CAROLINA MEETS WAKE FOREST HERE TO-DAY

CAROLINA MEETS WAKE FOREST SAT; TEAM CONFIDENT OF VICTORY

TEAM EXPERIENCED IN DEFENSIVE BALL; BAPTISTS HAVE STRONG OUTFIT

PLAY A. AND E. OCTOBER 22

Close Game With State College Expected; Have Heavy Aggregation

Returning to the gridiron after an absence of three years, the University of North Carolina varsity football eleven has journeyed north twice in the last two weeks and met the powerful Rutgers and Yale teams, holding both to scores highly satisfactory to Carolina's supporters. Followers of the game here consider the team's showing indicative of a successful season.

In the initial game of the season Rutgers defeated North Carolina by a 19-0 score, profiting by the Southerners' fumbling in the first half. The powerful Yale eleven beat the Tar Heels last Saturday by a 34-7 score, Yale's goal line being crossed for the first time this season by the North Carolina team. In both these contests the light Carolina eleven was outweighed an average of twenty pounds to the player and was forced to wage a defensive battle. North Carolina's punting in both contests made considerable gains for the blue and white, Coleman outpunting his opponents in both games by a liberal margin.

When the North Carolina team meets Wake Forest here Saturday in the first game of the season on the local field, it will present a line-up well seasoned in defensive work because of its previous encounters and eager to unleash a smashing attack on the strong Baptist outfit. Although confident of victory, Carolina supporters here are expecting a hard contest since the Wake Forest squad has developed a defense that held the much touted Georgia Tech eleven to a 14-0 victory two weeks ago.

October 23rd is the banner day of state football, this year. The University, having last year renewed athletic relations with North Carolina A. and E., will meet the latter institution in Raleigh on the above date for the first time in many years. Football interest throughout the state is centered in this contest. The student bodies of both institutions are aroused to a high pitch of excitement and both teams are confident of victory. A. and E. has piled up massive scores against the comparative weak Guilford and Naval Training Ship teams, but suffered a 49-0 defeat when it played Navy at Annapolis a week ago. State College supporters declare, however, that Navy's easy victory was due to an undue amount of confidence on A. and E.'s part and that the difference between the teams was by no means as large as the score indicates.

The heavy state college team will probably outweigh the University squad ten pounds or more—the Tar Heels being handicapped by a team average of little more than 170 pounds. North Carolina, however, is confident that its experience with heavier elevens combined with a powerful, driving attack will counterbalance any difference in weight.

Four games remain on the North Carolina schedule after the state college contest. V. M. I., Tennessee and Davidson are played successively and the season is culminated by the annual classic with the University of Virginia, for many years played at Richmond, but this year at Chapel Hill on Thanksgiving Day. Gridiron fans here are reserving comment on the probable result of this contest as little information has been gained yet as to the strength of the Old Dominion eleven.

Wm. A. York, class of '18, was a visitor on the Hill the past week-end. He is teaching in the Greensboro High School this year.

Merrill Parker, class of '16, brought the Greensboro High School football team down the past week-end. He is teaching there this year, and also coaching the various athletic teams.

R. O. T. C. Company has Perfected its plans for the Coming Year

The schedules of drills for the coming year at the University of North Carolina are now complete. They were prepared under the provision of the new Special Regulations governing the Reserve Officers Training Corps in all the universities and colleges throughout the country. The new schedule presents to the student a course which is not only thoroughly instructive but most interesting. It is based upon the plan of having the officer know fully the duties of the private and non commissioned officer before passing on to the learning of the special knowledge he must possess. The work is divided into three parts, practical, class room or conference work and lectures. In this manner the steady continuous close order drill on the parade ground is reduced to the minimum. The course of 108 hours for the freshman year includes the subjects of Organization, Military Courtesy and Discipline, Drill, close and extended order, Care and Handling of Arms and Equipment, Small Arms Firing, Personal Hygiene, First Aid and Sanitation, Interior Guard Duty, Minor Tactics, Map and B.H. Relief Map Problems, Moral, and Physical Training. In addition the course for sophomores includes Liaison for all Arms, Topography and Map Reading, Signalling, Field Engineering, and Orders and Messages.

It has just recently been decided that credit for one full course each year will be given. Those in charge are expecting 120 from the Sophomore class as this was the number that indicated their intention of taking the R. O. T. C. course last spring by signing up. It is hoped that 200 men can be secured from the Freshman class as equipment for 300 men has been requisitioned.

The men will be divided into four companies, A, B, C, and D. The first two companies i. e. A. and B. will be made up of Sophomores while the Freshmen will be placed in companies C and D.

The plan is to get as much theory here and leave the practice for the summer camp. That is the men will not be burdened with an excessive amount of tiresome close order drill.

