COACH LOURCEY SIGNS TWO YEAR CONTRACT TO COACH TAR HEEL SQUAD

VARSITY ATHLETICS RETURN IN PRISTINE GLORY—COACH FOR ALL SPORTS

Carolina students are very much pleased over the recent announcement that Coach William Lourcey, who is at present with Charleston team of the South Atlantic League, has signed a contract with the University authorities to coach the Carolina baseball squad for the next two years. The students, and especially the baseball squad, have been highly satisfied with Coach's work during the past season that has just ended, and when he left sentiment was unanimously in favor of procuring his services for the coming season.

In every way there is a very bright outlook for a most successful year in athletics next year. Carolina holds the trump card in football, for Coach "Tommie" Campbell, the "man that made the team that put the kink in Virginia," will be back as Head Coach in athletics, and it is putting it mild to say that he will have his old time pep. Another coach will assist him in putting the Blue and White machine in fighting shape.

We will also have a basketball coach and a coach for the cinder path men. And for the basketballists Coach Lourcey will hand out the dope.

In student material we will also be on the job. In football Barden, probably Tennent, and other old men, will return. Shepherd will be back on the basketball quint. Old men will remember that he was Carolina's All-Southern forward two years ago. It is rumored that "Rudy" Barnes and Coleman, as well as Pippin, last year's hefty slugger, will all be back in the "grand old game." Track prospects, despite the fact that we will lose Capt. Davis, are very good also.

It is very probable that several other star athletes who were not mentioned above will turn up on the Hill when the old bell rings for the first time next fall, wearing their D. S. C.'s.

Di's Uphold Dignity of Graveyard Keeper; Final Meeting This Week

On last Saturday the members of the Di spent a pleasant hour smoking the vile weed, partaking of real eats which are strangers at "Swine," and undergoing severe gas attacks which were launched by embryo-orators and speakers. The gas waves were turned loose by two expert Bull-shooting teams composed of B. C. Jones and Doughton, and Tubby Murdock alias "Falstaff" and Hoke Martin. The gas which they used was very deadly, and was prepared from a precious chemical. The cause of their little disagreement grew out of the question of abolishing that renowned position of graveyard keeper. Murdock and Martin claimed that the position "should went," but Jones and Doughton said "nay." As a result of their argument, the members of the society were exposed to a heavy attack of unknown gas. The gas used by Jones, the God and his ally Doughton with the auburn hair proved too much for the artists from Spencer and Charlotte who were brought to their knees asking for fresh air. Following the heavy attack mentioned above, cigarettes and eats were distributed to those who lived through. Dr. J. M. Booker, who was a guest of the society, gave a short but interesting talk. Then Joe Person, the lover of the gym, gave a few interesting readings from John Charles McNeill. H. B. Simpson gave a sample of what he called a tragedy. With spirits high the partakers of the smoker left the hall which was filled with the smoke from Chesterfield's and El-Rees-Sos plus orange peels scattered over the field of conflict.

The final business meeting of the society will be held Saturday night, and every member must be present. The Fresh-Soph Inter-Society debate will be staged the same night.

THE BURDICK PRIZE OFFERED

The Department of English announces that a new annual prize to be known as "The Burdick Prize in Journalism" has been established through the generosity of Mrs. Julia W. Burdick, of Asheville, in memory of her son, Edmund, of the Class of 1920, whose brilliant and promising career was cut short by death in the middle of his sophomore year. The value of the prize is twenty dollars and will be awarded by a Committee of the Department to the author of the best piece of writing by an undergraduate student published during the academic year. The winner of this prize will be announced at Commencement.

Committee Meets Here To Discuss and Formulate Future Building Program

A joint faculty-trustee committee was in conference here Tuesday to discuss the feasibility of developing 550 acres of woodland adjoining the campus and to formulate a permanent building policy for the University. The faculty committee on grounds and buildings has for some time been in touch with a landscape gardening architect in the matter of permanent improvements. One trustee committee had been appointed to determine the location of the fraternity houses burned last winter when they will be rebuilt, and another to consider the development of the University property off the campus. The joint committee on Tuesday examined maps and the grounds with the view of gaining ideas which may be presented to the trustees when they meet in June.

Only a very general outline of the future policy of improvement was agreed upon, no final decision as to details being formulated. A building program that will take care of the enlargement of the campus facilities for some time to come was adopted. The question of opening up the woodlands with walks and drives was looked into and indications that some progress will be made in this direction within the next few years. The observations and ideas made at this conference will be submitted to the trustees in June, the approval of whom must be secured before definite steps can be taken.

Howell Peacock, Medicine 1918, who coached the basketball team last year is on the Hill this week.

Sophomores Invincible; Lose Not a Game in the Past Class Series

The class base ball season closed with the sophomores as champions. They defeated the seniors twice, juniors once, and freshmen twice, losing not a game.

