

THE TAR HEEL

Library 39 not published

American Legion Smoker Tonight High School Building

Trinity at Gym Tomorrow Night!

Volume XXIX

Chapel Hill, N. C., Tuesday, February 22, 1921.

No. 40

STATE QUINT SNOWED UNDER BY CAROLINA'S SPEEDY BASKETEERS

West Raleigh Basketeers Completely Bewildered by Fast Floor Work of Carolina Five.

TEAM AS A WHOLE STARS

(By C. J. PARKER, Jr.)

Lost, completely baffled, by the dazzling and deadly exact shooting and passing of the Carolina basketeers, the State College quint met Saturday night with one of the most disastrous defeats in the history of her state basketball career.

From the first minute of play there was never any doubt as to the outcome. The ball had been in action less than half a minute when Captain Shepherd broke the ice with a pretty goal from the field, and from then on it became a task of no small proportion for the score keepers to keep the correct count posted.

The passing of the Carolina five was a source of complete mystification to the West Raleigh quint, who often caught themselves in a state of suspended animation vainly endeavoring to locate the ball.

But two fouls were called on Carolina during the entire contest, while State suffered no less than 13 penalties. Three of State's four field goals were the result of long floor shots, for she was able but once to work the ball under the basket for a close goal.

(Continued on Page Three)

DAVIDSON DEFEATED IN LISTLESS GAME

Carolina Quint Exhibits Excellent Form—Davidson Does Good Guarding and Passing.

Carolina defeated Davidson Friday night in a slow and listless game 37 to 20.

Davidson's close guarding and accurate long distance passing came nearer breaking up Carolina's famed "five man attack" than any other team that has been here this season.

For the first ten minutes the honors of the game were very evenly divided, but by a burst of speed Carolina drew away to a 19 to 10 lead at the end of the first half.

During the second half Captain Shepherd's quint speeded up and displayed some of the form shown on the northern trip, but as a whole the Blue and White were off on their shooting and not up to their usual form in passing.

Carmichael, Hanby and Shepherd played well for Carolina, while Roberts and J. Schenck led the attack for Davidson. The line-up:

Table with 2 columns: Carolina (37) and Davidson (20). Lists players and scores: McDonald 1, Shepherd 4, Carmichael 5, Hanby 3, Schenck, J. 3, Roberts 4, Davis 1, Crawford, Foul goals: Carmichael 11 out of 21, Roberts 2 out of 5. Referee: Cozier of Raleigh. Umpire: Knights of Durham Y. M. C. A.

Substitutions: Morris for Erwin, Woodall for Hanby, Williams for McDonald, Eaton for Shepherd, Romefelt for Schenck, L. Field goals: McDonald 1, Shepherd 4, Carmichael 5, Hanby 3, Schenck, J. 3, Roberts 4, Davis 1, Crawford, Foul goals: Carmichael 11 out of 21, Roberts 2 out of 5. Referee: Cozier of Raleigh. Umpire: Knights of Durham Y. M. C. A.

GETTING THE NEWS TO THE CAMPUS IS A GOOD SIZED JOB

Tar Heel This Year Well Organized and Edited Like Large Newspaper.

HARD WORK IS REQUIRED

(By J. G. GULICK)

The daily newspapers have nothing on The Tar Heel in the way of late working hours and last minute rushes. The strenuous, nerve-racking toil, which is synonymous with newspaper work, is not limited to the workers on daily newspapers.

There is one place on the campus where work is going in the small, early morning hours while the rest of the campus sleeps. There is a light burning in one place when all the lights in the dormitory rooms have disappeared. This place is the modest headquarters of The Tar Heel in the northeastern corner of the Y. M. C. A. building.

But the biggest part of the work

(Continued on Page Three)

TENNIS VARSITY WILL HAVE STIFF SCHEDULE

Teamates of Captain Jernigan Soon to Be Chosen by Tournament.

This Spring will see the most interesting tennis season the University has had in recent years. Manager Gardner has already started men to work on the courts and they will be in good condition by the time the tennis season arrives.

Only one member of the varsity has been chosen to date. E. C. Jernigan won the captaincy of the team by winning out over all-comers in a competitive tournament held last Fall. The rest of the tournament which was delayed last Fall will be held some time in the near future and a double tournament will probably be gotten under way also.

There has been a great deal of tennis activity among the members of the faculty this month. This activity promises to last during the entire Spring, many members of the faculty daily frequenting the faculty courts having expressed their enthusiasm in the sport.

LECTURES ON PLATO ARE NOT ATTENDED BY LARGE AUDIENCES

Paul Shorey, of University of Chicago, Delivers Annual Lectures Composing McNair Series.

SUBJECT IS NOT FAMILIAR

"Plato's Relation to the Religious Problem" was the general topic of the series of the McNair lectures which were delivered Friday, Saturday and Sunday nights by Dr. Paul Shorey, of the University of Chicago.

The lectures this year failed to draw crowds. Although the speaker is a distinguished scholar, his lectures were of a type that did not attract large crowds. A large part of each lecture was composed of quotations from Greek scholars with which the average student was not familiar, and the subjects were treated in such a way that they did appeal to most of the students.

