CAROLINA BASKETEERS DEFEAT TRINITY QUINT IN SECOND OF SERIES

Game to Decide State Championship to Be Played in Raleigh March Fifth.

HANBY'S WORK FEATURE (By JAKE WADE)

"Fats" Hanby went wild in the Trinity game Wednesday night, shooting twelve court goals, allowing Moore, whom he was guarding, to make good only a single shot, and playing all over the court throughout the contest. His brilliant playing was instrumental in the overwhelming defeat, by the score of 41-19, administered the Methodists by Carolina.

Hanby's wonderful playing was outstanding from the beginning of the game to the final whistle. He was down the court on every toss, craftily becoming a clever forward when Carolina possessed the ball, and as fast as the other members of the team fed the ball to him he would drop it in. "Cart" Carmichael was probably his most able assistant, passing the ball in his usual clever tricky style, and giving it to Hanby just under the goal, where the latter's steady hand never missed putting it in the basket. But Carmichael was not his only assistant, the whole team making it a point to get in a combination with Hanby as often as possible, and by good steady passing somehow Hanby managed always to get the ball under the basket and subsequently in it.

Trinity was almost Carolina's equal in the first period, guarding well, and passing nicely. The Methodists scored first, Crute making a foul shot good, but Carmichael's pretty goal shortly after, and his two subsequent foul shots put Carolina ahead, never to be passed or even tied. The Blue and White quint was tricky and clever all the time, continually sucking Trinity down the court and passing with ease. The first half ended with Carolina only seven points in the lead, however, the score standing 17-10.

In the second period Carolina jumped in with a snap and vigor that took Trinity off her guard, and she never got on it again. Hanby shot goal after goal, keeping Moore, his Trinity forward, continually following him instead of trying to get the ball himself and shoot. McDonald,

PHENOMENAL PLANT AMAZES DR. PROUTY

Paulownia Tormentosa Now on Exhibition in New East Museum.

A most phenomenal shoot, called Paulownia Tormentosa, was grown upon the property of Dr. Prouty during the past season which measures in height 21 feet, 6 inches and has a circumference at its base of 10 inches with 24 interlobes, i. e., spaces between the leaves. One of the leaves measured in the latter part of last July was 34 inches in largest dimension. This shoot grew on the South side of a shed on the property occupied by Dr. Prouty last year next door to the Methodist church. The soil on the property is a clay loam residual from granite, and is near a garden spot, but the soil has not been enriched in the immediate neighborhood for several years.

Those who are competent to know consider that this shoot has attained a most phenomenal growth for one season. A report will be made to the next meeting of the Elisha Mitchell Scientific Society by Dr. Prouty as it is of such unusual natural growth that it has created much interest among those interested in such matters.

At the last meeting of the North Carolina Academy of Science Dr. B. N. Wells described "A Phenomenal Shoot" which grew near Raleigh during the season of 1919. This shoot grew from the stump of a beheaded tree of Paulownia Tormentosa. The shoot described by Dr. Wells was 7.75 inches in circumference at the base, had 20 interlobes, and was 19 feet, 6 inches in length. This shoot was supposed to have grown in one season.

The shoot grown by Dr. Prouty is on exhibition in the Museum in New East building and is open to the public.

'WHITE LIKKER' AND CITY NEGROES MIX

"White Lightnin'" and City Negroes Cause Small Riot at Potter's Field.

Carrboro and Potter's Field experienced excitement of the western frontier variety several days ago, when four or five young negroes, acting upon the inspiration of the popular extract of corn, "shot-up" the neighborhood.

The negroes entered a restaurant, obviously in a state of mild intoxication or what is generally described as "feelin' pretty good," and proceeded to order various and sundry viands for the sake of internal improvement. All went well until the presentation of the toll, then the inebriate ones became very excited and unlimbered their artillery with little discrimination as to direction or range. The proprietor forsook them and fled, while the chief cook hastened to call Chief of Police Long.

The chief arrived but during the interim the party had "shot up" the whole neighborhood and departed for parts unknown. After leaving the restaurant the negroes went up and down the street firing their pistols and terrifying the inhabitants. Chief Long failed to elicit any information as to the identity of the rowdy ones due to the timidity of the residents of Potter's Field in the matter of giving information against such desperadoes. However, it is thought that the negroes were from Durham and were bent upon showing up "country niggers."

PLAYMAKERS STAGE REAL 'POSSUM HUNT

The Carolina Folk-Characters Get "Close to the Soil" Saturday Night.

With a possum hunt booked for Saturday night, the Playmakers refused to be outdone by the "inclemency of the weather" and made their trip, a basketball game, a lecture on Plato, and a dance, notwithstanding.

