DR. ODUM HEADS NEW WELFARE SCHOOL

WILL BE KENAN PROFESSOR OF SOCIOLOGY AND DIRECTOR
WELFARE SCHOOL

GRADUATE OF EMORY COLLEGE

Prominent in His Field of Work;
Will Arrive Here This Summer

In announcing tentative plans for a school of public welfare to be added to the University, President Chase announced the appointment of Dr. Howard W. Odum, dean of the college of liberal arts and chairman of the council of deans at Emory University, Atlanta, as Kenan professor of sociology and director of the new school of public welfare.

Dr. Odum will move to Chapel Hill early in the summer when he will assume charge of the public welfare school and lay the foundation of the first collegiate school of this type in the south. Preliminary outlines as announced by President Chase show that the new school will be concerned with problems of instruction and education in citizenship, in vocational and professional training for social and public welfare work, in social engineering, and in University and social research.

Dr. Odum has had extensive and definite training and experience in work of similar nature to his new position. He is a southern man, native of Walton, Ga., and graduate of Emory College. Later he had graduate work at Clark University and Columbia University, where he received his Ph. D. degree, in sociology, receiving the Gran Squires reward for the best sociological study published in the United States in a period of five years.

For the next three years Dr. Odum was research expert for the Bureau of Municipal Research of Philadelphia, where he did invaluable work in municipal welfare organization. From 1913 to 1918 he was professor of educational sociology at the University of Georgia, at the same time serving as a member of the Atlanta board of education. In 1918 he was director of the bureau of home service for camps and camp cities in the southern division, and in the spring of 1919 he was called to Emory University to assume the duties of dean of the college.

Among works of merit he has written are recounted "Social and Mental Traits of the Negro", "Folk Songs and Poetry", and articles in national sociological journals.

DR. FINLEY DELIVERS UNIVERSITY SERMON

On Sunday March 21st in Gerrard Hall, Dr. K. G. Finlay, of Columbia, S. C., delivered the University sermon for March. Dr. Finlay is an impressive speaker and made a very favorable impression upon his audience.

Dr. Finlay took as his text the familiar words, "Whosoever shall seek to gain his life shall lose it, but whosoever shall lose his life shall find it." All living things are engaged in a quest for life. The pine tree on the mountain crag, the flower in the field, and the crouching wild beast—each is seeking life in its own way. Every type of mankind is engaged in the same pursuit and is seeking the same goal, which is life. The speaker emphasized the word "his" in the text. The self-centered man, the one who is concerned only with his own interests, who moves in his own little world rather than in the great world of humanity—this is the person who shall lose his life. His attitude is one of demand rather than of service.

As the best illustration of the method of gaining life, Dr. Finlay cited the mother who loses her life in her devotion to those who are dear to her and thereby finds her life. The teacher is another example. We find it going on all around us. The golden rule, instead of being impractical, is the most practical of all things. The speaker closed with an appeal to the young men to make this wise and valuable precept of Jesus a part of their own experience.

Wilton McLean Commerce Speaker

The School of Commerce announces a lecture on April 1st at eight-thirty by Hon. A. W. McLean on the subject of "Training for Foreign Trade." This lecture is another of the series of lectures given by the School of Commerce for the benefit of its students. Mr. McLean is especially suited to deliver this lecture, having been director of the War Finance Cooperation, an organization which controlled all investments during the war; in addition, Mr. McLean is one of the most successful business men of the state, owning textile and farming interests in different parts of the state. He is also connected with the banking interests of the state, and is one of the trustees of the University. It is quite an opportunity to have the privilege of a man occupying such a strategic position in industrial and governmental affairs.

VARSITY BALL TEAM GETTING INTO SHAPE

ENTIRE SQUAD SHOWING UP
WELL WITH PLACES
CONTESTED

SCHEDULE PRACTICALLY FINAL

Ten Games Will Be Played On the Hill. First Two With Oak Ridge and Durham

During the last few weeks the baseball squad has shown a very marked improvement, and it looks like Coach Lourcey's outfit is going to be a regular nine that will represent Carolina better than any team we have put out for quite a while. Coach has been putting his men through a hard workout each afternoon that the weather has permitted, and he is very rapidly developing team-work. This week Captain Feimster has been in charge of the practices, since Coach Lourcey has been compelled to be off the Hill during the time. Each afternoon he has picked two teams from members of the squad and has gone through a match game in order to get his men accustomed to working together.

