

HOMER IN SECOND FRAME BY LOWE IS DECISIVE FACTOR IN FIRST CONTEST WITH VIRGINIA

Repetition of Easter Monday Stunt Puts Game on Ice.

CIRCUIT SWAT BREAKS TIE

Exciting Game Witnessed by Many Visitors, including Visiting Girls at Dances.

(By C. J. PARKER, Jr.)

Smashing out his second circuit clout of the week, Robbins Lowe, already dubbed "Babe" Ruth of the University, broke up the game with North Carolina State on Emerson Field Thursday.

The timely drive, which came in the eighth inning, broke the 4 to 4 deadlock and enabled Carolina to walk away with a 6 to 4 victory.

The score stood tied at 4 to 4. Llewellyn was perched on third. Lowe took two strikes and then stepped into one of Murray's fast ones, and sailed it into the woods over the left field hedge.

State took the lead in the first inning by getting next to "Lefty" Wilson at opportune moments, however Bryson came to the rescue and finished the game in good shape.

Carolina's first score came in the third when R. Morris reached first on Kirkpatrick's error and scored on Wilson's long two-bagger.

In the fifth both teams scored twice. State on successive hits by Faucette, Norwood and Johnson, aided by an error by Spruill.

Carolina scored in the eighth when Fred Morris tripled to right and scored on Shirley's sacrifice fly.

SCHOOLS TO COMPETE IN DEBATE AND TRACK

Triangular Debates and Inter-Scholastic Track Meet Features of High School Week.

The Triangular High School debates, in which 200 high school teams participated, were held throughout the State last Friday night. The high schools whose teams won both debates will send their representatives to Chapel Hill April 14 and 15—High School week to compete for the Aycock Memorial cup.

The ninth annual inter-scholastic track and field meet will be held April 14th, during High School week. The schools that have entered the meet to date are: Oak Ridge, Chapel Hill, Burlington, Greensboro, Sand Hill, Wingate, Hillsboro, Red Oak, Laurinburg, Oak Hill, Asheville, Friendship, and Durham.

The sixth annual inter-scholastic tennis tournament will be held on April 15th. The schools that have entered the tournament to date are: Oak Ridge, Wingate, Raeford, Hillsboro, Sand Hill, Charlotte, Fayetteville, Durham and Wilson. Further entries are expected.

The high school debaters and athletes coming to Chapel Hill for high school week will be entertained by the county clubs. The county clubs are urged to see Mr. E. R. Rankin as soon as possible for the purpose of arranging to entertain and accommodate the visitors from their respective counties.

Carolina Man Writes "Wake Up, Jonathan" The Broadway stage success, "Wake Up, Jonathan," a comedy starring the celebrated Mrs. Fiske, and now playing to full houses in New York City, was written by Hatcher Hughes, a Carolina alumnus of the class of 1907, in collaboration with Elmer A. Rice. Dr. John M. Booker describes it "as a downright good show, with superb acting by Mrs. Fiske, with characters that are real and witty, and with unexpected yet natural situations, revealing certain aspects of our life and traits of our people good-naturedly and without a flurry."

Mr. Hughes began his academic career at Carolina, graduated in 1907, held the position of instructor of English for two years, resigning it after he took his A. M. degree in 1909. During the war he was a captain in the A. E. F. He is now teaching dramatic composition in Columbia University. Mr. Hughes has another play coming out later in the year, of which he will be the sole author.

The Co-eds are organizing a Glee Club, and although they will be unable to accomplish very much this year they are planning to give an opera next year.

CHASE SPEAKS TO FRESHMEN FRIDAY

President Chase Talks to Lower Classmen in Chapel on "Freedom and Liberty."

Dr. Chase talked to the Freshmen in Chapel Friday morning, April 1st, on "Freedom and Liberty." The campus here believes in the freedom of the individual, but what is its value? The world has been learning that liberty is worth what the men who are living make it.

Dr. Chase threw the challenge to the entire Freshman class in the words, "Have you developed, or are you developing an individual responsibility of permeating the freedom of this campus?" Freedom itself is a great condition under which to live, but it may be either good or bad according to the way in which it is used.

"Liberty works in proportion as the men develop an individual responsibility in building, maintaining, and developing it. The greater the freedom on the one hand the greater has got to be the individual responsibility of it all. They must go together."

MUSIC DEPARTMENT TO GIVE 'PINAFORE'

Gilbert and Sullivan Comic Opera to Be Given on the Hill May 28th and 29th. "H. M. S. Pinafore, or The Lass That Loved a Sailor," an entirely original nautical comic opera will be presented by the Music Department on May 28 and 29.

This opera is the story of a lass who loved a sailor. The scene is laid on the Quarterdeck of H. M. S. Pinafore, of Portsmouth. The sailor is Ralph Rackstraw, an able seaman, while the lass is Josephine, the daughter of the captain of the boat.

WHAT'S TO HAPPEN AND WHEN. T. C. Taylor presides in chapel. Wednesday, April 6: Rev. J. E. Welch, pastor of the First Baptist Church, of Durham, speaks in chapel. Thursday, April 7: Mrs. G. A. Harrow sings in chapel. Baseball game, Carolina vs. University of Maryland, 3:45 p. m., Emerson Field.

