

MUCH INTEREST SHOWN BY STATE HIGH SCHOOLS IN CHAMPIONSHIP GAMES

Chapel Hill Takes State Championship Honors in Football, Basketball, and Track.

RED OAK WINS BASEBALL

The State high school athletic contest for 1920-1921 came to a close Monday afternoon, when Red Oak, eastern North Carolina baseball champions, defeated Winston-Salem, the western champions, by the score of 8 to 1, the game being played on Emerson field.

Officials of the contest, have declared the past year the best the contest has ever had, twice as many schools entering all the contests as the previous season.

Last fall in football, twenty-three schools entered the contest, Monroe winning the western championship and Chapel Hill the eastern. The game for the State championship was played between these two teams on Emerson field, Chapel Hill emerging the victor by the score of 14 to 0. Since 1915 and up until last fall, the games have been more or less one-sided, but the Monroe-Chapel Hill game was a real treat, authorities on the game declaring it one of the best games seen on Emerson field last season.

When the basketball contest opened, forty-four schools entered, twenty-two from the eastern and twenty-two from the western part of the State, being well divided between the city and rural schools. The contest narrowed itself down to four teams, Chapel Hill and Newbern from the east, and Charlotte and Leaksville from the west. In the elimination contest which was played in Bynum gymnasium, Newbern and Leaksville were eliminated, leaving Charlotte and Chapel Hill to battle for the championship. Charlotte was defeated by a one point margin, the score being 33 to 32, giving Chapel Hill the State championship.

Interest in track took a surprising leap forward this year, fifteen schools entering the contest, sending one hundred and twenty-five athletes to compete for State honors in the meet which was held May 15 on Emerson field. This has also been declared the best high school track meet ever seen here, Chapel Hill carrying off the honors with Greensboro finishing in second place. Greensboro later entered the South Atlantic high school meet, which is sponsored by the University of Alabama, and won first place, setting four new high school records.

Tennis, along with the other sports, was entered with a greater enthusiasm, but the entry was smaller than that of the other contests. Oak Ridge

SCHOLASTIC FACTS ARE ANNOUNCED BY WILSON

Better Standing Among Both Fraternity and Non-Fraternity Men During Last Quarter.

Dr. Thomas J. Wilson, the registrar, has recently announced some interesting scholastic facts about University students. At the end of last quarter The Tar Heel carried the standing of the various undergraduates, both fraternity and non-fraternity students. Below are the scholastic standings of the Winter term.

The relative standing of one hundred and eighty-five fraternity undergraduates at the end of the fall quarter was 3.7006. At the recent compilations of winter term scholarship the relative standing of the fraternity undergraduates was 3.3701. The relative standing of the non-fraternity students at the end of the fall quarter was 3.4858. For the winter quarter the standing was 3.4402.

The number of fraternity undergraduates on the honor roll for the fall quarter was 5. For the winter quarter it was 14. Ninety-eight non-fraternity men were on the honor roll of the fall quarter, while 101 were on the honor roll for the winter quarter. The Delta Tau Deltas seem to lead the list of fraternities in scholarship, with the Zeta Psi's second. A more complete account will be published about the standings when they are fully arranged.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT INSTITUTED AT STATE

Elections Held Monday Result in the Selection of Officials For Student Government

Raleigh, N. C., Monday, May 23.—Student government became a reality at State College yesterday with the election of twenty-eight men to serve as members of the house, and sixteen men to membership of the Student Council, the executive branch of the government. A. G. Floyd, of Fairmont, prominent in both major branches of athletics at the college was named to be first president of the Council.

Full control of college discipline will be vested in the hands of the Council with the beginning of the collegiate year next September. Law making powers are placed in the hands of the larger house of representatives, and their administration vested in the student council which acts as a court for the administration of such rules and regulations as may be agreed upon by the larger and more representative body.

Membership in the house is distributed over the entire student body, and includes the 16 members of the student council. One member is chosen from each department of the several classes, with the provision that no member of the freshman class takes his place in the house until the beginning of the second semester. Seven members of the senior class, five from the junior class, three from the sophomore and one member-at-large compose the student council.

The newly elected president of the council is a member of this year's junior class. He played left field on this year's baseball team, and was a member of the football team last year. He is president of the Athletic Association. K. S. Nissen, Winston-Salem, was named vice president; W. M. Cummins, Reidsville, secretary and T. W. Sutterfield, Leaksville, treasurer.

