Vol. XXIX. Chapel Hill, N. C., May 27, 1921. No. 64

THE END

According to provision made by the Athletic Council at its recent meeting, the tenure of office of the present Tar Heel Board ceases with this issue. The newly elected board will produce two more issues this spring. This change is made in order to give the newly elected Board a chance to become organized before the opening of college in the fall when everything is in process.

And so, the present Tar Heel Board "comes down" today. We have no farewell address to make. If we have done anything in Tar Heel work, you know of it; the things we haven't done, we know more about than you do. And since it would be boring to you to discuss what we have done, we refrain; and because it would be condemning to tell you what we have not done, we refrain again.

We appreciate the sympathy and support that we have received. Many members of the student body, and many members of the Faculty have put themselves to trouble to assist us. To these people we are indebted.

We are indebted to the Y. M. C. A. for the use of the room that has been made Tar Heel headquarters for the year. Without this room, our difficulties would have been multiplied many fold. And we are indebted to our advertisers who have made possible our continuation and expansion during a year that has been extremely difficult financially.

During the past year, we have given Tar Heel subscribers just three times as much newspaper space as that they received during the preceding year; and for the same price. We have given it to them twice every week regularly. Such has not been possible because of any single person. It has been possible because every man on the Board has worked, and worked hard while other men have slept; it has been possible because there has been thorough co-operation between all members on the Board; it has been possible, in short, because this Board has been the best during this college generation.

The one for the coming year, is far better than this. We have no doubt that the Tar Heel for the coming year will as far outstrip the present one, as the present one has outstripped the one that has gone before.

CORRESPONDENCE COURSES

The University is now prepared, through its Bureau of Extension, to offer some of its regular courses through correspondence during the summer months. Mention of this is made elsewhere in this issue, and further information, if desired, can be had from Assistant Director Chester D. Snell. Mr. Snell's office is in the Alumni Building.

Frequently, because of time lost, men are prevented from finishing with their class, by a narrow margin: so narrow that it does not pay the student to spend a month and a half at the Summer School in order to get the small amount of work needed off. For such a man, for the man who is financially unable to spend any extra time in school, and for the man who has busted too much work to come back, but who cannot attend the summer school, these correspondence courses should be of especial interest.

FACT AND COMMENT

Prof. S. H. Hobbs, Jr., recently delivered the commencement address at the Plymouth High School in Plymouth, North Carolina.

President H. W. Chase will go to Winston-Salem Sunday afternoon to deliver an address at the memorial exercises of the American Legion of that city on that night. The occasion is the dedication of a memorial to the soldiers from Winston-Salem who lost their lives in the Great War. From Winston-Salem, Dr. Chase will go to Charlottesville, Va., where he will deliver an address at the Centennial Exercises of the University of Virginia.

The Electrical Engineers held their annual hop on the second floor of Phillips Hall last Wednesday night. Excellent music was furnished by the Tar Baby Five, and refreshments consisting of cake and punch were served throughout the evening. The dance was attended by the members of the school of Electrical Engineering, including the freshmen, and a large number of Co-eds.

A bulletin has been issued by the North Carolina Geological and Economic Survey addressed "To the Girls and Boys of North Carolina." The bulletin is to be read before all school children during the forest protection week from May 22-28.

Every Saturday night students who are majoring in geology meet to discuss questions relating to geology. The purpose of the meetings are to get a free expression of opinion on the questions discussed.

Thursday night, May 26, an illustrated lecture was given by Mr. W. B. Jones to the Geology Club. The subject was "The Building Stones and Copper Deposits of the Southern Appalachians."

LOCAL CONTRACTORS NOT DENIED RIGHT TO BIDS

tenance of a labor force which is practically constant and for which either it (the contracting firm) or the University can afford to provide housing," says Dr. Chase.

President Chase says further that "The committee, after thorough discussion and analysis, feels that the proposed contract does so protect the University against the wasteful practices of war time cost, plus building," and the fact "that its provisions are not designed to exclude North Carolina builders should be evident enough from the fact that North Carolina builders are bidding under its provisions."

CLASS OF ENGLISH '20 ENJOYS FINE SMOKER

Dr. Howell's Class Forgets Work and Has Big Time—Culmination of Interesting Quarter.

