

Wanted—Sherlock to Do Some Mystery Work

An epidemic of "hanging garments" has spread over the campus. It will be remembered that some time ago a dazzling evening dress accompanied by silk hose of the same color were suspended from a window in Smith building. This garment mysteriously disappeared, its appearance was of like manner. The problem is yet to be solved.

Another garment affair has occurred, namely, a striped shirt, suspended from the roof of Memorial Hall on the west side, by the sleeves. The date of the appearance of this garment is unknown, and equally as much is known about its means of arrival. What can these occurrences mean?

The ancient Romans, after having been rescued from ship-wreck, would hang the garments worn at the time of disaster, upon the walls of the temple, but they also put up a tablet explaining the affair. If this is the proper explanation to the present affair, what has become of the votive tablet.

Bids For Construction To Be Opened Thursday

Bids for contracts on the general construction work for the two year building program to be instituted here, will be received on Thursday the 26th.

Very much interest is being manifested by contractors, for these bids. About 30 having asked for information regarding them. Most inquirers have been North Carolina contractors. From the present outlook, competition for the bids will be very keen.

Plans and specifications for all buildings to be constructed are being carried forward rapidly.

The plans for the railroad extension into the central part of Chapel Hill, are being rapidly pushed, and are already practically completed. Work will be begun in a few days.

Signer or Singer?

Matrimonial ad—"Wanted: A husband; must be a good signer." One's first thought is that the lady wants some one to pay her bills, but in all probability the flouter has made her appear mercenary when she is merely musical.—Boston Transcript.

CAROLINA IS DEFEATED TWICE ON TENNIS TRIP will consist of short folk plays written by students in Professor Koch's classes.

Dr. Adolph Coblenz, who will come to the summer school under the auspices of the Jewish Chautauqua Society of America, will deliver a series of four lectures, the subjects being as follows: The Prophet, The Philosopher, The Rabbi, and Modern Jewish Movements.

A music festival, under the direction of Prof. Paul J. Weaver, will be given the latter part of July. The chorus for this festival will be organized at the beginning of the session, and there will be important soloists for the occasion.

It has been announced that several prominent lecturers and speakers will appear before the summer school, among whom are Prof. Henry W. Holmes, dean of the graduate school of education, Harvard University; Prof. Lee L. Driver, director of the bureau of rural education for the state of Pennsylvania; Supt. A. C. Thomas, of the state of Maine; Prof. W. C. Jackson of N. C. C. W.; Prof. John J. Blair, director of school house planning; Dr. H. W. Chase, Dr. E. C. Brooks, state superintendent of public instruction; Mr. Josephus Daniels, formerly secretary of the navy; Dr. H. H. Williams and Dr. A. H. Patterson.

Professor Holmes, June 27-July 1, will deliver a series of lectures on Social Objectives of Education. He will also conduct a series of round table conferences. Professors Driver and Thomas will both give evening lectures, the first during the week of July 11-July 16, and the last during the week of July 25-July 30, on subjects pertaining to rural education. Professor Jackson will give two lectures on the "Negro," while Professor Blair will deliver two illustrated lectures on "Art and Architecture for the School and Home."

The following lecturers will come to the University in connection with the School of Public Welfare for a week or more of lectures:

Prof. E. L. Morgan, director of rural training services, University of Missouri; Hon. Burr Blalock, secretary of the Georgia State Board of Public Welfare, on the Organization and Administration of Public Welfare; Hon. Croft Williams, secretary of the South Carolina State Board of Public Welfare, on the Organization and Administration of Public Welfare; Dr. C. C. Carstens, secretary of the National Child Welfare League, on Child Welfare; Miss Georgia Ralph, of New York School of Social Work, on Child Welfare; Mr.

Clarence Johnson, of the Division of Child Welfare, North Carolina State Board of Charities and Public Welfare, on Child Welfare; Miss Ada Woolfolk, director of the Bureau of Training of the Southern Division of the American Red Cross, on Juvenile Delinquency.

ICE CREAM

There's nothing can quite take its place, especially in summertime. Everyone enjoys it from a palatable standpoint. No other food so cooling, so nourishing, so wholesome.

For afternoon luncheons or as a dessert for the summer meal, there's nothing to equal it. There is no food quite so beneficial to the children.

So why not serve Waverly Ice Cream—the best, the purest, the most satisfying ice cream. We make it. A good variety of flavors ready.
