britton, in his opening address before the State Newspaper Institute Thursday afternoon. "He must be able to write up a dog fight, a funeral and political caucus with the same amount of sincerity and tact. We in North Carolina are too prone to specialize the influence of our paper and make it either agricultural, political, or commercial in its nature. And it is the purpose of this institute to discuss these things and thus teach others and help others teach us."

W. R. Dixon, of the Wilson Co-operator, discussed the various agencies of progress and the problem of yoking up these agencies for the common welfare. "The day of individualism has passed," he said. "This is an age of teamwork." Mr. Dixon then showed how all agencies of progress are being yoked up and now it is the proper function of the newspaper to be that yoke binding them all together. He illustrated his proposition by citing specific examples of co-operation in Wilson. Other instances of the value of co-operation were given by various members of the institute.

PLANNING BEST BASKETBALL SEASON IN HISTORY

COACH PEACOCK HAS GOOD MATERIAL IN HAND—CLASS GAMES PLAYED

Old Commons once more is resounding to the tread of hurrying feet, for Coach Peacock is getting his material in hand, and is planning one of the best Basketball seasons that the campus has seen. Coach Peacock put basketball on the map in Georgia, and it is expected that he will turn out the best team we have had yet. He has some good material. Tennent, Wooten, McDuffie, Folger, Tandy, Serngs, Buzz Tennent, besides some promising Freshmen are expected to show up well.

The class league has started, and while none of the classes has as yet anything like a representative team, there have been some warm games staged. The Sophomores beat the Freshmen 11-2 in a pretty good game, the Freshmen showing lack of unity. The Juniors beat the Seniors 23-22 mainly through their superior passing work.

It is too soon as yet even to pick the men for the squad, much less for the team. The varsity will not get together for team practice until after the holidays.

Gaul's Holy City will be played at the Episcopal Church, Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock. All are cordially invited to attend.

CHAPEL HILL HIGHS MEET CHARLOTTE FOR CHAMPIONSHIP

Like a phalanx and a legion will be the meeting of the Chapel Hill High School football team and that from Charlotte on Emerson Field this afternoon. Chapel Hill is a new contender, but the heavy team has gone like wildfire this year and copped the Eastern State championship without trouble. The fast bunch from Charlotte won the State championship last year and with blood in her eye, and the honor of the west to uphold, Charlotte comes to give the husky Chapel Hill pig-skin warriors the tussel of their young yives. It will be remembered that the Charlotte Highs fought the first year reserve team to a tie at the beginning of the season, and this makes them the campus favorite to win. The teams will line-up as follows:

Chapel Hill	Charlotte
Hogan	Wearn, W.
Left End
Sykes	Culp
Left Tackle
Crabtree	Barnett
Left Guard
Stafford	Little
Center
Ledbetter	Austin, J.
Right Guard
Williams	Baker
Right Tackle
Hutchins	Austin, W.
Right End
Sparrow	Pharr
Quarterback
Suitt	Wilson (Capt.)
Left Half
Merritt	Templeton
Right Half
Tenney	Cochran
Fullback

LITTLE THEATRE MAKES DEBUT ON FOURTEENTH

WIMBERLY, MERIDETH AND GREEN WILL BE SEEN IN LEADING ROLES

On Thursday, December 14, the Dramatic Club will give its first performance since establishing the "Little Theatre" plan. Three carefully selected, one act plays, will be presented in Gerrard Hall that night, and those who have followed Carolina dramatics during the past four or five years know that a pleasant evening's entertainment is in store for them. Especially so, when they are informed that stars like Meredith, Green and Wimberly are to play leading roles.

The three plays to be given are: "Old Cronies" by Wimberly and Green, the one playing the role of an old student and the other that of a sea captain. Following this play, Chase and McClamrock will present a one act play entitled: "The Glittering Gate." The evening's performance will be concluded by Meredith, Johnson and Jordan, who will present "Food."

The Dramatic Club will not make a fall trip as has been the custom heretofore, but will content itself by giving this single performance before the student body. Sometime in the spring another set of three one-act plays will be presented. If the new plan proves successful on the Hill, a spring trip may be arranged.

Saturday, Dec. 16.—The Athletic Association will meet for the purpose of electing football managers and assistant football managers and any other officers which may be necessary to create or elect.

LOOKING FORWARD TO BIG TIME AT FALL DANCES

Just four days till Thursday and dress suits will be pulled out of trunks, closets and wardrobes, and the presser will be kept busy for a few days getting things in readiness for the dances. There will at that time be something else besides leaves breezing around the campus. Although at this season flowers are out of style there will be fragrant odors wafted about and the song of the birds in Spring will not be in a class with the soft and mellow gurgle of these Terpsichorean Nymphs. Pleasure will replace sorrow and frill and finery fresh from the tailors will make their debut. At this season men are wont to invoke the aid of Bacchus to furnish the spirit for the occasion but as he has moved one State farther away from us probably the inconvenience will cause him to be absent this time or at any rate to be delayed until it is too late to take an active part in the merry making.