The speaker took as his subject for the Friday lecture "Plato and the Irreligion of Pseudo-Science." In this lecture he presented Plato's attitude toward the essential religious problems of his day. He gave considerable time to Plato's satire on the pseudo-scientists and showed that Plato's skeptical attitude was fundamentally right for his day.

"Plato and Natural Theology" was the subject of Dr. Shorey's second lecture. "A parallel could be drawn between Platonism and Christianity," said Dr. Shorey. "Plato did not believe that myths were of value, but he would rather have men believe in myths than to think that the world is without an author."

The last of the series of the lectures was on "Plato and Ethical Religion." "Morality touched with emotion" was the way his subject might also be termed, he said in the beginning. He showed Plato's point of view toward morality, religion, and ethics.

"Religion that is mere morality and lacking humility, is no religion," he said.

JOHN WASHBURN ON HILL FOR FEW DAYS

Talks to the Freshmen in Chapel About Some of His Experiences Abroad.

Mr. John P. Washburn, president of the class of '20, and now with The National City Bank of New York, was on the Hill this week-end. Mr. Washburn is on his way from England to China, and by a request he consented to talk to the Freshmen for a few minutes in Chapel about some of his experiences abroad.

Mr. Washburn then told of some of the differences between the customs in England and those in America. He told of meeting "Shorty" Spruill of the class of '20, who is now at Oxford College in England, and who is trying to get accustomed to the customs over there.

(Continued on Page Four)

STATE HIGH SCHOOLS JOIN FIGHT TO HELP COLLEGES GET MONEY

High Schools Asked by Central Committee to Send Petitions to State Officials.

EACH CLASS IN THE FIGHT

The Greater University Student Committee of which John H. Kerr is the chairman during the past few weeks took steps looking to the alignment of the high schools of the State with the colleges in the fight for larger appropriations for the State's higher institutions of learning.

Taking the recent action of the Senior Class of the Henderson high school as a working model, the Central Committee of the Colleges had printed in circular form a letter setting forth the action of the Henderson school and telling in just what way similar action on the part of other schools would help the cause of higher education and sent a copy of it to every senior in every high school in the State.

Students in the Henderson high school, on their own initiative sent the following petition to the legislators from Vance county:

"The question of the educational fund for the colleges of North Carolina is probably the paramount issue facing the Legislature now in session. In view of this may we not submit for your attention a few facts concerning conditions existing in the Henderson high school?"

"The class which graduated from the school in June, 1920, was composed of fifteen members. The class which will graduate in June, 1921, has as its enrollment thirty-two, or an increase of 100 per cent."

"By a canvass taken at the beginning of this school year it was found that practically the entire membership of the present senior class expect to enter some college. Present indications point to the fact that a part of them will find it necessary

(Continued on Page Four)

CABINET DISCUSSES IMPORTANT ISSUES

To Take Definite Action on Sanitary Conditions and to Send Representatives to Conference.

At a meeting of the Campus Cabinet last Tuesday evening four things of importance came up for discussion. On each of these definite plans were talked of, but in two of them no definite action was taken.

The question as to whether the University should send men to the Massachusetts Institute of Technology Convention of Undergraduate Government was discussed, and a vote showed that the Campus Cabinet was in favor of Carolina's sending four delegates.

Next, the sanitary conditions on the campus were discussed, and the result of this was the calling of a meeting last Tuesday of the Cabinet, Student Council, and dormitory managers to make plans for better sanitation. A committee was appointed at this meeting to make further investigation and report at a meeting to be held later.

For the third matter, the cabinet considered the advisability of having a conference of the state's colleges to meet at Chapel Hill and discuss undergraduate government. This conference would be much on the same line as the one to be held at M. I. T. Plans were not made at this meeting but will be taken up at the next meeting.

A possibility of organizing an intra-State High School Association also came in for discussion. The purpose of this association would be to have delegates from all the high schools come to Chapel Hill each spring for a conference. The practice of the University now in holding high school debates and athletic contests would also be combined in the association. The association would be under the direction of Mr. Rankin, and the advantage would accrue of having all intra-school matters under one management. Definite action will be taken on this matter at a later date.

TO-MORROW WILL MAKE THE TWENTY-EIGHTH BIRTHDAY OF TAR HEEL; FAVORABLE GROWTH

TAR HEEL EDITORS ARE STILL IN NEWS GAME

Former Editors Now Connected with Newspapers From New York to Oregon.

Former Tar Heel editors are now connected with newspapers from New York to Oregon. Those men who learned the rudiments of the journalistic game on Carolina's newspaper are now successes. Some of the former editors are situated in New York, some in Portland, Oregon, and other in Washington, D. C.

Of the 1897 Tar Heel board Ralph Graves is now Sunday editor of the New York Times. He was formerly city editor of the Charlotte Observer, and W. T. Bost, Raleigh correspondent to the Gresham Daily News.

C. P. Russell, an editor-in-chief of the Tar Heel in 1903, was formerly city editor of the New York Call, the leading Socialist paper in the United States, and later with the Philadelphia Public Ledger. He is still in the business in New York.

