Vol. XXIX Chapel Hill, N. C., Friday, April 15, 1921. No. 52

We congratulate Davidson in winning over us in our own home town. We feel confident that they can justifiably take great pride in such a victory over our Club.

EARLIER ELECTIONS

Those students who have expressed themselves on the question have, with one exception, agreed that the adoption of such a policy would be wise. The only one dissenting fails to recognize that we have already agreed with him, for we said sometime since "In the case of class elections, we realize, it would not be possible for the incoming presidents to take over the work of the Student Council for the last month of the year. But they can use the benefit of this last month in getting ready for the work of next year, forming their cabinets, etc."

And so, we take it, that we are all practically agreed on this proposition. The next thing that confronts us is getting such a policy actually in operation. This means that every group conducting elections will have to pass upon this question; and so we propose that some one in each group sees to it that the matter is acted on there. For the general athletic association, this matter will be brought before the Athletic Council for its consideration.

As a means of having something definite to work upon, we would suggest that the nominations be made during the first week in May, and that the elections come during the following week. This would give adequate time, we believe, to realize the ends we are seeking in urging this change. If this time is not propitious, we hope that someone will come forth with a definite suggestion immediately so that this matter can be disposed of at least ten days before the time for making the nominations.

BRADSHAW SPEAK ON CAMPUS IMMIGRATION

Dean Gives New Interpretation of Immigration in the University; Campus Increased Yearly.

Talking in Chapel before the Freshman Class Wednesday morning, April 6, Dean Bradshaw gave a new interpretation of immigration in the University. The population of the University is each year increased by 10 per cent by immigration, in the form of Freshmen. The question naturally arises as what is the policy to be pursued in the Americanization of these immigrants. "Shall we extend to them a welcome, association, hospitality, good feeling, and tell them of the grandeur and greatness of this place, or shall we extend to them the kind of welcome that has recently been manifested in some of the other colleges of the State?" The former is the policy of the University of North Carolina.

This university has a trade mark in the form of the things for which it stands and these things the immigrant must learn before he can become fully Americanized. The University of North Carolina does not stand for the jeering of an opposing pitcher in a baseball game. "You can have the advantages of this trade mark, but there are things which you cannot do, because in doing them you are destroying the brand." In these words Dean Bradshaw showed how each one is a vital part of the whole, and that each one must play the game and live up to the brand or get off the field. "It is your task to uphold the things for which men of this University have fought for one hundred and twenty-five years. He who yells at an opposing pitcher is an immigrant."

The brand of the University of North Carolina stands for hard work, clean sportsmanship, quiet self-respect for others, and the doggedness that doesn't give in. "Realize the prize of the tradition of the name that you bear. Remember that you are a member of a team and no one can play that position but you."

BROADWAY CAFE

Student Headquarters
Greensboro, N. C.

An old custom, that of placing several benches during the Spring quarter under Davis Poplar—reserved for seniors only, where a senior could always find a fellow classman to bull with, has been revived. Any one passing these benches will no doubt be attracted by a glaring red sign bearing an inscription warning other classmen to adopt a "laissez faire" policy in regard to them.
