SIXTY-FIVE CANDIDATES OUT FOR BASE BALL

Schedule Announces Games With
Yale, Virginia and Penn.

Sixty-five candidates for the baseball team have answered Coach Lourcey's call this week, and Emerson Field is taking on its old-time look. The last few afternoons of the week have been ideal for baseball and Coach Lourcey has been putting the squad through some pretty stiff work in order to make up for the time lost during the rainy weather of the last two weeks. The stormy season that we have just had has put the squad under a distinct handicap, but if the weather continues as good as it has been this week the team will rapidly get in shape, and it will be in good trim for the first game. Practice games will begin the end of the week and the first of next, and Coach Lourcey is expecting to get the bunch in good working order in the immediate future.

An unusually large number of men have reported, and although there are not many men who may be called brilliant players, the whole outfit is made up of good men. This is an advantage for it insures the fact that every man will have to keep hustling to retain a berth on the nine. Another advantage that has been pointed out is the fact that all the men are of big build physically.

The outlook in regard to the pitching staff is bright also. Joyner, Wilson, Fields, Swift, Alley, Heathm and a great many others are out to occupy the mound. A big bunch of letter men are back some of them members of former winning Carolina teams. Stewart, an old member of the 1917 team, and Bill Saunders, of last year left field fame, will report at the beginning of the Spring quarter.

It will be gratifying to most of the students to know that the former Junior Week schedule will very probably be changed and as a result the team will play games off the Hall at that time, and the big games that were scheduled for Junior Week will come later. The management is trying to arrange the schedule for this time so that the team will play Davidson at Winston-Salem on Easter Monday, the University of South Carolina at Columbia on Tuesday, Georgia Tech in Atlanta on Wednesday, and the University of Georgia in Athens on Thursday of that week. Following this game the team will go to Charlottesville where it will meet the Old Dominion on Saturday in the first game of the series. This arrangement will no doubt be followed.

Though not yet officially scheduled Carolina will meet Oak Ridge as usual in the first game of the season. This game will come on the 29th of March, and on the 7th Carolina will meet the Durham league team. Both games will be here.

The Yale game will be held sometime between the third and the tenth of April.

The prospects for a winning nine this year are very bright, although Coach Lourcey says that the squad will have to undergo some hard work before it will get in final form.

Decide to Secure All-Time Secretary
For Association

In the first alumni conference ever held at the University of North Carolina during mid-session, presidents and secretaries of local alumni associations met in Chapel Hill last night to consider University problems and to perfect work for the local associations.

As a result of the meeting more than $1,000 was pledged on the spot to start a paid alumni secretary to devote all his time to the work, endorsement and promise of help were given to the plans for a general alumni catalogue, steps were taken to provide a hotel for Chapel Hill, to hold another conference next fall, to strengthen local associations, and promise of support was given to a program of University development.

Among those present for the conference were A. D. W. Connor, of Raleigh, president of the alumni association, and E. R. Rankin, secretary; H. M. London and J. B. Chesire, Jr., of Raleigh; Judge N. H. Stevens and C. Walton Johnson, of Asheville; W. M. Hendren and Dr. Howard Rondthaler, of Winston-Salem; A. E. Woltz, of Gastonia; Francis O. Clarkson, of Charlotte; J. R. Baggett, of Lillington; J. W. Umstead, Jr., of Tarboro; R. H. Gwynn, Jr., of Leaksville; W. C. Wicker, of Elon College; and A. M. Coates, of Smithfield. Representing the University were President Chase, Dr. L. R. Wilson, Dean Frank Graham, and Professors A. H. Patterson and Collier, and Mr. C. T. Woollen.

At a dinner given by President Chase talks were made by him and by President Connor of the association, and by A. M. Coates, E. R. Rankin, H. E. Rondthaler, H. M. London, J. W. Umstead, Jr., and Dr. Wilson. An informal discussing followed and a general debate, with near all the alumni participating, lasting until late into the night.

The sum of $1,050, which was pledged on the table for the support of a whole-time alumni secretary, was regarded as sufficient to start the work for such an office immediately and to take care of him until the June meeting of the general alumni association. Hitherto, alumni secretarial work has been carried on by E. R. Rankin, in addition to other duties. "The life of the alumni association," said Mr. Umstead, "depends on the activity of a secretary devoting all his time to the work."

In endorsing the plan for a general catalogue of all the alumni, the conference passed a resolution pledging support in the obtaining of data and the sale of the volume. Secretary Rankin announced that, counting present students, the number of living alumni had now passed the 10,000 mark.

Among the proposals made for strengthening local associations the one attracting most general interest was the Asheville plan brought forward by Judge Stevens, which provides, among other things, for quarterly meetings in the form of luncheons, following the procedure of Rotary Clubs and other similar organizations.

