"PROFESSORS" GIVEN TWENTY-FIVE PER CENT SALARY RAISE

IS IN THE FORM OF A RELIEF
UNTIL THE STATE CAN PROVIDE

THE GENERAL EDUCATION BOARD

As a temporary emergency gift to relieve the present critical situation in professors' salaries at the University the general education board of New York has given a sum sufficient to raise all salaries approximately 25 per cent for the current year only, according to an announcement made by President Chase.

The gift is retroactive and will cover the year from July 1, 1920, to July 1, 1921. It does not go beyond the one year, President Chase said, because the gift was made to tide over the immediate situation until other funds could be obtained.

Further than that, he pointed out, its emergency character is emphasized by the fact that the general education board has a declared policy of not donating money to state institutions and has departed from this policy only a few times and then to relieve pressing conditions.

The increase applies to all the teaching force at the university from professors to instructors. The money will be available in the near future and it is expected that the back pay from last July will be included in the January 1 salary checks, "just in time to meet the January bills," as one professor said.

Aside from the recognition which the general education board after thorough investigation, has thus given officially to the emergency situation at the university, the main point about the donation which President Chase sees is the aid it will give him in holding together the faculty of the university at a time when colleges and universities all over the country are bidding for teachers and are offering them larger salaries than the university has been able to pay. Within the past 18 months the 73 teachers here above the rank of instructors have received 24 offers from other institutions at higher salaries than they get (Continued on page four)

HAZING AT NAVAL ACADEMY COMES TO A SERIOUS PASS

BAKER SAYS ORDERS EXECUTED WOULD ANNIHILATE ACADEMY

Rear Admiral Scales, commandant of the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis, has the hazing situation there in hand, secretary of Navy Daniels said today.

Daniels declared he would order expelled from the academy all midshipmen found guilty of hazing no matter how great the number implicated.

If Secretary Daniels dismisses all Annapolis midshipmen who are guilty of violating the hazing rules he will have to close the academy altogether, Samuel C. Baker, Jr., of Seattle, a former midshipman declared in a statement made public today.

Baker, who was expelled from the academy on a hazing charge, today said he defied Secretary Daniels or Commandant Scales to prove their allegations. Baker referred to the Naval academy as "worse than a kindergarten."

During 1918 and 1919 Baker said, that some plebs were so hazed that they were barely able to walk. Later two plebs attempted suicide to escape hazing.

Worth Daniels, son of the Secretary of Navy, was the most frequently hazed man of his class, Baker declared, and he resigned from the academy after the armistice was signed.

Lowe Elected to Head 1921 Football Team

F. Robbins Lowe, of Winston-Salem, who is one of the sturdiest all-round athletes on our campus, was elected captain of the team for 1921. The election took place in Charlottesville immediately after the Virginia game, and "Runt" was easily the choice of the men. He has just completed his second year of varsity ball and has one of the best toes in the country, having encountered few who can lift a ball as well as he.

DR. EDWIN GREENLAW EXCHANGE LECTURER GOES TO VANDERBILT

LECTURERS PRESENT RECENT ADVANCE IN SPECIAL BRANCH OF LEARNING

FOUR UNIVERSITIES ARE UNITED

Dr. Edwin Greenlaw, Kenan Professor of English, and Dean of the Graduate School, has been announced as exchange lecturer for this year, by Dr. Archibald Henderson, chairman of the committee. Dr. Greenlaw will go to Vanderbilt University sometime this year and deliver the Southern Exchange lecture, which is one of the most important and significant lectures given in four of the most important institutions of learning within the states of North and South Carolina, Virginia and Tennessee. In regard to these lectures the University catalogue has the following to say:

"In 1914 an exchange lectureship was established by Vanderbilt University, the University of Virginia, the University of South Carolina and the University of North Carolina. Under the terms of this lectureship each university will send a lecturer to and will be visited by a lecturer from one of the other universities participating in the lecture foundation. The purposes of this lectureship, are: to promote scholarship, to present in concrete form recent advances in some special branch of learning, and to bring the institutions concerned into closer relationship through exchange of ideas in regard to all vital problems affecting a modern university."

