Trinity College's basketball team started on its northern trip the early part of the week. While north the team will play such colleges as Washington and Lee, Virginia Military Institute, and University of Virginia. Trinity has a good team this year and results of the games with the same colleges that Carolina played while on her trip will be watched with much interest.

The University of Virginia lost to the Naval Academy last week, 30 to 17. The game which was played on Saturday afternoon in Charlottesville was hard fought. Immediately after this game the team journeyed to Washington and defeated George Washington University 30 to 23. The last game was fast and marked by brilliant playing on both sides.

Guilford downed Lenoir College last week 31 to 22. The Quakers' aggressiveness carried them into a lead at the early part of the game and Lenoir was never able to overcome it. The game was played at Guilford.

Virginia University had little trouble last Thursday in defeating St. John's College by a score of 50 to 20. The game was for the most part slow and uninteresting, although the Virginia team showed flashes of speed at times.

Wake Forest 20, N. C. State College 10: this was the result of a game played in Wake Forest last Saturday night. Wake Forest had the edge all the way through, but the game was hard fought. The first half ended with a total score for State of only 2 points.

BAPTISTS MAKE PLANS FOR NEW CHURCH HERE

Dr. Johnson went on to say that the people of the State were behind the movement to build a large Baptist church in Chapel Hill, and that a campaign would be made soon to raise funds for the new church. $30,000 has already been subscribed and more is coming in every day. It is expected that the edifice will cost about $175,000.

Although the plans have not yet been drawn, several architects have been consulted, and it has been decided to have the church in keeping with other Chapel Hill architecture, but of a distinctive type. It is to be large, plain and imposing, and to set forth the true Baptist ideals.

Dr. Charles G. Maddry, new Secretary of the State Board of Baptist Missions, spoke about the interest shown in this project throughout the State, and the coming campaign for funds. He is to have charge of this campaign.

The educational features of the church, while financed by that body, will be entirely under the direction of the University. The courses to be offered in Bible and religion are something not given here, and full credit will be given for them. There are to be several large and well equipped class-rooms for this purpose.

STATE HIGH SCHOOLS JOIN FIGHT TO HELP COLLEGES GET MONEY to go out of this State to secure their further education.

"The number of second year pupils is far beyond that of the seniors. The freshmen class outnumbers the second year students by a considerable majority. Thus every year witnesses a substantial increase in the number of high school graduates, while our colleges are at a standstill.

"In consideration of the above facts, we the senior class of the Henderson high school, do humbly petition you to cast your ballot and exert your influence in favor of the eighteen million dollar fund for the educational institutions of North Carolina."

This petition coming as it does from a class of people who are in a way the most interested in increased facilities for higher education is bound to have its effect with the legislators. The Committee recognized this and in the letter it sent to the seniors urging similar action by their school said: "As high school students, who seek the benefits of these colleges, the Legislature will listen to you as to no other group. You have great potential power."

In lining this part of the citizenry of North Carolina up for the fight, the Central Committee has completed its task in so far as getting every class of people in the State to help get larger appropriations for the colleges is concerned. The Legislators themselves have been tackled, prominent men in each county have been reached, aid from the women of the State has been solicited, alumni and students of all the State's institutions are working, and now the high school, students have thrown their hats in the ring.