The program of University development which met the approval of the conference and which will be submitted to the general alumni meeting, included, aside from the obvious physical and financial development, the following: (1) The future expansion of departments dealing with governments, politics, and social sciences. (2) The offering of courses in architecture, mining engineering, and forestry. (3) The provision of a laboratory for accounting, a reading room for the School of Commerce, and the addition to the School of instructors in business organization.

The above completes the personnel of the now famous Pickard ticket. Mr. Pickard, when interviewed last night at the headquarters of the Bull Moose party (as his ticket is now known and designated by the Right Honorable Horace Williams, member of the legislature from Perdunk), in the Bynum Gymnasium, stated that the ticket felt confident of election. He further said that his cohorts felt very delighted over having been able to secure the valuable and experienced services of the aged campaigner and veteran of many battles, the Hon. Albert Coates. Mr. Coates is rapidly getting the Bull Moose headquarters in shape for the coming campaign and in conjunction with the distinguished chairman of the Executive Committee, the Hon. "Hoss" Lloyd, he is determined that the eagle of victory shall perch upon the Pickard banner.

INFLUENZA DISAPPEARS FROM STUDENT BODY

Total Cases Among Students Reached
Forty-nine

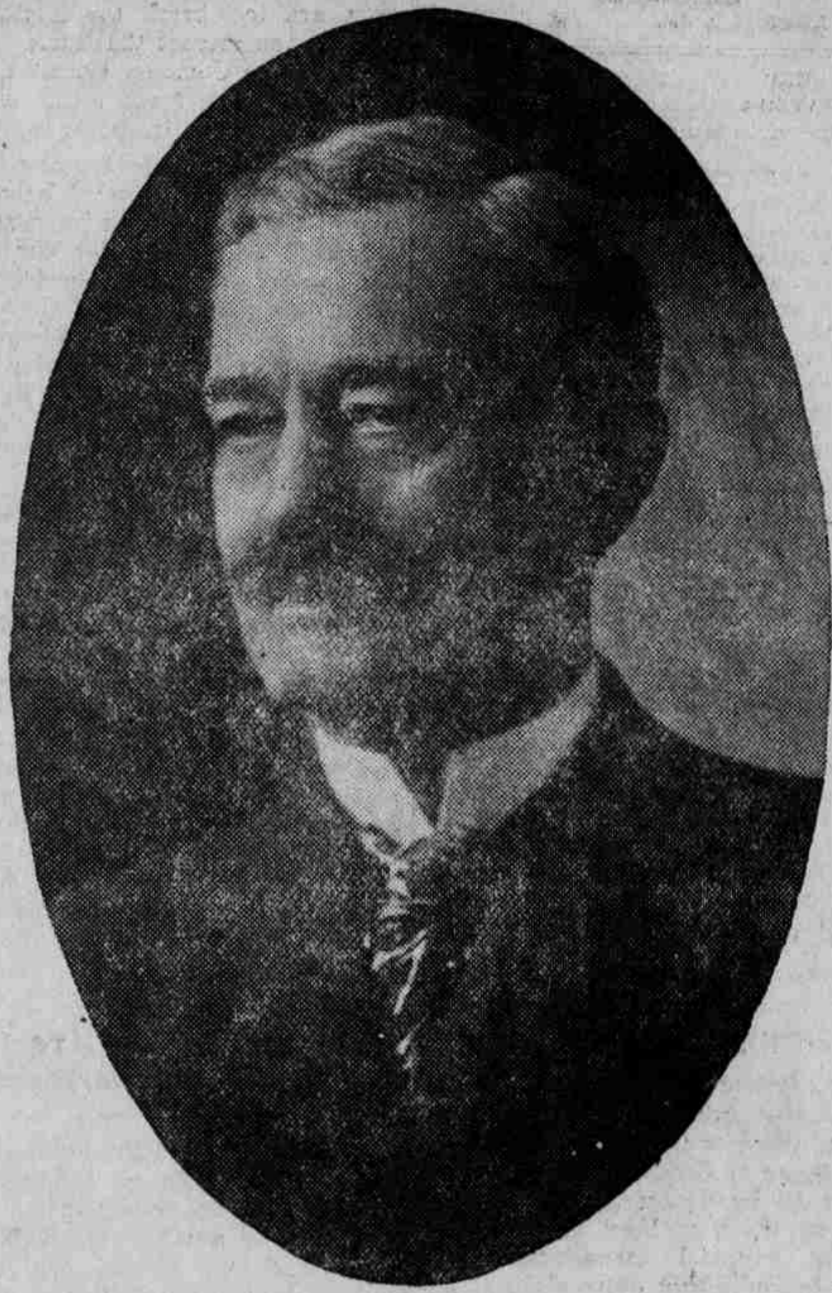

"There are no cases of influenza among the students at the University of North Carolina," Dr. Eric A. Abernethy, the University physician, said today. "At the present time five students are on the sick list. Two have minor injuries received in basketball, one has the mumps, and two have ear trouble but not serious enough to keep them off classes.