The entire squad is showing up well. Joyner, Wilson, Llewelyn, Swift, Fields, Alley, John Wilson, Hester, and Health are out for the mound position, while Younce, Roberts, Lewis, Dorsett, and Grissette are after the other end of the battery. At first, Baker, Bason, and Abernathy are showing up well. This contest is probably the most closely watched of any on the team, and either of the three men are very strong possibilities. McLean and Coope rare doing good work at second, while Milton, Robbins, and Pharr are holding down short very creditably. Captain Feimster and Kirkman, an old letter man of the 1917 team, are on the hot corner. In the outfield are Saunders, who won his letter last year; Lewis, also a letter man; Stewart, a member of the 1917 team, who is expected to do some brilliant work this year; Carmichael, Douglas, Graham, and Proctor, the last two members of former squads.

Besides these men there are a number of other aspirants who are doing good work.

The schedule which Manager White has just announced as practically final is one of the heaviest in the history of the institution, and it provides for games with some of the country's biggest teams. Manager White has succeeded in obtaining

Fire Alarm Placed In Phillips Hall

Mr. C. T. Woolen, business manager of the University, has just announced that the new fire-alarm system would be installed within a few weeks' time. The new system is an electric siren which will scream forth its weird sound from the top of Phillips Hall. This siren is of 110 volts capacity and is connected by remote control of switches.

For many years the church bells have served as the fire-alarm system for the University and the town. This method has been resorted to for many years, and it has proved to be a very poor way to summon quick assistance to a fire. Another striking advantage of the new system is that the siren will be connected with four different switches. One of these is to be located at the central office, and the remaining three will be at the first station, the campus, and the eastern end of town.

It is rumored that fire chief Burton will become actively engaged in fire fighting when the new system is installed. His brave action in subduing the flames at Swain Hall on the night of the Carolina Smoker has been a source of much comment on the campus. The other brave men, under the authority of assistant chief Penny, have already pledged their support to chief Burton. Suggestions are also being made that the fire fighters secure another engine-pumping outfit, but chief Burton insists that the engine pump used by his force on the night of the smoker is the most effective in the country at the present time.

Playmakers Hold Authors Reading

The Carolina Playmakers held their customary authors reading thursday evening in Peabody hall, at which the follow plays were read: "The Voice of God," a mountain missionary play, by Sylvia Latshaw; "Dod Gast Ye Both," a mountain comedy, by Hubert C. Heffner; "White Dresses," a play dealing with the race problem, by Paul Green; "Moo Kow Moo," a Carolina initiation farce, by Wm. Royal and E. E. White; and "The Bell Buoy," a sea play centering around a portrait, by Dougald McMillan. Three plays will be selected from this list for presentation and work on casting of the three will begin at once. Tryouts for these plays will be conducted as usual. The Playmakers expect to present this program of plays soon after the Easter vacation, a definite date will be announced later.

INAUGURATION PLANS ARE BEING PERFECTED

PROMINENT EDUCATORS AND LEADERS ARE ON PROGRAM

Invitations, accompanied by a request to send a delegate, to the inauguration of Harry Woodburn Chase as president of the University of North Carolina on April 28th, have been mailed this week to 264 colleges and universities, 57 learned societies, 14 professional schools, and educational boards, it was learned from Lenoir Chambers, director of publicity for the University.

The inauguration of President Graham in 115 was notable for the large number of distinguished scholars and university men who were present to extend greetings to the University and the new president. At President Chase's inauguration it is planned to have even a larger number and the inaugural committee is making unusual efforts to receive and entertain them.

