GOVERNOR MORRISON

Speaking before the students of the University, while yet a candidate for the democratic nomination for Governor of the State, Honorable Cameron Morrison in a flourish of oratory expressed his regrets that the hard force of circumstances prevented his obtaining a college education while he was a young man, and pledged himself, if elected Governor of this Commonwealth, he would do his utmost to see that the cause of higher education was fostered in every possible way. He pledged himself specifically to see that the needs of the University were adequately cared for.

To-day he is Governor Cameron Morrison, and although in the past some collegians had wanted to refer to him as of the old school, he has come forward on issues in a progressive manner that has surpassed the fondest hopes of the most ambitious. He has outdistanced those who thought themselves leading the progressive camp, and today stands in the forefront of all North Carolinians in the fight to make North Carolina abundantly rich in life as well as in wealth. Whereas, those who were largely instrumental in electing Mr. Morrison governor are standing in the twilight of the setting sun and looking backward, gripped by the old North Carolina that was poor and aggravated by the present financial depression, the new Governor is standing on the very threshold of a new day looking forward to the gold-rimmed tips of the hills ahead of him and uttering to all the people of North Carolina "we want to stand up like a mighty giant of progress and go forward in the upbuilding of our state and the glorification of our God."

This stepping out from the men who were largely responsible for giving him political life, is a unique demonstration in North Carolina political life. And if by chance Governor Morrison should not win completely the goal that he has set for higher educational support he will have the satisfaction to know that he has lost "in behalf of a cause that will ultimately win." But, he nor the cause for which he is fighting can lose. All North Carolina is gradually but surely joining hands in what promises to shortly become a complete crusade for the cause of higher education, and under the leadership of Governor Cameron Morrison, the State is going to begin now, not tomorrow, to provide the essentials of its own life.

ANONYMOUS LETTERS

Tar Heel mail consists almost entirely of anonymous letters. The stream of such letters which has been flowing in an irregular manner all of the year has now increased to unbelievable proportions. Truly, we must be approaching the ocean.

About such letters we desire to say just this much: The Tar Heel will pay about as much attention to them as a duck will to your pouring water on his back—that's none whatever. It has come to the point that the first thing that we do on getting a letter from the post office is to see whether it is signed or not. If not, in the waste basket it goes. This waste basket class has been by far the biggest one recently.

We appreciate criticisms, opinions, suggestions, or anything relative to our work, and our purpose in writing this is to say please "put yourself back of what you write." Otherwise it will continue to flow into the waste basket.

AT THE PICKWICK

Robert W. Chambers' popular novel, "The Restless Sex," has been picturized by the Cosmopolitan Productions and will be the attraction at the Pickwick Saturday evening. Marion Davies is the star and the supporting cast includes such prominent players as Carlyle Blackwell and Ralph Kellard. "The Restless Sex" deals with the woman who is not satisfied to be just a wife, but wishes to attain a niche for herself in the world of art. Stephanie Cleland, a pretty New York society girl, is the central figure, and her ambitions and romance form the story. Lavish backgrounds, including a ball scene that is said to surpass anything of its kind ever filmed, are features. The Pickwick presents Monday night Bryant Washburn in "A Full House." In the production Bryant Washburn appears as George Howell, a young attorney who gets into most amazing difficulties when he leaves his bride for a few hours to go on a business trip. This journey has a most amazing maze of complications involving another man's love letters, stolen jewelry, policemen and thieves. The feature for Tuesday night is "Blind Youth," produced by the National Pictures Corporation and founded on the famous play by Lou Tellegan and Willard Mack. The hero is a man lived not wisely but too well. He was cast off by two women, his mother and his model, only to be rescued by a third who marries him. A few nights later she finds him alone in his studio with another woman in the small hours of the morning, and she has it on the word of his brother that things are as black as they appear. Then comes a queer quirk of psychology which saves the situation and many mistakes, resulting in an understanding between husband and wife.

MYSTERIOUS SMITH'S EFFORTS FAIL HERE

"Mysterious Mr. Smith" has not returned to Chapel Hill yet to make further preparations to establish a chapter of the Ku Klux Klan. It is understood that he is still in Durham organizing the Klan there, but has said nothing about returning to Chapel Hill.

In the meeting at the school house on January 24, Mr. Smith explained the purpose of the Klan, and the work it has done in the far South. There was not much enthusiasm shown by the audience toward establishing the chapter here. Interest is still not very marked around town, toward this movement, and the matter will most likely be dropped, unless pushed more vigorously.

EXCHANGES

W. AND L. TO HAVE JOURNALISM.

At its semi-annual meeting last week the board of trustees of Washington and Lee university endorsed and approved the play of re-establishing the chair of journalism in the university and calling it the Lee Memorial Chair of journalism in honor of Gen. Robert E. Lee, who originally founded the chair in 1869.

TECH TO HAVE AERO UNIT.

Georgia Tech is to have an air unit of the R. O. T. C. The unit at Tech will start with approximately fifty students. The lighter than air course has to do with dirigibles and airships. The heavier than air course has to do with airplanes. A student may enroll in either course.

LELAND STANFORD.

The registration in the University has reached a higher mark than was ever before attained at the beginning of the winter quarter. The total number registered last night was 2,321 which is to be compared with 2,184 registered on the same day last year. It is likely that about 100 more students will register in the next few days, bringing the total up to or above 2,400.

The faculty of Davidson College have recently prohibited students of the college from owning automobiles while in college there. They claim that by making the distance from Charlotte to Davidson too short the autos were disturbing the work and general academic duties of the students.