Lowe was the individual star of the team. He kept the batters always at his mercy by means of his terrific speed and bewildering curves. He also led the team at the bat, batting over the 500 mark.

Large credit is due to Capt. Ruffin who proved himself, not only a good player, but wise in the selection of his men.

The members of the victorious team were: James s.s., Jolly 3b, Cummings 1b, Hayes lf., Bonner r.f., Cockeran 2b, Ruffin c.f., Shamburger c, Lowe p, substitutes: Liipfert, Elliot, Eyre, Cooper, Powell, McKimmon.

The chemical fraternity gave the members of the Chemical Faculty a smoker recently. This is an appropriate time to give the professors feeds, and the example might well be followed by other organizations.

Current Issue Studies in Phil. Out; Review Has Interesting History

The current issue of Studies in Philology appeared on the Hill recently. This issue is dedicated to the memory of President Graham. It is the second number in the sixteenth volume of the journal. Studies in Philology is edited by Dr. Greenlaw and published quarterly by the University in the interests of literature and scholarship. Its columns are open to scholars everywhere, and learned men all over the country contribute to its pages. Dr. Greenlaw and Dr. Hanford have been the most frequent contributors from the University faculty. Studies in Philology was founded by Dr. Alphonso Smith in 1906. It was published annually until 1915, when it was converted into a quarterly journal. Since 1915 it has steadily grown in size; the current issue contains 216 pages. The journal is sent to the libraries of all important colleges in this country, also to the big colleges of England and France. There are private subscribers in America, England, Continental Europe, India, Japan and China. This gives a hint as to the prominent position which Studies in Philology takes in the world of scholarship and literature.

That undisputed authority on all matters, relating to courses, the University Catalog, will be off the press soon. In the meanwhile, let us not be impatient about the courses of next year, as it is necessary to bear in mind that we had a war recently, which slightly upset the workings of established things. The University will furnish sufficient courses to provide everyone with work next year.

Handy Andy Will be Here Comm. With His Musical Jazz Coons

The Commencement Dances this year will be held on Wednesday and Thursday, the 18th and 19th of June, in the Gymnasium. All signs point toward a series fully as good as any dances ever staged around Commencement time. Music will be furnished by "Old Man Handy" who showed us last year what the real "nigger blues" are like. If anybody can play better shimmies or dreamier waltzes, we never heard of him. As for the girls, they will be here in force. At least seventy-five have already so signified. Mrs. Klutz will have 32 girls; Mrs. Patterson, 26; Mrs. Battle, Mrs. McRae, Mrs. Daniels and others will have lots more.

W. C. Feimster, Jr., is the Chief Ball Manager. He will be assisted by Poag, Powell, Hazlehurst, Bynum, Spaug, and Dowd. Dances will begin Wednesday afternoon and end Thursday night, intermissions for meals only. The night dances will be formal. This is the first chance that Freshmen have to do the social stunt. Therefore many Freshmen will join the great throng of upper-classmen who stay over for the dances. No peering through windows and over the balcony this time. Everybody dances! Play on, Handy!

Senior Pageant Has Been Foregone Due to Scarcity of Time

On account of the short time before Commencement, it has been found necessary to abandon the production of the pageant, "Carolina Under Two Flags," which was written by a committee of the senior class and was to have been presented by the Carolina Playmakers in the forest theatre as part of the Commencement program. It was decided that the pageant was too large an undertaking to be put through during the stress of exams as the production called for over a hundred actors and the practices would consume too much time. Therefore the faculty committee which took up the matter of production decided that it should not be attempted now but it will probably be staged some time next year, and will also be published.

The senior committee has been at work on the pageant ever since Junior Week when the class adopted the plan of giving up the senior stunt and producing instead at Commencement a pageant which would set the precedent for future classes in the line of dramatic achievement. The completed work presents a picture of the service of Carolina in the Civil War which will be of great interest to North Carolinians when it is produced. According to the faculty committee who heard it read, it would have made an excellent production as the first pageant of the Carolina Playmakers, if there had been time to present it. The senior committee has achieved something which, even if it cannot be produced as originally planned, will be considered when it does appear as worth the time and labor spent in planning and writing it.

School of Music and a Competent Instructor is Now Assured for Next Year

A school of music to be introduced next fall has been definitely decided upon. A director of musical organizations and activities who will probably give a course or two in musical appreciation will be secured. The courses offered will count towards college credit.

The purpose of the new work is not so much that a student may learn to make music himself as it is that he may understand and appreciate a musical composition when he hears it. It is the intention to engage a man who will do for the musical side of the campus what Prof. Koch has done for our dramatics. It is generally recognized among cultured people that an educated man should have some knowledge of the fundamentals of music as well as some understanding of poetry and literature. This appreciation side for the many will be given more emphasis than special instruction for a few. A man who is experienced in this kind of work will be engaged, the decision of whom it shall be resting with the trustees upon recommendation.

