ALL SHOULD VOTE.

With the system of the Athletic Association in electing its officers by a plurality vote it is pretty important that all members of the association vote in the election so as to make it as representative as possible. Of course, in many instances there are only two men running, but in an equal number of instances there are from four to ten men in the race for the same position. Even though a large number voting will not absolutely guarantee that justice will be done by all of these aspirants, the election will be made much more representative, if all will vote.

Balloting will take place tomorrow, and with the polling places scattered over the campus, there is no reason why every man should not vote. Everyone of us should urge the other fellow to vote.

And with the amount of publicity that has been given to the election, and the early publication of the names of the nominees the student body should be able to vote intelligently. For it is not enough for all of us to vote alone, but it is more important that we vote intelligently. Voting is a responsibility, and not a privilege. And if this responsibility is correctly met, it means that each of us must spend a little time studying the candidates in order to do our duty.

We hope that every student will vote tomorrow, and that they will prepare themselves now to vote intelligently.

What of a Fall intercollegiate debate with the University of South Carolina? It seems that it would be well to build up a little closer relationship between the two sister-state institutions. And in addition, South Carolina would be an opponent strong enough to call for the best we have in order to win. Her record in intercollegiate debating is very fine. During the current year she has defeated Columbia University and New York University along with the one or two other institutions that she defeated.

The Music Department promises us a much completer success in Pinafore, the Gilbert and Sullivan light opera, than that which it attained in the production of Mikado a year ago. And yet many of us failed to see the performance last year because we were not quite conscious of what was to happen because, perhaps, it was something entirely different from that to which we had been accustomed. We hope that this will not be the case this time; both because we believe that the production is going to be amply worth the while and price for any of us, and because it is an effort on the part of the Music Department to build up programs of this sort that are fine, and worth while for the community.

FACT AND COMMENT

The University Bureau of Extension has just recently released an extension booklet containing a study course in modern drama, a program for women's clubs by Miss Elizabeth A. Lay, secretary of the division of community drama. This course includes a study of plays of Ibsen, Bjornson, Strindberg, Arthur Wing Pinero, Oscar Wilde, George Bernard Shaw, Sir James Barrie, Maurice Maeterlinck, Vaughn Moody, Eugene O'Neill and others. The introduction to the course is written by Dr. F. H. Kock, professor of dramatic literature.

The statement in the issue of The Tar Heel on the 17th in regard to the immediate tearing down of the old University Hotel, now known as the Inn, was wrong. It is not to be torn down in the immediate future. This is a source of regret, for the old Civil War relic is a sight sore to the eyes of many.

It will be of interest to many to know that a new industry is to be established in Orange county by an alumnus, Mr. Collier Cobb, Jr. This new industry is to be a large and up to date rock-crushing plant. Rock, formerly obtained from Rowan county and from the Mt. Airy section, will be supplied to Orange county in the future from within her own borders, and by a native son. Mr. Cobb will supply crushed stone for road beds, and for other construction.

Dr. Knight of the School of Education returned Saturday from Wilson county where he gave the commencement address at the closing exercises of the Rock Ridge High School last Friday.

Dr. Knight, Edgar W., left Tuesday morning for Ayden where he has an engagement to give the commencement address at the closing of the schools there tonight. On Thursday he leaves for Maxton to attend the closing of the school in that town Friday morning.

Professor Walter B. Jones of the Geology Department, delivered an address at the closing exercises at the Swan Quarter School Friday morning.

Students in the Department of Psychology are looking forward to the establishment of a chapter of the Alpha Phi Delta fraternity here. This is a professional fraternity for those interested in the subject of psychology. Owing to the lateness of the season, the final organization has been postponed until fall.

In a recent issue of The Tar Heel, it was stated that Dr. Odum delivered the commencement address at Plymouth May 13. This was a mistake the address was delivered by Mr. S. H. Hobbs of the Department of Rural Economics.

Dr. H. W. Odum delivered an address at the closing exercises of the Jonesboro High School Tuesday evening.

Professor J. F. Stiener has been called to Washington for a special conference on public education for the American Red Cross.

The Department of Electrical Engineering has drawn the plans to be used in the construction of an electric light plant at Chimney Rock. This plant will be used in lighting the Mountain View Inn, in Chimney Rock, the road up to it, and other hotels and dwellings in that vicinity.

Jake Wade and Billy Bourne were initiated in the journalistic fraternity of Sigma Delta Chi on Friday night.

George (Yank) Tandy, who kicked the goal after Folger's 70-yard touchdown which licked Virginia in 1916, will umpire this summer in the Southern League.

Oliver Stewart, class of '19, coach of the Red Oak baseball team, and Graham A. Barden, also class of '19, and coach of the New Bern team, were on the Hill the last week-end. Hilton West, of the class of '19, now permanent secretary of his class, was also a visitor here last Saturday. He is the editor of the Chართown News of Thomasville.

Claude R. Joyner, a star pitcher on last year's varsity team, and present coach of the Winston-Salem high school nine, was on the Hill Monday.

Dean George Howe, of the College of Liberal Arts, will go to the University of Chicago this summer to act in the capacity of professor of Latin in the annual summer school of that institution.

A picture of Major Charles M. Stedman, of the class of 1861, the last Confederate veteran in the halls of congress, appears on the cover of the May issue of the Confederate Veteran. In the same magazine, Chief Justice Walter Clark, in writing of Major Stedman, speaks of him as "the rear guard of the Confederacy." "If the spirits of the soldiers of Lee and Jackson who sleep on many a battlefield on mountain side and by many a river and they who since, falling beneath the leaden hail of the years, have filled honored graves throughout the South, could be summoned and down the long lines could pass the figure of this last soldier of the Confederacy in the halls of congress, the shadowy squadrons and battalions and brigades would salute him as "the rear guard of the Confederacy," faithful to his comrades and their name to the last."

It is interesting to note that Mr. David H. Blair, a prominent attorney of Winston-Salem, over the appointment of whom to the office of commissioner of internal revenue great controversy has risen in congress, is a member of the law class of 1893. He assumed the duties of commissioner of internal revenue the first of this month.

Another alumnus who will attend the thirty year reunion of the class of '91 at the coming commencement is Mr. W. W. Davies, a brilliant lawyer of Louisville, Ky., who was nominated as a candidate on the Democratic ticket in the recent election for mayor of that fair city, but who declined to run on account of ill health. While at the University he won the Mangum medal. In the World War he served as a captain in the Red Cross service. He also served as captain in the Spanish-American war.

Mr. James G. Hanes, who recently won out over Teacher Tom Jimison in the majority contest of Winston-Salem, is a member of the class of '09. He is also the president and treasurer of the Shamrock Mills, cotton manufactory.

Mr. T. G. Trenchard, of the law class of '16, formerly head football coach at the University, recently returned to his home in South Carolina after spending ten months in "Y" service with American soldiers in France and Germany, and 18 months with the Czecho-Slovakian army.

SENIORS AND SOPHS LEADING CLASS BALL

Large Amount of Interest Is Being Displayed in Inter-Class Baseball Tournament.

A resume of the class baseball played plus the attendance at these games indicate that greater interest has been shown in inter-class baseball this year probably than ever before, more so on account of the intense rivalry of the Seniors and Sophomores who are running neck and neck in the race for the championship.