The work here is in charge of Major F. W. Boye, U. S. Cavalry. Major Boye is a graduate of West Point class of 1915, was stationed with the 5th Cavalry at Ft. Leavenworth, accompanied Pershing on the Mexican punitive expedition, was then transferred to the 17th Cavalry and stayed on the border until Aug 18, was then sent to Camp Devens Mass. with the 12 Division and has now been assigned to the University of North Carolina.

Major Boye hopes to have a unit large enough to have a battalion organization, the formation of which would permit the appointment of student officers and non commissioned officers from major to corporal. Part of the time will be devoted to ceremonies and it is hoped that the men who return here for commencement next year will be treated to the sight of a Carolina battalion of parade and review.

The following equipment will be used: Clothing is provided by the government. Each year each student will receive:

- 1 Coat, wool, OD
- 1 Breeches, wool, OD
- 1 Shoes, russet or marching.
- 1 Shirt, wool, OD
- 1 Overcoat, OD, short.
- 1 Leggins, pair, canvas.
- 1 Hat, service.
- 2 collars ornaments.
- 1 hat cord.
- 1 belt.
- 1 chevrons.

In addition for those attending summer camp.

- 2 breeches, cotton, OD
- 1 shoes, marching or russet.
- 1 shirt, wool, OD
- 1 Leggins, pair, canvas.
- 1 hat additional.
- 1 hat cord.

UNIV. 126 BIRTHDAY CELEBRATED AT HARV'D BY CAROLINA STUDENTS

TWENTY CAROLINA MEN MEET AT BANQUET

CAROLINA CLUB IS ORGANIZED

Characterized by an atmosphere which mingled traditions of Davie Poplar and the Boston Tea Party, and paying tribute at once to the names of the late Edward K. Graham and John Harvard—Carolina men at Harvard celebrated the University's 126th birthday Saturday, October 11, by an alumni dinner at the Parker House in Boston. "The University of North Carolina—prospective and retrospective" was a theme that afforded ample opportunity for reviving those memories and association which become fixed in the life of every son she rears.

An informal organization at the close of the evening resulted in the selection of Mangum Weeks, '15, president of the groups and Wm. H. Stephenson, secretary. Carolina men taking work at Harvard University this year include: C. L. Abernathy, '21 arts, Frank Allen, '17 law, D. H. Bacott, instructor, '12-'14 graduate work in History, Hoch Black, '16 law, Herman Castello, '16 law, Floyd Crouse, '16 law, Sam Erwin, '17 law, Sam Fisher, '20 business administration, Hershel V. ATHLETICS FOR EVERYONE ALL THE TIME, IS PLAN

CAPTAIN BROWNE IS DIRECTOR IN CHARGE OF STUDENT ATHLETICS

Along with Harvard, Yale and other leading Universities that have instituted mass athletics the University of North Carolina sets a new departure in the way of equipment and training facilities for men who are interested in all or any form of athletics but who are not sufficiently specialized in one line to make the varsity team, to have every man taking part in athletics of some form.

This form of athletics is the direct outgrowth of the success and popularity attained by this method in the training camps during the war.

The University has secured Capt. Thos. J. Browne, 35th Division to take charge of this important work. Capt. Browne was Commandant of Bayonet and Physical Training at Camp Gordon before the armistice was signed, when he was sent to Washington, D. C. and had charge of the physical training in all the convalescent camps in the United States. The methods used by Capt. Browne at Camp Gordon were adopted in all the camps throughout the country.

Capt. Browne wishes to enlist the services of all letter men who are interested, as instructors in the particular branch of athletics in which they excel. The students will be divided into small units, each in charge of one of these letter men.

Each dormitory will be asked to elect a manager who will in turn pick a team to represent that dormitory in the series to be played between the various buildings. There will also be a league for the fraternities and one for the men who are rooming out in town.

Special attention will be called to soccer as this sport is being played with increasing importance by the big northern universities where it has practically reached a position on par with that of basketball. The football field and the Class Field will be divided so as to make four separate places where the game can be played.

12 Applications to Date for the Next Rhodes Scholarship

The Rhodes Scholarship for North Carolina will be awarded October 30, according to an announcement made by President H. W. Chase, of the University of North Carolina, chairman of the committee to select the representative for the state.

Twelve applications have already been made for this scholarship, which is the largest number in any one year, and from the number of inquiries, President Chase said, there is a greater amount of interest among the colleges of the state than there has ever been before.

By the terms of the scholarship, the gift of the late Cecil Rhodes, a North Carolina college student, preferably a graduate, may go to Oxford University, England, for three years' study, with all expenses paid. This is the first time no entrance examinations will be required, and the winner may choose any course of study he desires.