The first of the exchange lecturers was Dr. Venable, Head of the Chemistry Department. Several other professors of the university have been on the exchange program also and in 1916-1917 Professor William Cain delivered the lectures at Vanderbilt. During the war period they were discontinued, but in 1919-1920 they were resumed and Professor George Howe delivered the lectures at the University of South Carolina.

ENGLISH STUDENTS TO EDIT SPECIAL EDITION MAGAZINE

THIS ISSUE TO BE BROADCAST THROUGHOUT THE STATE

There will be a special issue of the Carolina Magazine published in January under the name "Greater University Number". This number will carry illustrations and will portray the actual conditions existing on the University Campus. Five men of every county who are not alumni of this university will receive a copy of this number of the Magazine. Besides the data concerning the University this number of the Magazine will carry the regular series of short stories and poems.

The February number of the Magazine will be published and edited by students in the class of English. This will be a fetature number carrying the best material which has been submitted by the writing classes of the English Department. W. H. Bobbitt will be Editor-in-chief of this number. The March number will be published and edited by the regular board of editors. There will be no April number. The May number will probably be a feature number given over to some phase of College life and the possibilities of there being a June number are still doubtful. Should there be one, however, the readers may look forward to a treat, for it will be given over to commencement stories and activities.

VIRGINIA HAS WON A TOTAL OF 18 GAMES, BUT NONE SINCE 1915--ONE TIE MATCH. VIRGINIANS FAVORITES

FUMBLE ON EIGHT-YARD LINE GIVES VA. FIRST SCORE

Weather Ideal For Football But Wind Interferes With Accuracy of Punting--Many University Alumni in Attendance

Playing a slashing game before 6,000 spectators in Charlottesville on Thursday the Old Dominion eleven finally emerged from the twenty-fifth annual Thanksgiving contest between the two universities with a 14 to 0 victory over the Tar Heels. Virginia, although her first tally came as the result of a costly fumble by Hutchins on Carolina's eight yard line which was recovered by Newman, outplayed the invaders, and in the fourth quarter, when the second score came, clearly outplayed the Carolinians. With all of her offensive power unleashed in this period, Virginia dimmed the fight and pluck of the Tar Heels, and for the first time in the contest they showed up a bit weak.

But never did a Tar Heel team fight more persistently and doggedly than did Captain Herrell's men, who were sustained to the last minute, and even after, by the Tar Heel supporters both from the student body and from over the State whom the "high cost of traveling" had permitted to reach Charlottesville. The Tar Heel team, although it did not show the same touches of finish and ability to gain consistently as the Virginians, showed flashes of brilliancy; and in the first and third quarters, with the wind to their backs, kept the play well in Virginia's territory. They never had a chance to score, and their only attempt in Lowe's drop kick was blocked.

SENIOR CLASS HOLDS SECOND SMOKER IN ZETA PSI HOUSE

ARCHIBALD HENDERSON SPEAKS TO SENIORS ON BETTERMENT OF UNIVERSITY

The Senior Class held their second Smoker last Wednesday night at the Zeta Psi fraternity house. The Smoker was opened by President Berryhill who then called on Dr. Archibald Henderson. Dr. Henderson spoke on the betterment of the University. In his speech he said that there was a great work for the county clubs to do if they would do it, however, at present they do not appear to be doing anything. They could be of infinite value to the University and the State if they would take up such matters as writing histories of their counties; not the old kind of history, but a document which would tell of the economic resources of their counties. Next Dr. Henderson said there was a work awaiting the alumni and students of this institution, and that work is making and preserving a history of this University. The development of this University makes it imperative that some one undertake this task and the logical person to do it is a student or alumnus. Then Dr. Henderson spoke of our need here of a better understanding and enjoyment of the higher arts. There is not a painter or sculptor in North Carolina whom anyone knows, and the reason lies in the fact that we have neglected this important part of our education. Dr. Henderson then told of his long and unsuccessful attempt to induce some prominent painter or sculptor to come and stay here for sometime and tell us about his field of higher art. He then concluded by expressing his hope in being (Continued on page four)