The right to regulate their conduct through student government was conferred upon the students by the board of trustees in a special meeting at the college on April 26, thus ending an agitation for reform which has lasted for several years. Until the April meeting of the trustees, frequent petitions for self-government had been denied, the trustees and students being unable to agree upon any plan mutually acceptable.

Early last fall a committee of students composed of E. W. Constable, chairman; W. R. Wearn, secretary; O. A. Zachary, W. S. Mann, B. D. Barr, A. R. Morrow, and W. C. Eagles, all members of the senior class, quietly started to work on the proposition. The systems in use in nearly every institution in the United States were carefully studied and a constitution embodying the best principles of each, together with some original features to suit local conditions, was drawn up and submitted to the trustees.

During this time a special committee from the trustees had carefully investigated the problem and had become convinced that a workable system could be inaugurated at the college. With a few minor changes the plan submitted by the students was adopted.

OPEN AIR THEATRE IS NOW BEING REMODELED

Carolina Playmakers Supervising Construction on Work on Theatre in Woods For Summer School

The open air theatre in Battle Park is being remodeled by the Carolina Playmakers. This theatre is ideally located in a grove of old oaks; the stage is situated at the bottom of a gently sloping hill, which forms an almost perfect natural amphitheatre. The sides and back of the stage are formed by a thick screen of young cedars; there is also a dressing room in the rear made in this manner.

Viewed from the edge of the woods, the entire theatre has the appearance of having been formed by nature alone, as there is very little evidence of man's handiwork either in the seating space or in the stage itself. All the undergrowth has been cleared from the side of the hill, giving ample room for several hundred spectators to view the plays that will be staged there this spring.

CORRESPONDENCE COURSE FOR BACKWARD STUDENTS.

Students who wish to take University courses for credit while away from the campus this summer may do so. The University Extension Division now offers correspondence courses in the following subjects: Economics, Education, English, History, Latin and Mathematics. Additional courses will be developed this fall.

The quality of instruction by correspondence is equal in every way to classroom work and carries the same amount of credit toward degrees. Each student receives the individual attention of the professor giving the course.

Students who are behind a course or two can make this up by taking correspondence work this summer. Also those who wish to earn extra credit may do so. All students registered in the University as well as anyone capable of meeting the entrance requirements are eligible to take correspondence courses. Students who are not to return to the University next year may continue their education by taking courses through the University Extension Division.

Further information and applications for correspondence courses may be had in Mr. Snell's office in Alumni building.

OFFICERS OF NEW AND OLD 'Y' CABINET MEET

Van Noppen Gives Advice to Successors and Tells What the "Y" Stands For.

As is the customary practice, the newly elected Y. M. C. A. officers and next year's cabinet met with the old administration forces Sunday afternoon for the purpose of going over and thoroughly discussing the work for the coming year. Like the disciples of old they met out on the hillside with their advisers in the persons of Mr. Frank Graham and Parson Moss. About twenty-two men were present in all. Secretary Phillips made a few remarks on the work of the past year, its successes and its failures, its outlook, its hopes and possibilities for the future. He told the men that above everything else they should love the Y. M. C. A., that it is up to each individual member of its administration to give to the campus the best service possible in every form possible by untiring efforts and by doing everything in the best way possible.

Retiring President Van Noppen also made a brief talk of encouragement and advice to his successors. He spoke on what the Y. M. C. A. is, what it stands for, etc. Stating that it should not only serve, he also said that the "Y" should realize its name—Youth, Manhood, Christianity—Associated. President Van Noppen then turned the meeting over to President-elect C. J. Williams, who called for discussion from all departments with department head as leaders. Several men took part, including Mr. Graham and "The Parson." Eats of a varied assortment were served, thus making the meeting pleasant as well as informational.

TWENTY-SIX LETTERS AWARDED TO ATHLETES

Athletic Council Makes Letter Awards in Baseball, Tennis, and Track.

At a meeting of the Athletic Council on Monday night, May the 23rd, the N. C. awards for the track, baseball and tennis players were made. There were twenty-six letters awarded to regular participants in the athletic contests of these three sports, and three managers were awarded letters.

Those players who received letters for work in baseball number 12 and are as follows: Morris and McGhee, catchers; Llewellyn, Bryson and Wilson, pitchers; Spruill, McClean, McDonald and Fred Morris of the regular infield; Sweetman, Shirley and Lowe of the outfield and Manager William H. Ruffin, Jr.