Any college in the state may nominate its candidates to the selecting committee, which is composed of the president of the state university and two former Rhodes scholars. As there are now no former Rhodes scholars living in North Carolina, the committee is composed, besides President Chase, of two former Rhodes scholars from Virginia, the Rev. Beverly D. Tucker, rector of St. Paul's Memorial Church, University, Va., and W. A. Stuart, a lawyer of Big Stone Gap, Va.

With 300 already delivered and 900 shipped, the supply of freshman handbooks will be adequate to meet all demands expected to be made for these books of instruction, it was learned yesterday from the Y. M. C. A. secretary who will issue them to applicants.

The books, which are expected to arrive within the week, are neatly bound and stamped in gold lettering with the seal of the University, and contain information for new men on practically every problem encountered on the hill. All applicants should see Secretary Wunsch at once for a copy of the "freshman Bible."

If you are interested in work for the betterment of the negroes in the community;

If you want to help in the rural Sunday Schools, and thereby get some fresh air from the walk and meet the folks you are to live with the next year or so;

If you have ever been a Boy Scout or Scoutmaster and want to continue your work among scouts;

If you are interested in playground development among mill operatives at Carboro;

See Secretary Wunsch at the Y. M. C. A.

With a comparatively low attendance from the University, the Blue Ridge conference of students from all the principal southeastern colleges came to a close the last of June and the following men from Carolina were in attendance: G. D. Crawford, W. W. Stout, S. H. Willis, and W. R. Wunsch.

Secretary Wunsch remained at Blue Ridge for the conference between the Y. M. C. A. secretaries of the southeastern colleges which was in session the entire summer and consisted of a study of methods of administration in "Y" work and included lectures by prominent college men, among them being addresses on Christian Ethics by Dr. E. M. Poteat, formerly of Furman university and an address on the problems of community socialism delivered by Dr. H. H. Horne.

Freshmen are at present required to take part in this training and later equipment will be provided so that the upper classmen may all be accommodated. New courts are to be built and Memorial Hall is to be fitted up as a court.

Another feature that will be of interest is the lessons in boxing. Two hundred pairs of gloves have been asked for and soon an opportunity for pummeling your neighbor in the most scientific and approved fashion will be given.

STRONG YALE ELEVEN SCORED ON BY TEAM 34-7 SCORE IN GAME

OUTWEIGHTED TWENTY POUNDS CAROLINA FIGHTS ELI FOR EVERY INCH

YALE TEAM TRICKED BY PHARR

University Quarter Back Scores by Cunning Stratagem; Coleman Outpunts Yale Backs

In the first Yale-Carolina game in the history of the two institutions, the varsity eleven spread joy in the hearts of all Tar Heels by crossing the Elis goal line for the first time this season. The game was played in an almost oppressive heat, which tended to make it drag a little, though the unusually large crowd of about 10,000 seemed to enjoy it greatly, especially when the Carolina eleven made their lone score in the last three minutes of play.

The Carolinians were unable to penetrate the heavy Yale line at any time during the game. Their only touchdown came almost at the end of the game, when Lowe, substitute for Coleman, punted, and "Chuck" Pharr slipped through and fell on the ball behind the Yale goal line after a Yale player had touched the ball. The touchdown was ruled legitimate by Referee Laighford, and the Carolina contingent went wild with glee, while the stands cheered the visitors heartily, at the expense of their own team.

The Eli eleven scored in the first few minutes of play, when North Carolina fumbled the kickoff, pushing the ball over with a few line plunges. The second touchdown came as a result of a similar fumble on the visitors' twenty-yard line in the second quarter. The third touchdown was scored in the third period by a series of line-smashing gains combined with a 50-yard broken field run by La Roche, the Blue quarterback. Yale's last two touchdowns were the result of line smashing gains, varied with several forward passes.

For Carolina the all-round work of Tenny featured the work of the backfield, while Coleman starred in the punting, easily outkicking Aldrich and Murphy, who did the booting for the Elis. Coleman's kicks averaged forty-six yards, while Yale's punts covered a distance of seventy yards. Yale essayed five forward passes, completing three, while The Carolinians successfully finished two out of four trials.

It is believed that the excellent practice and experience gained from the Yale game and the Rutgers game of a week ago will stand the team in good stead when it comes to battle with Wake Forest tomorrow at Emerson Field. Most of the bruises and injuries received in the Yale game should be well healed by that time, and Coach Campbell is putting the squad through the grueling practice daily that should show its effects when the Baptists appear on the local gridiron tomorrow.

The line-up follows:

Yale	North Carolina
Reinhardt	Cochrane
	left end
Hamill	Pritchard
	left tackle
Acosta	Barden
	left guard
Callahan	Blount
	center
Galt	Grimes