All the more important educational institutions in the country are included on the list. The learned societies include such groups as the American Bar Association, the American Chemical Society, the American Economic Association, the American Institute of Mining Engineers, the National Geographic Society, the Modern Language Association, the American Forestry Association, and others. Thirty-two of these societies and associations named delegates in 1919.

Greetings from these delegates will form a part of the program at the banquet to be given by the University after the inauguration exercises have been completed. President Chase's inauguration address will be the most important feature of the exercises proper, but there will also be addresses by President Hibben of Princeton, Dean Charles R. Mann, of the University of Chicago, President Alderman, of the University of Virginia, President Potat, of Wake Forest, and others.

Dialectic Society Elect New Officers

The regular quarterly business meeting of the Dialectic Society was held March 13th and all the unfinished business of the term cleared up. Mr. J. W. Erwin was elected one of the business managers of the Yackety-Yack for next year. This was the regular time for the election of officers for the spring quarter and the following men were chosen: President, R. D. Williams; vice-president, C. W. Phillips; secretary, J. A. McLean; first censor, W. E. Matthews; second censor, S. O. Bondurant; first corrector, W. P. Hudson; second corrector, G. B. Porter.

On account of examinations no meeting of the society was held on March 20th. The inter-society debates which were postponed on account of sickness in the family of one of the debaters will be held on March 27th. The freshman debate will take place in the Di Hall and the sophomores will fight it out in the Phi Hall. Article X is the subject to be discussed.

Miss Frances Venable spent the week-end with her parents, returning to St. Mary's Tuesday.

GOLDEN FLEECE TAPS MARCH 30

RADICAL CHANGES IN THE
ANNUAL "TAPPING" CEREMONIES

GOVERNOR BIGKETT TO BE HERE

Elaborate Program To Be Carried Out in Gerrard Hall

Radical changes in the annual "tapping" ceremonies of the Senior Order of the Golden Fleece will be inaugurated Tuesday night, March 30th, at eight-thirty o'clock in Gerrard Hall, when the newly-elected members of the order will be "tapped." Governor Bickett will be present for the occasion and will speak on the subject: "College Life." President Chase will introduce the Governor. E. E. White will preside for the Golden Fleece and will briefly state the general purpose and meaning of the order to the student body.

The ceremony of the "tapping" has heretofore come during the Junior Week festivities and the usual date has been on the night of the Senior or Junior stunts, coming during the intermission to the acts. The change this year has been made mainly because the present members of the Golden Fleece feel that a time should be chosen when the entire student body is on the Hill and can be present to witness the ceremony. Large numbers of students usually leave the Hill during Junior Week and a comparatively small proportion of the student body witnesses the selection of its most representative men.

The order of the program will be as follows: Talk by E. E. White, representing the Golden Fleece; introductory Address, by President H. W. Chase; Address of Governor Bickett; followed by the tapping ceremony.

UNIVERSITY ENLARGES GRADUATE SCHOOL

The University is enlarging the Graduate School, and are offering eighteen fellowship for the year 1920-1921. The fellowships are offered in the departments of Botany, Chemistry, English, Geology, History and Government, Mathematics, and Romance Languages. The stipend attached to these fellowships is $500, with free tuition. Each Fellow is expected to give a limited portion of his time to instruction or such other work as may be prescribed by the department to which he is assigned. The remainder of his time is devoted to advanced study in the University as a candidate for a Graduate degree.

The chief interest of a University to students outside of the state in which it is located is its Graduate School. Heretofore the Graduate School of the University has not ranked with the undergraduate school in importance or in interest. However, there has been a movement on foot during the past year to enlarge the graduate school which has culminated in the above offer on the part of the University. As we know the Graduate School is backed by some of the ablest men of our faculty, and Carolina's Graduate School may be expected to soon rank with her undergraduate departments.

Physical Culture Books Are Placed In Library

At Captain Brown's request a collection of books on physical culture has been assembled and placed at the left of the desk in the library in the space formerly given over to books on drama and the theater. The increased interest which is developing in the student body seems to warrant more reading matter on the subject. The books are for public inspection and may be taken out in the ordinary way for two weeks. This shelf has many of the new books on physical culture recently purchased by the library.