The following track men received letters for excellence in that sport. Excellence and general fighting ability. Sinclair, Hardin, the captain of next year's team; Captain Bill Royal of this year's team; Ranson, Smiley, Fishel, Yates, Parker, Abernathy, Norris and Manager Murchison. This is a large number of track letters awarded, but the work of the track men, who were handicapped several times during the season, by the illness of the regular coach and the seeming lack of material, has well merited it.

Tennis enthusiasts will be interested to know that five letters were awarded in this sport. The men receiving these letters were Captain Jernigan, Bret Smith, T. W. Hawkins, B. H. Bardin and Manager Wade Gardner. These four men have placed tennis in the realms of a real sport at Carolina, and their choice arises from the exceptional ability of their playing during the recent varsity tennis tournament here, and at various tennis tournaments in Greensboro, and in Virginia. Hawkins and Smith won the State championship in tennis doubles recently at the State inter-collegiate tournament in Greensboro. Bardin has been a consistent and steady worker in tennis since his stay at Carolina, and has been recently elected manager of next year's team. Jernigan, who is considered by many to be the best player on the squad, is a player with ability to stick and fight it out in all the games.

This is the last series of awards that the Athletic Council will make before the football awards of next fall. The letters for football and basketball of this year were awarded at the end of these seasons. No steps have been taken by students towards obtaining gold baseballs for the baseball team, though some talk has been heard of the possibility of this. The team was really a wonderful one, and it will no doubt be of interest to students to know that all the men on the squad with the exception of Captain Wilson, will return to college next year.

MOB SPIRIT BREAKS OUT ON THE CAMPUS

High School Game and Tau Kappa Alpha Initiations Causes of Recent Outburst.

The mob spirit which has been lying dormant since the snowball fights suddenly broke out Monday, when law and order were over-ridden at the ball game and on Chapel Hill's main street. Perhaps the oppressive heat caused this outburst of radicalism or the wild and infectious cheering of the Winston girls might have temporarily upset the normal dignity and conservatism of the campus, but at any rate that mystic thing known as the "Carolina Spirit" was conspicuous by its absence.

This was first apparent at the ball game. When the game began some two hundred students either unwilling or unable to pay the admission fee had collected en masse around the scoreboard on left field. However, they did not remain there long, for the grandstand held numerous attractions for them which they could not resist. At a word of command from an R. O. T. C. man, the mob simultaneously sprang up and marched in orderly array across the field. On reaching the fence, the company broke ranks and the young bolshavists with wild whoops took possession of the grandstand.

However, this scene was mild in comparison with that which trans-

SENIORS WILL GIVE A BIG BARBECUE ON CLASS DAY

Also Decide to Present an Exedra For Arboretum as Parting Gift to University.

In the intervals between violent bull and in the midst and through the process of mild bull, the senior class at its last smoker held at the A. T. O. Hall on Tuesday evening decided that it would not attempt another dinner dance after the fashion of the one given by the class of 1920 because of the conflict of this with the faculty reception given to the graduating class and to visiting alumni, and to adopt in its stead a barbecue and bevo tapping. This barbecue will be held on class day, Monday, between the morning exercises of the class in Gerrard Hall and the late afternoon services under the Davie Poplar.

The relic that the class decided to leave behind as a gift to the "dear mother" that shall stand as a reminder to those that came after us of what used to be, is to be an exedra to be placed in the arboretum. There are very few works of art on the University campus, and the class of 1921 hopes to turn the attention of the classes to follow to such simple gifts as this that will make handsome and will go a way to beautify the University grounds. The other alternatives under consideration was that the gift should be a bust of Ex-President Graham, to be placed in the lobby of the Graham Memorial building, when erected; or a statue of some illustrious character connected with the life of the University to be placed at the entrance to the grounds; or a fund to be loaned to needy students. All of these latter proposals gave way to the exedra after some discussion.

Dr. John Manning Booker was the only member of the faculty present, and talked to the class in, as he said he had been instructed, "a lighter vein." After some delightful entertainment, the speaker changed the note of his talk long enough to pay tribute to the class because of its interest in and contribution to campus citizenship.

The other two speakers of the evening were Bob Gray of the Sophomore class and a member of the Tar Heel board, and Buck Dimberly of the Law School. Bob spoke on "I Love the University," while Buck gave his "Casey at the Bat," and the retort thereto.

LOCAL CONTRACTORS NOT DENIED RIGHT TO BIDS

Contract to Protect the University Against War-time Cost, Plus Building Costs.