The party assembled at Pi Kappa Phi house where overcoats were disposed of, the impedimenta divided of transportation, and instructions in winding wraps given to certain inexperienced comrades. Then led by Ruben, a lantern, and 3 hound dogs, the company headed south in column of twos. It was a real hunt in spite of the pseudo-gee club effervescences which seemed impervious to rain and mud. In the black jack country Rush, Rounder and Ruler got on the job and provided all the possums the party was looking for, not to mention one mink.

After extensive and intensive ramblings over country, the geography of which was known only to Ruben, the skirmisher on the peak ran into a clothes wire, and presently other signs of civilization emerged from the stygian darkness. For dramatic purposes it began to rain about this time, that is to say to rain harder, so a little after mid-night lunch was served in some country gentleman's barn.

WHAT'S TO HAPPEN AND WHEN.

Friday Night:
State Student Voluntary Conference at Trinity College.
Dr. Knight faculty adviser in Sanctum from 5-6.

Saturday Night:
Virginia vs. Carolina at 8:00 in Gym.

Sunday:
Parson Moss at Presbyterian church.
Presiding Elder Plyler at Methodist church.

Mr. Baskin at Baptist.
Mr. Lawrence at Episcopal.
Mr. Howard at Christian.

Sunday Night:
Parson Moss's Bible Study Group, 8:30, Presbyterian church.

Monday:
Robbins Lowe presides in chapel.
Dr. Carroll in chapel.

Mr. Howard in Sanctum as adviser to students from 5-6.

Tuesday:
Dr. Odum in sanctum from 5-6 as adviser to students.

CITIZENS PLEAD FOR EDUCATION PROGRAM

Public Hearing Held Before Joint Meeting of Appropriation and Finance Committees.

A public hearing before the appropriation and finance committees of the Legislature on the six year twenty million dollar educational program for the State educational and charitable institutions was held in Raleigh Wednesday night, February the twenty-third. The meeting excited great interest among the citizens of North Carolina and a citizens movement was organized through which hundreds of North Carolina citizens were in Raleigh in attendance.

Chairman A. M. Scales, of Greensboro, of the Association for the Promotion of Education, received many letters from citizens throughout North Carolina expressing their interest in the meeting and their desire to attend. Because of the great interest around Greensboro and in that city, a special train was run Wednesday afternoon from there to Raleigh and back from Raleigh to Greensboro that night.

Chairman Scales and Mrs. C. C. Hooks, of Charlotte, President of the North Carolina Federation of Woman's Club, were the principal speakers for those who supported the appropriation. This movement of the citizens in behalf of the appropriation was essentially a citizen's movement and was backed by the alumni of the University. The State College of Agriculture and Engineering, The North Carolina College for Women and other State institutions.

This meeting is highly pleasing to that mass of citizens throughout North Carolina who are anxious that the proposed program be enacted by the Legislature.

FRESHMAN QUINT HAS SUCCESSFUL TRIP NORTH

Team Plays Good Many Games, Winning from Oak Ridge, Woodberry and Virginia Freshmen.

Losing only to Augusta Military Academy, and winning from Oak Ridge, Woodberry Forest, and Virginia freshmen, was the record of Bill Carmichael's freshman quint on their four days trip in Virginia.

The first game was easily taken from Oak Ridge, the freshmen rolling up a score of 58 to 40, and were never in danger of defeat. Woodberry Forest was played on the day following their victory over Wake Forest College varsity five, but succumbed to the freshmen by the score of 39 to 23. The lone defeat the freshmen suffered was a victory up to the last few minutes of play when Augusta forged ahead and won by a margin of three points from the freshmen. The score was 39 to 38.

Virginia freshmen, defeated by both Woodberry and Augusta, before the meeting with the freshmen, were easy prey, and the Carolina team won the contest by the score of 39 to 23.

Green at forward and Wright at guard were the individual stars on the trip, though the whole team played well. A total of 161 points was made against opponents 120 points.

Bernard Wright, guard, was elected captain of the team just prior to the trip in Virginia.

STUDENT CONFERENCE TO MEET AT TRINITY

A conference of all the student Missionary Volunteers of the State will be held Friday night, February 25, at Trinity College. The State volunteers are members of an international organization in the United States. The University will send ten men to represent her at Trinity Friday. The meeting is mainly for the volunteers but men who are interested may go, provided they are sent by the University as representatives.

Most of the colleges in the State have from fifteen to twenty men to represent them, but the University has only one. This is accounted for by the fact that most of the other State colleges are denominational colleges. Most of the college volunteers of the State are organized into voluntary bands.

The conference will last through Sunday. It is a branch of the Des Moines Conference that Carolina men attended January, 1920.