According to an announcement by Manager Joe Person of the varsity basketball team Yale University has been added to our schedule this season. The game has been scheduled to be played in New Haven on February 8th. This is the first time, to the knowledge of your correspondent, that we have ever had a place on the Yale basketball schedule.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Dr. E. J. Wood, B. S. 1899, well known physician and medical investigator of Wilmington, N. C., will lecture here Tuesday, February 8, under the auspices of the Elisha Mitchell Scientific Society. His lecture, "One of our Debts in Medicine to the British," will be of a popular character, of interest to all who wish for improvement in public and individual health.

The Letz Quartet, composed of two violins, one viola, and one cello will give a concert in Gerrard Hall on the night of February 15. The Letz Quartet is one of the two greatest stringed quartets of the world today, the other being The Flonzaley Quartet. It has traveled over the entire United States and has appeared before some of the most critical audiences throughout the world. All tickets will be on sale in advance at Patterson's—$.50, $.75 and $1.00.

The series of Sunday afternoon recitals, of which two numbers have already been given, will continue throughout the winter and spring quarters. There will be four and probably six recitals given. The following is the list of recitals to be given:

1. An Organ Recital, by P. J. Weaver will be given during February.
2. Reading to piano accompaniment, by Prof. Geo. McF. McKie and Prof. P. J. Weaver will be given in March.
3. The University Orchestra will appear in April.
4. A Lecture Recital on Folk Songs of the different nations will be given in May, by Prof. P. J. Weaver. There will be a chorus, composed of different groups, which will render the songs.

Work on the production of the plays recently selected to be shown by the Carolina Playmakers on February 11 and 12 has really begun in interest. Mrs. Frederic H. Boye, who has had quite a little dramatic experience is assisting the producing committee in the rehearsals of "The Vamp." The casts for all the plays are working nightly.

FACT AND COMMENT

Dr. L. A. Williams, Professor of School Administration, has recently been elected to full membership in the National Association of the Directors of Educational Research. This organization is composed of men who have made distinct contributions in this field.

Allan McGee, Gus Downing, and Oscar McMullan were initiated into

Book Publishers was his picture. The photograph was a striking resemblance of the man who mystifies with a pen and a pencil of two other men, the man who appears at Gerrard Hall Saturday, February 6th. Tickets are on sale at Eubanks. Admission is seventy-five and fifty cents.

The February number of the Carolina Magazine is expected to appear on the Hill this coming week. This is the number published by the students in English 21, and is fully, if not more, than up to the standard of the past issues.

FULLER AT TULANE

Myron E. Fuller, who coached the Carolina eleven during the past season, will be head coach of the Tulane University eleven for the 1921 season. Coach Fuller goes to Tulane recommended by no less a personage than Bill Roper, the coach of Tulane athletic council stated that he did not know of anyone he could recommend as highly for the Tulane position as Fuller.

Tom Wolfe, who has this year been working in Baker's famous "Workshop" at Harvard, has had a play entitled "The Mountains" produced there. It won out easily in the first round of the competition, and almost certainly will be selected as one of the plays to be taken by a cast of players from the Workshop on a western tour this spring.

Alfred M. Lindau, of class of 1917, has been awarded a faculty scholarship in the Harvard Law School as one of the high average men in last year's work.

DR. PRATT IN RALEIGH

Dr. Joseph Hyde Pratt, director of the North Carolina Geological and Economic Survey, meets in Raleigh

State Fair Association next Wednesday, February 9th. While in Raleigh Dr. Pratt will have a conference with Governor Morrison in regard to the work of the North Carolina Geological Survey.

Dr. Pratt will also have a conference with the Commissioner of Labor and Printing in regard to co-operative work the departments are doing in connection with investigation of power used in the State, and with labor conditions in connection with the mining industry.

Dr. S. E. Leavitt, of the Department of Romance Languages, delivered a lecture on "Why Go To South America," before the School of Commerce Tuesday night in Phillips Hall. Dr. Leavitt has been in South America for the past year and while there made a special study of its problems, its advantages and the future relations that can be made to exist between those countries and the United States.

tween those countries and the United States.

The recent cutting down of the trees in front of Gooch's and Foister's former stores, was to avert accidents which might occur in the future from falling limbs. The trees were badly burned by the fire last June and since that time have been slowly dying. If left up, they would soon commence to decay and be a danger to all passersby. As soon as the stumps are uprooted, new trees will be set out.

Alan R. Anderson has resigned the position of Director of Class Athletics at the University and Donnell Van Noppen has been elected in his stead. Van Noppen has been in direct contact with all branches of athletics here at Carolina, and is well equipped to assume the management of the system of Class Athletics.

But a good wheeze- I'll leave it to you

I LOVE the ladies.
BUT LIKE most men.
I OFTEN guess wrong.
ON WHAT will win.
A SMILE from them.
I ALWAYS say.
IT'S BETTER to laugh,
THAN EVER to worry.
SO ONCE, when.
THE DAM broke, and
A FLOOD hit town.
I THOUGHT I'd just.
CHEER UP my wife.
AND SO I said.
"IF THE worst comes,
YOU CAN float down.
THE RIVER on.
THE FAMILY music-box.
AND I'LL accompany you.
ON THE piano."
WHICH WAS all wrong.
POOR HUMOR, she said.
WAS OUT of place.
IN TIME of danger.
SO KIPLING was right.
"A WOMAN is only.
A WOMAN, but a good cigar.
IS A smoke," only.
HE SHOULD have made it.
MY CIGARETTES because.
YOU'RE BOUND to get.
A SMILE from them.
THEY ALWAYS "satisfy."

TAKE the silky, tender leaves of choicest Turkish; blend them with the best Domestic tobacco that money can buy—blend them in the exclusive, can't-be-copied Chesterfield way—and you get a "smoke." Yes, and something more—you get a cigarette that honestly "satisfies."