Dr. Howell's English class, English 20, had a get together meeting Thursday night outside the class room, and enjoyed a fine smoker and an equally fine program in the Cabin. Dr. Howell's class is devoted to study of business English, a new course recently introduced in the University curriculum. The class has been a most interesting one all quarter, and the smoker was the culmination of a very interesting quarter's work. A number of the class made short humorous and instructive talks and received great applause. Jim Stroud thoroughly pleased with his display of eats and smokes.

MUCH INTEREST SHOWN BY STATE HIGH SCHOOLS

won out in doubles, and Raeford in singles. Both the tennis and track meets were held during high school week at the University.

Twice as many schools entered the baseball contest this season as that of the previous season, there being thirty in all. There were several features worthy of note in this contest, especially the struggle between Carey and Newbern which was called after fifteen scoreless innings. In the game which played off the tie, Newbern won after fourteen innings by the score of 3 to 2, fully two thousand people witnessing the game. Red Oak, however, later eliminated Newbern at Chapel Hill for the eastern championship. In the western finals, fifteen hundred people saw Winston-Salem defeat Monroe by the score of 11 to 5, the game being played in Monroe. This gave Winston the western championship, losing here Monday to Red Oak, the eastern champions, in the State championship game. Red Oak also won the baseball championship in 1919.

Evidence of the great amount of interest which the different towns are taking in these contests, is plainly shown by the large crowds which attended the games at Newbern and Monroe. These contests will be continued again next year, and the prospect seem even brighter than they were during the past season.

WINSTON-SALEM LOSES CHAMPIONSHIP CONTEST

knocked out in the outer garden by S. Jones.

The remaining two scores were made in the eighth when Beal was safe at first on Wilson's error, and later crossed the plate on a wild throw. Griffin was safe on a wild throw from third to first and advanced to third on an error by Sapp. A single by Overton brought him in.

Many pretty girls from Winston-Salem and neighboring colleges were present. Yells that Emerson Field had never heard before were given by them. Their support of their team, although it was losing, deserves praise.

MOB SPIRIT BREAKS OUT ON CAMPUS

pired on the main drag of Chapel Hill immediately after supper at the initiation of B. C. Brown and P. Hettleman into the Tau Kappa Alpha fraternity. Brown and Hettleman, clad in long swallow-tail coats and silk hats, resembling second-rate actors, were prepared to give discourses on "Clean Politics" and "Is the Carolina Student Body Sinking into Innocuous Desuetude?" respectively. Brown was the first speaker, but his eloquent words were drowned out by the thunderous yelling of the crowd. Then the "Carolina Spirit" flew to the seven winds and rioting broke loose. The well-intentioned speakers became the objects of derisive laughter, jibes, no-account lemons and over-ripe eggs. Eggs are exceedingly cheap at present and they were to be had in plenty. For ten minutes the eggs rained in a golden shower and soon the targets, Brown and Hettleman, began to resemble living omelets. It was a most extraordinary sight. Finally B. C. Brown lost his usual placidness and picking out an especially abusive egg-thrower, gave him chase in the direction of Berman's store. Brown's speed was surprising, and he must have covered the 220 yards in close to record time.

At this stage of the disorder, it occurred to the rabble that it was a most opportune time to "rush the 'Pick,'" so on to the Pick they went, amid wild shouting and flying "hen fruit." They met stern opposition in the person of "Moose" Tenney and three other huskies, but the stormers easily bowled over the defenders and surged inside. At this point, the invaders were frustrated for no picture was forthcoming. Then as Alexander of yore the crowd lamenting that there were no more worlds to conquer, reluctantly dispersed, and order was once more restored.

MUNICIPAL FINANCES FOR NORTH CAROLINA

The North Carolina Club will hold its last meeting of the year Monday night, May 30th, for a consideration of the municipal finances of North Carolina cities. It is estimated that at least $500,000 could be saved by the cities in this State through a uniform and more up-to-date system of accounting. A large crowd is expected at this meeting because of the timely interest of the subject and its bearing in municipal accounting reform. Phillip Hettleman will present a paper on this subject.
