KERR SPEAKS TO CABINET ON GREATER UNIVERSITY CLUB

TELLS OF WORK BEING DONE ON GREATER UNIVERSITY DRIVE

Reporting to the Campus Cabinet in its regular meeting last Thursday evening, President John Kerr told in detail of the progress that has been made in the Greater University Drive which the students of the University are carrying on through the Campus Cabinet and a committee appointed by the Cabinet.

President Kerr stated that the committee had got in touch with all the Alumni Associations, and that the drive would be discussed by them in their meetings for December. In order to further get the needs of the University before the whole people, he announced that copies of the booklet which was recently issued by the University entitled "The Needs of the University" had been sent to four or five prominent men in each county who were not alumni of the institution. A letter from the President of the Senior Class of the East Carolina Training School informing the Committee that that school was eager to help in the drive was also reported. As to the Dollar Campaign among the students, it was announced that it was still in progress, but was not entirely satisfactory.

A lengthy discussion then followed on the breaking of window lights on the campus by men kicking footballs, and it was decided to publish in the Tar Heel a notice to the student body giving them the facts, and asking that this practice be discontinued.

The Cabinet also discussed the general spirit of restlessness and irresponsibility of the students of the campus and attempted to find its cause, but no action of any kind was taken.

Bill Ruffin then spoke of the class spirit of twenty-one and was followed by Dr. Carrol. Dean Carrol did not speak on the law of supply and demand and said he would not discuss the economic possibilities of anything, but he did wish to question the present lecture method of teaching. He said that the lecture method was a German man product transplanted from the German centers of higher learning to the American institutions. This method is suited to the needs of post-graduate students who only need guidance in their field of study but is not the method suited to the needs of the undergraduate.

Dr. Carrol earnestly recommended the consideration of this problem to the Senior class and if possible the working out of a solution that would overthrow these objectionable methods.

Dan Grant then spoke on the movement on the part of the Campus Cabinet and the student body for the purpose of telling the State about the congested conditions on the campus. The class then gave the Campus Cabinet a vote of confidence in this work. With the serving of smokes, of which the co-ed members did not partake, and of refreshments, of which they did partake the second Senior Smoke came to an end.

at the university. Most of these men have stayed, President Chase said, because of their confidence that the situation would soon be remedied.

"We have accepted the gift with deep appreciation," he said. "It enables us to face with greater confidence the critical months which must pass until permanent relief can come from the state. I should like to emphasize the fact, however, that the regulations of the general education board will not permit anything more than such emergency relief to a state institution and that we were definitely told that the board would withdraw its aid after July 1, 1921.

Fourth Quarter

End runs by Opplermann, a forward pass Witt to Michie which made 25 yards, put the ball on N. C.'s 20 yard line. Opplermann gained, and Rinehardt went around left end for the rest of the distance to touchdown. Goal was kicked. Virginia came near scoring again when Rinehardt intercepted pass with a clear field, and got to 20 yard line but there lost ball. Blackford then intercepted a Carolina forward pass and race to 9 yard line. Carolina holds for downs, and punted. Russell returns to Carolina's 15 yard line, and game ends. Score: Virginia 14, North Carolina 0.
