Vol. XXIX. Chapel Hill, October 4, 1921. No. 68

TO 1925

Across the vista of years since the doors of Carolina opened to us stumbling along with a condition in Virgil and American History there comes the memory of an editorial in this sheet. A very good editorial it was, piled high with excellent advice. We remember that we read it and formed the following conclusions:

1. To write home often.
2. To go to church.
3. To study hard.
4. To wear the glory of Golden Fleece.

None of these things have we done. It was not the nature of the sweet and some of the bitter that is life but not so far have we galloped down the road of life that we are able to stop along the road bearing light to younger seekers after truth.

If you feel the need of it build for yourself a code to live by, throw all the ethics you know overboard and trip along until the Salvation Army assures you that "a man may be down but he's never out!"

There is but one thing. Be yourself. The University, as any other college, will build you and broaden you but you go along through the academic mill with five hundred others and the percentage of you that graduate will have received all the culture and knowledge that is possible for $360 net. Even that amount you can escape if you assiduously pick puds and cram before exams. But to be the man you think you are going to be and your mother knows you are going to be you've got to do more than drop the coin in the machine and pull the lever.

FROM WASHINGTON AND LEE.

While we do not absolutely agree with the spirit of the articles below, which appeared recently in the Ring-Tum Phi (Washington and Lee), under the heading, "Sophomore Class Entertains Freshmen," we feel justified in reprinting them for the entertainment at least of the incoming class, and in the hope that perhaps some helpful suggestions may be gleaned therein:

The Sophomore Class entertained the Freshman Class at a "Paddle Spruce" Thursday night, which was apparently thoroughly enjoyed by all the "Sophas." The sophomores overdid themselves in their hearty welcome and kind efforts to make the Freshmen feel at home as much as possible. From the speed shown at the gauntlet we should have an excellent crowd of ten second men among the Freshmen.

The following rules have been laid down by the committee on "Assimilation of New Men" and are now in effect:

1. Freshmen must wear their Freshman caps at all times.
2. Freshmen must speak to every student and all officials of the University and speak first.
3. Freshmen must be off the streets by 10 o'clock p. m., Saturday excepted.
4. Freshmen must attend all rallies and learn all the college songs and yells.
5. Freshmen must keep off the grass when on the campus.
6. Freshmen must wear regulation green ties at all dances.
7. Freshmen may only be admitted to a dance when escorting a young lady, and only two Freshmen or one Freshman with an old man may be admitted with the same young lady.
8. Freshmen shall at all times conduct themselves in a gentlemanly manner, avoiding all rowdiness in public.
9. Prior to January first no Freshman shall be allowed to call upon any young lady unless accompanied by an old man. This rule does not apply during dances.

TO YOU WHO HAVE LOVED CHAPEL HILL.

To you who have loved Chapel Hill, who have found a splendid peace in her glorious isolation, who have rested content under her magnificent shade, to you these lines are written with a sigh and a smile in remembrance of the Chapel Hill that was.

There has been a slow but unerring transition that has changed our neighborhood in the last few years from the ample rustic resting place to a clamorous "enfant terrible" of a town yelling of good roads and education.

These two are the desecrators of her glory. They have changed the place of peace where dreams were made into a loud land of efficiency, schedules, and motor trucks.

With a rush the villagers, faculty, and students have joined the movement and have brought low the beauty and sweetness of our Chapel Hill that was ever her only hope for fame.

Meritorious movies are flashed for our delight, juicy steaks and fresh things from the sea are brought for us to feed upon, wise men tired under the burden of their great knowledge drone for us in the most modern methods, automobiles will bring beauties to our games and dances, and our bigness will bring us success.

All of which is very splendid. Yet sometimes when the green of leaves and the incense of honeysuckle are deadened by the dust of efficiency, we shall miss the old days when the littleness of Chapel Hill lulled us sleepily and sweetly through terms that were not so full of education and good roads.

AN OPPORTUNITY

During the year 1920-21 the Tar Heel fulfilled its duty to the campus and the University in a way never surpassed. During that year it rose from little weekly of doubtful importance to a live and interesting semi-weekly newspaper. This year with practically the same editorial board the Tar Heel plans to broaden its scope and bring to the students the news of the campus in an even more complete way.

Every student in the University should be a subscriber. Not for any such sentimental reasons as supporting your college paper. Any paper that has to exist by such pleas to the student body has not enough life in it to die. Your subscription to the Tar Heel is not necessary to its financial well being but it is necessary to your well being in your life on the campus.

The Tar Heel in a vital way brings to you the life of the campus, its happenings and its thought.