President Chase has issued a statement answering the representatives of the North Carolina Builders' Exchange in their protest to Attorney General Manning against the form of contract drawn up by the building committee and advertised by Thomas C. Atwood, construction engineer of the committee.

Dr. Chase denies that North Carolina firms have been excluded from bidding for the contract, and asserts that they stand as good a chance as the out of state builders in obtaining a contract for University construction. This is the gist of their complaint as set forth in articles recently published in some of the state papers, with the added complaint against the one contract policy of the building committee.

He goes further in saying that the plan adopted by the building committee will mean a saving for the University, and he asserts that no kicks have been received by authorities from state builders. "The job is wide open," says President Chase, "and the project has been advertised only in North Carolina papers." Both North Carolina and out-side firms have signified their intention of bidding on the job.

The work could only be efficiently and cheaply done here in Chapel Hill by placing the job in the hands of one contracting firm. Such a firm operating on so large a contract can maintain a sequence of operations which will place the construction on an orderly and regular basis. This will also lower the cost of construction and cause the completion of the work to be on time, says President Chase in his statement. The plan of the committee to place the contract as an unit will cause the "main-

WINSTON-SALEM LOSES CHAMPIONSHIP CONTEST TO RED OAK SLUGGERS

Western High School Lads Smothered by Easterners in Hard Fought But One Sided Contest

ERRORS ARE RESPONSIBLE

Red Oak easily defeated Winston-Salem, in the high school championship game, on Emerson Field, Saturday, by a score of 8 to 1. The Red Oak sluggers scored their runs in the fourth, fifth, seventh and eighth innings. The Winston-Salem team scored their only run in the first. Edwards on the mound for Red Oak was superb, allowing only three bingles and giving only two free passes to first. In addition he fanned nine men and contributed a timely single. Johnson pitching for Winston-Salem did excellent work in the box, but had poor support from his team, especially the catcher.

J. T. Jones, one of the spectators, had some ball playing family, having six grandsons on the team. Nearly every player on the Red Oak team is either brother or cousin to the other men, there being six men on the team related to each other. A double by Schiedt and a single by Johnson in the first frame brought in Winston-Salem's only run.

Red Oak staged a rally in the fourth, when Edwards, walked and later stole second. C. Jones walked and a pretty sacrifice by Beal advanced both. A passed ball by Sapp enabled Edwards to cross the plate.

The fifth inning was Red Oak's best, the sluggers scoring four runs. A passed ball, three wild throws and a single by Edwards tell their own tale. The large number of scores made in this inning was due largely to the fact that Johnson was not supported properly by his catcher.

Red Oak scored another run in the seventh, when B. Faulkner made first on Wilson's error and was brought in by a beautiful triple

MANY CLASS REUNIONS DURING COMMENCEMENT

Ten Classes Are to Hold Reunions Here During The Coming Commencement

Various classes of the past are planning for a gala series of reunions at the coming commencement. There will be ten separate reunions at the commencement this year and the secretaries and presidents of these classes are exerting their strongest efforts towards having a large number of their former classmates present.

Those classes who are planning reunions this year are: the class of 1920, the class of 1916, which is represented at the University by Dean Francis Bradshaw; the class of 1911, which has three members living in Chapel Hill; Prof. W. C. George, Cyrus H. Thompson, Jr., and Prof. J. T. Dobbins; the class of 1906; the class of 1901; the class of 1896; the class of 1891, of which Drs. C. S. Mangum and A. H. Patterson are members; the class of 1881; the class of 1871 and the class of 1861, of which Major Charles M. Stedman is an enthusiastic member.

Class reunions at the commencement exercises have always been occasions for much pleasure and enjoyment on the part of the returning class members. T. S. Kittrel, permanent secretary of the class of 1920, writes in the recent issue of The Alumni Review that he has received 36 cards from members of his class stating their intention of being in Chapel Hill during commencement, and that he has received 27 requests for rooms in the South building from returning members.

On the morning of Alumni Day at 10:45 o'clock a business meeting of the General Alumni Association will be held in Gerrard Hall. The Alumni luncheon will be served in Swain Hall at 1 o'clock on that day. Reservations have been made for the various classes as follows: 1861, infirmary; 1871, infirmary; 1881, Old East; 1891, Old East; 1896, Old West; 1901, Old West; 1906, South; 1911, Vance; 1916, Battle; 1920, South.

The May number of The Alumni Review contains some interesting letters from secretaries of the various classes planning to hold reunions.