PRIZES FOR SOLUTION OF MATH PROBLEMS

Prizes Offered by Southern Engineering Co. to Encourage Interest in Mathematics.

Prizes for the solution of two math problems are being offered through Dr. Archibald Henderson of the Mathematics Department by the Southern Engineering Company of Charlotte, N. C. These two prizes are one of five dollars and one of three dollars, and will be given to the two men who work out the first two problems that were put up at the Thursday evening meeting of the Mathematical Club.

The Southern Engineering Company, which is a company constructing steel buildings, is giving these two prizes in an attempt to encourage interest in mathematics and to find out just how many men in the University really think of such subjects. The problems are those such as engineers encounter frequently while in the field, and it is one of the conditions of the contest that the problems must be worked by algebra or simple math. Only a preliminary knowledge of higher math is needed to work them.

Dr. Henderson already has two checks and they will be given to the first ones to complete the solution of the problems. A pledge must be signed certifying that no aid has been received or given, and the exact time the work is finished must accompany the solution. This is done in order that the men who work the problems first will get the prizes. The contest started last night at the conclusion of the Math Club meeting.

It is a tribute to the University that the Engineering Company thought interest would be manifested in such a contest here. In the letter Dr. Henderson received, the manager of the Company signifies a desire to get in communication with the winners of the two prizes, presumably in regard to work with the Company.

CO-ED BASKETEERS TO MAKE FIRST TRIP

Team Is to Play Lenoir College in Hickory and the Charlotte Y. W. C. A.

After a strenuous months practice, the Co-ed basketball team will make its initial trip this week-end, playing the girls of Lenoir College in Hickory Friday night and the Charlotte Y. W. C. A. Saturday night.

The members of the team are reported to be in excellent condition, and though not too confident, the coach is satisfied with the development which has been made. The line-up at Lenoir College will be Misses Bradshaw and Gattis, forwards; Pickard and Bacon, guards, and Lay, center. This game will be with the one line ruling, by which only the centers are allowed to play all over the court and only the forwards may throw baskets. At Charlotte the game will be played according to the three division rules and Miss Batts will be used as the necessary side center. Miss Louise Williams will be used during the trip. Miss Bacon is team manager. The party will be chaperoned by one of the high school teachers who will also act as referee.

According to plans now being made, a game will be played with the Trinity Co-eds at Chapel Hill in the near future.

BROKEN DRAIN PIPE MAY CAUSE DAMAGE

A clogged up drain pipe has caused a large amount of water to collect under the parish house of the Episcopal church, and it cannot be used until the drainage system is fixed. Evidently the water has been collecting for quite a while, but it was not noticed until several days ago. A large pump will be necessary to draw it off and this has been ordered from Durham.

So far no damage has been done by the accumulated water. If it is not drawn off immediately, it may rust the furnace and cause a large amount of damage. It is impossible to run the furnace at present and no services can be held in the parish house this week.

The parish house was built four years ago at a cost of $5,000. Mr. Littlejohn, a New York architect, planned the building. His grandfather built Trinity church in New York City.

GOVERNMENT PLANS LABORATORY HERE

Hydraulic Laboratory to Be Established by Government on Morgan's Creek Near Here.

That the government is planning to construct a model hydraulic laboratory on Morgan creek near Chapel Hill which will be the most complete in the entire South, was announced a few days ago by Major Warren E. Hall, supervisor of the United States Geological Survey for this district of which Asheville is the headquarters.

The plan will be first carried out in a small way immediately, and Mr. Hall will come to Chapel Hill soon to select a site for an automatic gauging system for measuring water power. This will be the first time the government has done this work in small streams, heretofore confining its work to the rivers and larger streams.

The gauge will be placed on Morgan creek primarily for the students of hydraulic engineering in the University. Much of the work of installation will be looked after by Professor Thorndyke Saville, hydraulic engineer in charge of the North Carolina Geological and Economic Survey. The machinery used in the gauge is very expensive, but is of a convenient size for students to work with.

Heretofore students of hydraulic engineering in the State have been forced to go North to finish their training in the subject. It is hoped by Prof. Saville that one gauge after another will be erected on the streams near the University and that ultimately North Carolina will have the most complete hydraulic laboratory in the Southern states.

P. HETTLEMAN FLAYS CAMPUS DRUNKENNESS

Demands That Student Council Exhibit Moral Courage and Suppress Liquor Evil.

Speaking in Chapel Tuesday morning, Phillip Hettleman, business manager of The Tar Heel, denounced the moral condition of the campus, as among the worst in the history of the University. He demanded stringent action on the part of the Student Council to stop the spread of disregard of law and order. The liquor evil was the principal topic of his talk.