Hats off to Mr. Thornton, "Buzz" Tennent, and company. They have scooped the Tar Heel on all the important news this week. The Press Association News is a real achievement. Is it impossible that the Tar Heel may some time in the dim and distant future be metamorphosed into a metropolitan daily?

BON FIRE CELEBRATION FOR WINNING WARRIORS

MONSTER TORCHLIGHT PARADE SPEECHES BY FACULTY AND PLAYERS

The period of victory for Carolina was closed last Saturday with ceremonies eminently fitted to the occasion. After eleven years of waiting it was only to be expected that the college should break loose when victory over our old rivals was at last secured.

Elaborate preparations had been made to make the affair a success, and great "pep" was shown in building the bon fire and preparing for the parade. At 7:30 everybody who could, squeezed into the chapel to hear and see. Prof. Noble was the leading spirit of the celebration, dividing honors with cheer leader Parker. President Graham and Coach Campbell both made short speeches on Carolina spirit. Several members of the team who were present also made short talks to the effect that it was all very fine, and that they were very glad it had turned out the way it had. Tandy wound up the Gerrard Hall part of the ceremonies, after Dr. Lawson had exhibited the ball which had ben through the mill, by reading a number of telegrams of congratulation from old alumni.

The parade was then formed, the co-eds leading and the ghosts bearing torches of laths and oil

CLASS TENNIS TOURNAMENT HAS DRAWN TO A CLOS7

The class tennis tournament which has just drawn to a close is an evidence of the unusual amount of interest being taken in that sport this year. The winners in their respective classes are: Freshmen, Harvey, Capt., and Arrasmith; Sophomore, Feimster, Capt., and Yokely; Juniors, Prince, Capt., and Lynch or Gwynn; and Seniors, Perry, Capt. and Revel. The captains are the class champions and the outstanding players on each team. The tournament started November 1 with 75 entrants, more than ever before in a class tournament. The weather and Thanksgiving holidays have caused the affair to be so long drawn out.

The most interesting matches were between Harvey and Arrasmith, and Prince and Gwynn, while Perry and Revel had to play for two days before a decision could be reached. Prince, Harvey, Feimster and Perry showed up well and with more experience should make good varsity material. The class teams are about equal and the class championship is doubtful, but the odds seem to favor the Juniors and Seniors. The interclass games will be played next spring, the winners of which will receive their class numerals.

The additional courts and fine weather have combined to make tennis one of the most popular sports on the Hill, and it is hoped that the interest now being manifested will serve to produce more varsity material than has been available heretofore.

EX-PRESIDENT TAFT SPEAKS IN GERRARD

ADDRESSES VISITING EDITORS AND THE STUDENT BODY THURSDAY NIGHT

ON OUR WORLD RELATIONSHIPS

Discusses Relations of United States With European Countries—A Record Breaking Crowd

Before a large audience of students, townspeople, and newspaper men Ex-president Taft delivered the opening lecture of the State Newspaper Institute on Thursday night on the subject, "Our World Relationships." More than six hundred people crowded into Gerrard Hall to hear the lecture, filling every available space of standing room in the gallery and on the downstairs floor. The speaker was introduced by President Graham, who, in a short speech of welcome, gave expression to the feeling of admiration and affection with which he said the entire University has regarded Mr. Taft since his visit to Chapel Hill three years ago.

Just before the lecture the Glee Club gave a concert including both vocal and instrumental music. At every selection the club was loudly encored. As the ex-president walked up the aisle accompanied by President Britton of the Newspaper Institute and President Graham of the University, the Glee Club began singing "I'm a Tar Heel Born," and the entire audience enthusiastically applauded.

In discussing our world relationships Mr. Taft first gave a brief history of our international relations in the past. Going back to the time of Washington, he referred to the two chief injunctions laid down in the farewell address of our first president, namely, that in time of peace we should prepare for war, and that entangling alliances should be avoided. "The former of these injunctions we have continually disregarded," de-

GOOD WORK OF GLEE CLUB WILL PERFORM AT DANCES

The program of the University Glee Club is now in readiness for any call. This especially attractive program, which is well-balanced by classical and ragtime numbers will please almost any kind of audience. It consists of string band selections, chorus numbers (some of which are accompanied by orchestra), vocal and instrumental solos, and orchestra selections. By almost daily rehearsals since the beginning of October. Director J. Earle Harris has succeeded in arranging one of the most complete and best organized clubs that the University has ever had.

The club gave its first entertainment at Salem College, on Friday November 10. If the enthusiasm with which each number was encored be taken as evidence, the concert was greatly appreciated, for without exception each number was called back. It was only with great difficulty that our new