New Plan in English Calculated to Raise Standard of Writing

A new plan will be put into operation next fall by which the standard of writing will be raised in all departments of the University. The plan, briefly, is as follows: There will be a new faculty committee consisting of about six professors from the various departments, with Dr. Foerster as chairman. At regular intervals this committee will call for samples of the written work of the whole University. Themes, quizzes, examinations, and theses will be turned in. These papers will be read by the instructors and assistants in the English Department. The results will be submitted to Dr. Foerster, and then to the committee for final decision. Those men whose work shows notably deficiency in English Composition will be required to take a 5 hour course in English Composition for one term. This rule will hold regardless of a mans past record in English. Men who have done good work in Freshman English will be prevented from falling into the habit of careless writing. Those who write poorly will be stimulated to improve their work, in order to avoid the extra course. This is quite a new plan and it is expected to secure excellent results.

The playing of the Cone String Orchestra on the campus at night meets with the favor of all, particularly of those who room out in town.

A writer in "The Great Tradition" has the boldness to assert that the world's greatest happiness consists in work. It is feared that the popularity of the book will decline as a result of such contained statements.

S. C. TRUSTEES EXPRESS THEMSELVES AS HIGHLY PLEASED WITH UNIVERSITY

"SAYS THE GOV. OF N. C. TO
S. C.—"

Last Saturday the University had as its guests the University of South Carolina Board of Trustees which is composed of Gov. R. A. Cooper, Messrs. J. E. Swearington, State Superintendent of Education; S. A. Graham, Chairman of the House of Representatives; J. F. Williams, L. P. Hollis, C. E. Spencer, August Cohn, D. R. Coker, P. A. Wilcox, B. A. Hagood, and Dr. W. T. C. Bates. Gov. Bickett who accompanied the visitors over from Raleigh Friday afternoon, had to return to Raleigh owing to important business. Gov. Cooper left early Saturday morning after a brief inspection of the institution. President Carrell also accompanied the party on its visit to the Hill.

Conferences were held with the faculty regarding organization and administration of authority, and a meeting was held with the Student Council. Visits were made to different departments, and the entire campus, buildings and plant were inspected.

The visitors were guests of Swain Hall for dinner. They were given a hearty welcome by the students who were led in their yells by "Scrubby" Reeves.

After a busy day of inspection, observation and consultation, the committee left Saturday night for their native state. They seemed highly pleased with their visit, and were very enthusiastic about the University as a whole.

Many of Dr. Greenlaw's English 4 students are contemplating the purchase of glasses or magnifying lenses, believing that these would enable them to see some of the fine points which he brings out.

At a meeting of the athletic council Thursday night, it was decided that managers are eligible for the N. C. minus the "M," in case their work is regarded as satisfactory.

Phi Closes a Most Successful Year With Final Business Meeting

The annual business meeting, which comes at the end of the Spring term, was held by the Phi Legislature last Saturday night. Reports submitted by the various committees showed that the Society was healthy in every branch of its work. The legislative plan, recently adopted by the Society, was adopted as the plan of operation for next year without a dissenting vote. The following men were elected as officers of the Legislature for the Fall Term: W. H. Andrews, Speaker; J. H. Kerr, Jr., Speaker Pro Tempore; W. B. Womble, Reading Clerk; D. L. Grant, Treasurer; J. S. Massenburg, Sergeant-at-Arms; M. L. Stone, Reporting Clerk; T. S. Kittrell, Chairman Appellate Committee; Phillip Hettleman, Magazine Board; J. S. Babb and L. W. Jarman, Executive Committee; J. H. Kerr, Jr., D. L. Grant, and J. B. McLeod, Ways and Means Committee.

After the debate on Saturday night, May 31st, there will be a smoker at 9:30 in the Society Hall to which all men from Eastern Carolina, and all others who may desire to come, will be invited. The smoker will be a farewell meeting of the students for the year. Although the committee on arrangements has not yet completely perfected the program it can announce with certainty that at least the big four—Eats, Smokes, Speakers, and A Good Time,—will be there.

The Society closes one of the most successful years of its history. The entire work this year has been marked by an increased interest on the part of the members in the work of the Society, and broad ideas have been transfused into the plan of organization. The Society was one of two or three organizations which lived during the S. A. T. C. days, and kept the old Carolina Spirit alive on the Campus. With a broader conception of the relationship existing between the student body and the Societies, the Phi next Fall will inaugurate an even more broader policy in regard to this relationship.

Powell, Joyner, Wilson, Bryant, Herty, C. H., Milton, Feimster, Saunders, Lewis and Hodges have been awarded N. C.'s by the athletic council for their work in baseball. The names of a few other men were held up because of material not yet checked in. The names of these men will be announced at a later date.

A Chapel notice states that a cornet has been lost. The suggestion that he finder keep it until June 18 meets with unanimous approval.