"It is a fact," he said, "that one student will report another student for stealing and yet will not report him for drinking." "Until that ideal state is reached," he went to say, "when every student will consider it his moral duty to report even his own room-mate the Student Council must take adequate steps to catch the drunkards personally and then ship them from the campus."

He emphasized the fact that it is a practical situation with which we are dealing and not cold and abstract theory. This situation he would have met with practical actions by the Student Council. He said that it was not a spy system that he advocated, but that he wanted the Council and the students to have the moral courage to face the facts as they are, and employ direct action to keep the disorderly element on the campus down until an ideal point of view is reached by the students that will make such action unnecessary. To reach this ideal he thought one of the principal steps would be to put the Honor System in running order. Advocating this, he spoke in favor of abolishing the pledge system, which we now have and which he claims is against the very fundamentals of the Honor System.

Owing to the bold outspoken character of the speech, its plain indictment of campus conditions, and its demand that the Student Council virtually take upon itself the role of a police force, quite a ripple of excitement was created among many students.

TENNIS CLUB FORMED BY BAPTIST STUDENTS

(N. C. Collegiate Press News Service)
Wake Forest, Feb. 19.—Following the organization a tennis club four new tennis courts are being constructed for members of the club. All students are eligible to membership of the club upon payment of three dollars which entitles the payee to all privileges of the Club during his career at Wake Forest. J. C. Kesler, of Thomasville, is president of the Club and J. L. Memory, of Whiteville, manager.

VIRGINIA QUINT MEETS CAROLINA BASKETEERS HERE TOMORROW NIGHT

Students in Mass Meeting Decide to Have Game Here Instead of Raleigh.

WILL CHARGE ADMISSION

Tuesday night, representatives of the student body, gathered in Gerrard Hall, voted to have the Virginia basketball game held at the Bynum Gymnasium, provided Manager Woolen saw fit. The question was not decided off-hand, but after a lengthy and windy debate. To offset the financial loss to the team a student admission fee of twenty-five cents was decided upon.

"Ratty" Ransom and "Bully" Massenberg were the first speakers after F. Robbins Lowe, president of the Athletic Association, declared the meeting open for discussion. They both spoke in favor of holding the game here. Dr. Mangum followed and told of the advantages and the disadvantages of holding the game in Raleigh. He said that it would be to the financial and moral gain of the University to meet Virginia on the Raleigh court on account of the interest which the alumni would take in Carolina Athletics and on account of the larger crowd. Of the disadvantages he spoke of the "hoodoo" which is said to hang over the Auditorium court.

For a time it seemed that the students were going to consent to have the game played in Raleigh. Ransom and Massenberg rose and stated that after having seen the light that they, of course, were in favor of having the game in Raleigh. If a vote had been taken at this juncture it is not to be doubted that Chapel Hill would have lost the pleasure of observing Virginia in action, but B. C. Brown fired the opening gun for the Hillites and was ably seconded by W. E. Horner in a short sarcastic spurt of genius. Then Carlyle Shepherd, captain of the team, told how much greater the probability of beating Virginia on the local court would be; and the tide was turned. The students' decision was manifested from this point on.

R. L. Gray made a brilliant attempt to stem the tide of opinion, stating that Carolina could beat Virginia in Kalamazoo, and Joe Person dwelt at length upon the disadvantages of the Bynum Gymnasium and the possibility of the gallery collapsing. He stated the financial situation of the basketball team. After this a vote was taken, which resulted almost unanimously in favoring the local game. A telegram was dispatched to Manager Woolen informing him of the students' decision and asking him to have the game transferred.

Although, as things stand now, the profits of the game will not be as large as if they were held in Raleigh, there will be no loss, because the contract with Virginia calls for one-half of the gate receipts and each student will be assessed twenty-five cents, which will cover Virginia's half of the bargain. The team is confident of a decisive victory over their ancient rivals on the familiar floor.

WINTER QUARTER EXAM DATES ARE ANNOUNCED

Dates of the Beginning of Examinations and Registration for Spring Term Announced.

The dates of the beginning of examinations and registration for the Spring term have been announced from the office of the Registrar. Examinations will begin on Friday, the 18th of March and the Winter Quarter will end on the afternoon of Thursday, the 24th of March. Then the Eastern holidays will begin and will continue for seven days or until the morning of the 31st on which day classes will begin.

There is a dance scheduled for the night of the 31st which causes a conflict between the arrangements which have hitherto caused the dances to end on the night preceding the beginning of classes. This will be worked out by the committees who have the dances in charge and the faculty, doubtless.

Registration for the Spring term will be held before the holidays and during the week of the examinations. This in the eyes of the authorities will prevent the late returning for