Two men on the staff of 1905 who are still in the newspaper business are Victor L. Stephenson, editor-in-chief, formerly with the New York Evening Post and the Charlotte Observer, and S. H. Farabee, managing editor, now editor of the Hickory Daily Record.

The editor-in-chief of the 1906 Tar Heel, Q. S. Mills was a prominent editorial writer on the New York Evening Sun. He was killed in the late war.

Oscar J. Coffin, editor-in-chief in 1908, is the present editor of the Raleigh Times. L. Ames Brown, an associate editor in 1909, is Washington correspondent to the News and Observer and the New York Sun, a writer for the Baltimore Sun, and a contributor to Atlantic Monthly, North American Review, and other periodicals.

Of the staff of 1911, B. D. Stephenson was formerly connected with the Charlotte Observer and a Danville paper, and is now situated in Newport News, and M. R. Dunningham was recently with a Winston-Salem paper and is now city editor of the Charlotte Observer.

Lenoir Chambers, editor-in-chief in 1913, is now University correspondent to the North Carolina newspapers, and Walter Fuller, of the same staff, is connected with a newspaper in St. Petersburg, Florida.

Other former editors of The Tar Heel are: T. C. Linn, now with the New York Times; R. L. Young, now with the Charlotte Observer; R. W. Maddry, at present on the Paris edition of the New York Herald; H. G. West, editor of The Chantown News, of Thomasville; W. T. Polk, formerly with Winston-Salem Sentinel; F. A. Clrvoe, now with the Oregon Journal, of Portland, and N. G. Gooding, at present with the New Bernian of New Bern.

Of the White and Blue staff, H. E. C. Bryant, formerly with the Charlotte Observer, is now on the Washington staff of the New York World and correspondent to the Charlotte Observer.

BAPTISTS MAKE PLANS FOR NEW CHURCH HERE

Plan to Give Courses in Religion in Co-Operation With the University.

"The present plan of the State Board of Baptist Missions is to secure a well known preacher, and professor of Bible and religion, to co-operate with the University in giving courses," Dr. W. M. Johnson, retiring secretary of that board, said in an address at the Baptist church last Wednesday night. "The church will be equipped with classrooms, and being near the campus, can give courses in Bible and religion not given by the University. Arrangements will be made so that the Uni-

(Continued on Page Four)

Made its First Appearance at Carolina February 23, 1893.

FIRST YEAR AS BI-WEEKLY

Several Special Editions Have Appeared, Two Printed in Blue Ink after Victories.

(By L. D. SUMMEY)

Tomorrow The Tar Heel will be twenty-eight years old. On this birthday the paper cannot help but look backward with pride and view the improvement that has been made over the initial four-page issue that made its appearance at Carolina February 23, 1893—twenty-eight years ago.

The first Tar Heel was introduced as an answer to a crying need of a medium, apart from the literary Magazine, for the publication of general news and for the expression of the opinion of the student on college topics. Before that time the University Magazine had served Carolina as a newspaper and as a literary journal.

In the fall of 1892 Carolina had met Virginia for the first time in a football contest. The White and Blue had emerged victorious and perhaps this fact gave some inspiration for the establishment of The Tar Heel as the official organ of the Athletic Association.

The first Tar Heel contained the following foreword: "The growing demands of the University have shown the need of a weekly paper. The University Athletic Association, regarding itself as the means by which such a need could be supplied, at a stated meeting elected a board of editors (chief and five subs), and a business manager."

"With this apology only, the first issue of the first volume of The Tar Heel makes its appearance."

"This new venture is necessarily entered upon by the present board with no little trepidation, nevertheless with a determination to make a success which can only be done through the indulgence and assistance of our faculty and fellow students. Therefore we invite honest criticism and any aid in the advancement of this new project will be thoroughly appreciated."

The list of men on this first editorial staff recalls many well known names to us. The editor-in-chief was Charles Baskerville who is now head of the Chemistry Department of the City College of New York. The others of the editorial board were Walter Murphy, A. C. Ellis, W. P. Wooten, Perrin Busbee, J. C. Biggs, and A. H. McFadyen.

The Tar Heel made its first appearance with 230 subscribers. That year there were 376 students at the

(Continued on Page Three)

WHAT'S TO HAPPEN AND WHEN

S. O. Bondurant presides in chapel during the week.

Tuesday, February 22: Mr. Wooley at the Sanctum Sanctorum in the "Y" 5 to 6 P. M.

The Glee Club gives concert in Rocky Mount.

Wednesday, February 23: Dean Bradshaw in chapel. Trinity vs. Carolina at Bynum Gymnasium, 8:00 P. M.

The Glee Club at Tarboro. Dean Bradshaw in "Y" from 5 to 6 P. M.

Thursday, February 24: Meeting in the Reading Room of "Y" at 7:00 P. M.

Mr. Graham in "Y" from 5 to 6 P. M.

The Glee Club plays at Washington.

Friday, February 25: Dr. Chase in chapel. State Student Volunteer Conference meets at Trinity. Carolina sends 10 representatives.

The Glee Club gives concert in New Bern.

The Presbyterian church gave a benefit supper last Friday night.