Friday, April 8: Dr. Chase in chapel. Baseball game, Carolina vs. University of Florida, 3:45 p. m., Emerson Field.

RULES OF CONFERENCE GIVEN BY DR. MANGUM

Southern Inter-Collegiate Conference Adopts Regulations Covering College Athletics. (By DR. CHARLES S. MANGUM) On February 25th, 1921, representatives from fifteen Southern Universities and Colleges met in Atlanta and organized the Southern Intercollegiate Conference.

The purpose of this conference is to band together the larger institutions of the South under uniform regulations which will eliminate the most glaring and troublesome evils of College Athletics. Delegates were present from: University of Alabama, Alabama Polytechnic Institute, Clemson College, Georgia School of Technology, University of Georgia, University of Kentucky, University of Tennessee, University of Maryland, Mississippi Agricultural and Mechanical College, North Carolina State College, University of North Carolina, Tulane University, University of Virginia, Virginia Polytechnic Institute, Washington and Lee University.

Representatives from Center College of Kentucky and Johns Hopkins University were present as visitors. The following regulations were adopted and the fifteen institutions named above became members subject to ratification by the respective University and College authorities. I. Name: Southern Intercollegiate Conference. II. Membership limited to sixteen institutions, principally State Institutions of the Southern States. III. Athletic Rules: 1. No person shall compete in intercollegiate athletics until he shall have been in residence one year and has completed scholarship requirements of the institution in which he enters. Summer school does not count as residence in the meaning of

On April 4th, an adjourned meeting of the North Carolina club considered public utilities in North Carolina cities—utilities that are commonly owned by franchise policies in our cities. The discussion was led by W. E. Wolfe, who brought fresh information of public utilities to his audience his discussion having been based upon information gathered through questionnaires which were sent out by him to the city clerks and secretaries of the Chambers of Commerce of 157 North Carolina cities.

On April 11th the North Carolina club will discuss a subject of vital import to the people of the state and nation—"Home Ownership, the Housing Problem in North Carolina—The Facts and Their Social Significance."

SURVEYS COMPLETED BY WELFARE GROUP

Durham and Orange Counties Checked Up to Find Ratio of Pool-Rooms to Churches.

A social and religious survey of Orange and Durham counties under the auspices of the School of Public Welfare, the Department of Rural Social Science, and the Bureau of Extension was completed yesterday by Miss Helen Belknap, Field Director for the Committee on Social and Religious Surveys with offices in New York City. The results of this survey, which was begun about March 7th, are expected to provide a vast fund of information concerning community life in North Carolina.

In Orange and Durham counties Miss Belknap's survey covered every community which centered around a school. The social survey included the collecting of information concerning the outline of each community, its location, economic conditions, its social mind, means of communication, community leadership, social feeling and public opinion, social classes, community activities—how many dance halls, bowling alleys, public meeting places, theaters, etc., social organizations and schools.

State Papers Call Lowe the "Babe" Ruth of North Carolina.

BRYSON WORKING GOOD

Lowe's Homer, Bryson's Pitching, and Excellent Fielding Factors in 5 to 3 Victory.

(By J. J. WADE)

Robbins Lowe smashed out his third home run in a like number of games played in the second inning of the Virginia game Saturday, and his terrific drive which scored Spruill ahead of him was the decisive factor in winning from the Virginians by the score of 5 to 3.

Lowe had been praised in the state papers as the "Babe" Ruth of North Carolina for his clouting out two homes in the first two games with Davidson and North Carolina State before his third remarkable hit in the Virginia contest, but the hitting of that third home run only gives him more right to be called the college "Babe" Ruth.

Bryson started his first varsity game in the box and his debut turned out to be beautiful work, and he held the Virginians in check throughout the contest although at times he was hit rather hard and pretty fielding by some of Carolina's aces helped to sew up the contest. Bryson was opposed by Taylor, who also pitched a nice game, and the pitcher's duel was about evenly divided in honors.

In the second inning after Spruill had walked, Lowe contributed his home run drive, and gave Carolina a two-run lead that was decisive in the final score. The ball was driven over the left field wall, and was the first ball pitched to the Carolina home run king. In the fourth frame Carolina counted twice more when Spruill laced out a single and Llewellyn's fly was dropped by Vance after a long run, and later Taylor pegged wild to first, Llewellyn racing home. In the fifth inning Carolina scored again on an infield hit by Morris, a safe bunt by Spruill, and a passed ball.

Carolina's classy infield made a big impression on the two thousand spectators attending the first of the three game series between Carolina and Virginia. McLean and McDonald accepted thirteen chances between them without a bobble, Spruill had eleven put outs to his credit without an error and Morris, on third was forced to register the only error for the Tar Heels.

Fast and clever fielding by the Carolina team caused big applause at times during the contest and Fetzter's men looked good as gold on the Virginia field. Lowe's home run drive was, of course, the feature of the game. Lowe registered two other such homers this season at just the right time, and he is largely responsible for the three victories that Carolina has annexed so far. His hitting will be watched with increasing interest and as to whether he will keep the good work up or not is only left to speculation.