"Since January 1st," Dr. Abernethy continued, "there have been 49 cases of influenza among the 1,400 students. All of them are now well. That number includes every student who had a rise in temperature if just for one day. Eleven cases during the past two months developed into serious influenza and two into pneumonia. The largest number sick at any time was seventeen, the largest number of new cases in any one day was two. There was never at any time any influenza situation as such."

Outside the University, in Chapel Hill, in Carrboro, which adjoins, and in the surrounding country influenza spread widely though it is now pronounced to be rapidly decreasing. Five deaths have been reported from the county near Chapel Hill.

Precautions were taken in Chapel Hill and in the University to keep influenza from getting a start. The Chapel Hill graded school was closed for ten days. Churches and moving

The above is a picture of the Hon. Robert N. Page, of Biscoe, one of the Democratic candidates for the gubernatorial nomination in the June primaries. Mr. Page is a man whose capacity for leadership and ability along clear-thinking lines is recognized throughout the state. He has long been prominent in the political, business and religious life of the state. He has served several terms in Congress, retiring in order to pay more attention to private business. During the war he was an active worker for his country, aiding in several Liberty Loan drives. He will address the student body on the night of March 11th.

CAROLINA LOSES TO TRINITY 19 TO 18

In a fast and hard-fought game last Monday night Trinity turned the tables on Carolina on the local floor to the tune of 19 to 18. The revenge was sweet to the rather large crowd of Trinity supporters who came over to pull for their team, and they went back with visions of the state championship in their mind's eye.

The game was one of the most hotly-contested of the season, the teams running neck and neck during every minute of play. The Trinity team started off with a rush, scoring four points in the first minute of play. Then Carolina came from behind and led by a margin of two or three points until Trinity scored a goal just before the end of the half, making the score 10 to 9 in her favor.

In the second half the two teams came back with more pep, if possible, than before and the advantage swung back and forth as the half went on. The Carolina team was off in its passing, but through close guarding and good work on the part of Liipfert, managed to keep the lead until the last five minutes of play, when by a couple of long shots Trinity took the lead and maintained it by a margin of one point until the end.

The close game and intense feeling caused more personal fouls than usual, and the game was close and tense throughout. The game was featured by the shooting of Liipfert and the all-round good work of Sheppard for Carolina, and the spectacular shooting from the center of the floor on the part of Starling and Martin for Trinity.

The line-up follows:
Carolina Carmichael Right Forward
Rourk Left Forward
Liipfert Center
Sheppard Right Guard
Trinity Ferrell
Starling
Richardson

OPPOSITION TICKET IS THE RUMOR NOW

Politicians well versed in the art and gossip around Alumni 12, headquarters of the distinguished and astute politician, the Hon. Dud Carroll, have it that opposition to the Bull Moose ticket is brewing. But where the opposition is nobody can definitely tell. Indications point to the Hon. Horace Williams as leader of the opposition. Williams, who is no mean politician, addressed around four hundred Freshmen in Gerrard Hall last Monday morning. The time-honored and esteemed friendship of the gentleman from Perdunk for some of the Bull Moose ticket would lead him to this step with a clear conscience. It is understood that he has the support of such distinguished politicians as the Hon. Charlie Woolen, William Watly Pierson, Hon. Vernon Howell (who is mentioned for the place of Chief Justice on the new ticket), Major Cain, of the Light Infantry, and commander of the Old Guard, the Hon. Zeb Council, and Bull Durham.

As yet the opposition has not crystallized but the Seer of Sabine Farm (Horace) is noted for his ability to crystallize things and keen political observers think that a wise step in this direction would be the appointment of Frank Porter Graham as campaign manager for the insurgents. Some keen observers state frankly that they think that if Frank Porter Graham is appointed campaign manager the insurgent ticket will loose the votes of several thousand freshmen who are taking History I and II. Nevertheless, it is thought that this can be more than counterbalanced by the number of women votes that Graham can carry to the insurgent ticket. As yet, nothing definite is known as to the insurgent movement, but events are expected to crystallize in a few days.

Mr. Turkey Aycock, campaign manager for the distinguished politician and statesman, Edwin Greenlaw, who is the Bull Moose candidate for the Commissioner of Agriculture, in an article addressed to the voters last night, stated that Greenlaw
