

UNIVERSITY ALUMNUS HAS PLAN FOR NEW SYSTEM OF ATHLETICS HERE

 team.' I hear some of you say, immediately. Please allow a little paraphrasing: 'A coach is not without honor save in his own college.' That is just what they said at Davidson when they selected Grey who was born and bred at Davidson. The same fellows who said that about Grey are now wanting to build a monument to Grey for licking Carolina decisively for the first time in a hundred years.

"The best that we could get from among those we consider the best have not given us what we had a right to expect. A man who has spent four years at Carolina and bears Carolina's stamp of approval, a man who knows our own men, a man who knows the little ins and outs and the politics of the place, a man who is a real Carolina man in the highest sense of the word can handle our athletics better than any outsider. The best Carolina can find among her own alumni is good enough for me.

"In the third place, Carolina needs a man to give his whole time to the management of athletics. To be simply business manager is not enough. The work done by our graduate manager is all well and good, but it is not enough. We need an athletic director 12 months in the year as head of the athletic organization. He could easily be the head football coach or the coach of any of the other teams and have charge of the other branches, also, in a general way. Under his supervision should be placed the various state high school championship contests and these should be organized along sound lines.

"I have taken football as an example, because football is the sport that is attracting the thought of Carolina men everywhere just now. They are wondering what new system the university authorities will try next. What I have said about football may be applied to any other branch of athletics at the university with safety. I believe in Carolina and Carolina men. I want to see a re-organization of all athletics at the university with a Carolina man at the head of the organization, Carolina coaches, Carolina plays and an all round Carolina system.

PHILOSOPHY CLUB BACK OF GREATER UNIVERSITY

The Philosophy Club held its weekly meeting Sunday in the cabinet room at the "Y." The following men were present—Tyre Taylor, Jonathan Daniels, H. C. Heffner, I. J. Stephenson, C. I. Taylor, D. R. Hodgins, B. C. Brown, John Kerr, H. C. Kincaid, and Paul Greene. The club continued its discussion of the question "What place does a revolution hold in progress?" And in connection with this several parts of our campus life were discussed where a revolution appears to be needed. Frankly, and with a desire to get at the truth leading to better service, the club talked over the methods under which Swain Hall, and the Book Exchange are now run.

Every member present expressed himself as being thoroughly behind the President in his efforts towards making this in truth a Greater University.

SENIOR CLASS PLANS HELP IN ELIMINATING GROUNDLESS RUMORS

 of the Senior Class, President Berryhill appointed Tyre C. Taylor, Chairman, A. C. Lineberger, Daniel L. Grant, and John D. Shaw. Among those taking part in the very heated discussion as to whether it would be advisable for the Class to attempt such work were W. H. Bobbitt, J. S. Massenburg, Garland Porter, A. C. Lineberger, B. C. Brown, and Daniel L. Grant.

The most enjoyable and challenging portion of the program was the address by President Chase in which he outlined what we might expect as the University of the future, showing how that, within the immediate future, the University should inevitably be many times its present size in population if the physical equipment could be provided with great enough rapidity. The speaker placed a direct challenge on the shoulders of the present Senior Class, because it is the last class that connects with pre-war Carolina, and knows the University's problems as a relatively small institution, and is now faced with the problem of campus life when the University is already large, and doing admirable work with a dire shortage of material equipment.

Other speakers on the program were Boyd Harden, Editor of the Yackety Yack, and John Kerr, president of the Class in its Junior Year, and at present president of the Campus Cabinet.

FACTS AND COMMENT

The Campus Cabinet, at a recent meeting, went on record as favoring the suggestion of Phillip Hettleman, that the dormitory floors be treated with some compound to prevent the uncomfortable and unhealthy situation caused by the dust swept up by the janitors. The Cabinet has taken the matter up with the President of the University.

Dr. Charles Hall Grandgent, graduate of Harvard University, and now a professor of Romance Languages in the same University, will hold a seminar in Dante here sometime during the winter quarter. Dr. Grandgent is noted for his work in Dante, being the author of: Dante; The Dark Ages; The Ladies of Dante's Lyrics; and the editor of: Dante's Divine Comedy. He is a member of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences.

Lutheran services under the auspices of Dr. A. M. Huffman, of Raleigh, were held Sunday night in the Cabinet Room of the "Y". The sermon was delivered by Dr. E. J. Morgan, of Salisbury, President of Lutheran Synod of North Carolina. An effort is to be made to hold similar services at regular intervals. About twenty-five men attended the services.

 ing committee. No definite step has been taken either in regard to Head Coach Fuller, of this year's team. Both Fuller and Hite were engaged on a one-year contract and the question of the renewal of that contract stands as wide open as does the question of any other coach.

The final decision in regard to coaches will be made by the coaching committee, which consists of Graduate Manager Woolen, Dr. Mangum, and Albert L. Cox, of Raleigh, alumni representative.

Pete me boy:

If you ever did have a doubt in your peppy old soul as to how Camel cigarettes stand nationally, take a fly around the country! Great Scott, every time I drop an eye around I see men smoking Camels, buying Camels or talking Camels! Every newspaper and magazine flashes Camel ads! Every billboard stages a Camel scream!

Pete, you never will beat Camels expert blend of choice Turkish and choice Domestic tobaccos. Sure does put it over either kind smoked straight! And say, boy, do you get that mild, mellow Camel body! Oh gee, Pete, fire up another Camel — that's the answer from Key West to Puget Sound!

Unhook an ear: I'm going to draw up some Camel ads and shoot 'em in! I'll tell the world about Camels! Bet I can clean up on a job like that — and it's all inspiration from Camels themselves! For instance, I'm slapping this sketch below to put you wise! Saw-ry? "I'll tell 'em, old pencil, I see the point!"

I'll drop you a line from Chicago and spill s'more! I'll have a scuttle of stunts by the time this breeze blows into Boston!