If you are entering the University this fall you have before you four of the fullest and most glorious years of your life. The record of those four years will be kept for you by the Tar Heel. In its pages what you do, or what your friends do, will be published and no better record of your years here can be obtained than a file of the Tar Heels for those years.

Let one of your first acts as a student be to subscribe to the Tar Heel.

CONFERENCE HELD BY THE Y. M. C. A. CABINET

University, for several years secretary of the Y. M. C. A. at Georgia Tech, and state secretary for seven years at Tennessee he comes to Carolina particularly well fitted to take up the Y. M. C. A. work. Mr. Comer is known as one of the best secretaries in the South, and has won for himself great distinction in the Y. M. C. A. field. The University is exceedingly fortunate in securing a man of such ability, and with the Y. M. C. A. work so much at heart, to fill this important post. Mr. Comer is married and will make his home permanently at Chapel Hill.

Committees Report.

After a short time was spent in general mixing, meeting and hand shaking, and a preliminary devotional service consisting of scripture reading and sentence prayers, was held, the cabinet got down to work, and by committee reports, outlined the plans for the coming year. C. J. Williams, president of the cabinet, outlined some of the general plans, and the program for the meeting.

N. W. Nash, chairman of the social committee, then started the ball rolling in showing the plans for his department, which consisted of extensive preparations in meeting all the freshmen, finding rooms, planning the college night reception, church reception, and attending to other details in reaching the first year men. His committee had their hands filled, and desired aid and cooperation from all cabinet members and committeemen in receiving the freshmen as they ought to be received.

Plans for the campaign to raise funds for the Y. M. C. A. were laid down by the finance committee. C. L. Moore and G. H. Leonard, in charge of this work, thought the budget reasonable enough, and stated that the campaign would be held as early as possible. Plans for advertising and soliciting were discussed, and a method of getting at the parents of students suggested.

The self help committee explained plans to make a complete survey of all help that might be wanted in the Chapel Hill community. It was suggested that everybody keep their eyes open for employment that might be open to self help students. The merit of self help work was discussed, and it was concluded that there was no reason why the work should not be as good as any other.

R. F. Marshburn laid down his plans for the weekly meetings, to be held each Thursday. He especially desired that personal advertising be made to get a large attendance at all these meetings, and that the plan for each would be to start on time, stop on time, and fill every minute.

The Bible Study committee outlined plans for the group Sunday afternoon meetings, which will be held each Sunday at 12:30. There was some doubt as to the advisability of this time, but it was at length agreed that it would be the best time for all concerned.

Secretary Comer explained the plan to have at least two celebrated evangelists down during the year to do work in Chapel Hill. Dr. A. K. Foster and Henry B. Wright are the two evangelists already engaged by Mr. Comer. Both are noted speakers and workers, with interest of the young people at heart.

Plans for Chapel meetings, for the campus department, which will be a reporting committee of campus needs, and the boy scout work, were laid down by the various committees. A discussion of the rural Sunday school work was gone through and it was agreed that this work should be more extensive than ever, and if transportation could be secured, would this year reach many of the rural Sunday schools as yet untouched.

The negro work was discussed by Lillycrop, who declared that the negro settlement at Carboro was already "civilized" and seemed to represent any more work. It seems that they already have a night school, a Y. M. C. A. building, and are steadily moving forward. But there are other negro communities that the Y.

M. C. A. plans to reach.

Missions and Volunteer Band work were discussed, and the deputation work. The Building Committee made a report, and showed that plans are being made for a number of additions and changes in the Y. M. C. A. building. The Blue Ridge Committee made a report, and the Personal Work and Morning Watch was discussed. Church relations of the University were gone into by faculty and ministers.

Besides members of the cabinet and committees there were present some of the interested members of the faculty and ministers of Chapel Hill. Charles Phillips, who was acting secretary of the Y. M. C. A. last year, and who is a member of the Greensboro High School faculty this year, was present, and made a short talk during the course of the meeting.

THE BUILDING PROGRAM WELL UNDER WAY NOW NINE HOUSES FINISHED

faculty houses are now ready for use, one fraternity house, the S. A. E., is nearly ready, and six houses for the constructoin organization are finished. Besides the new dwellings there has been completed a new sewerage deposit, a temporary water supply system, and the new railroad extension from Carrboro to Chapel Hill will be finished within five weeks. But as important as all the above are the most needed buildings in Chapel Hill are dormitories, one of these is practically finished, the new steel building, and four others are just getting under way on the old class field. The steel building is not one of the Atwood products but was started last spring by the state. A new class field is being graded back of Emerson field, which will be ready for use the latter part of the fall.

Though only a small part of the building program has been started and even less completed we are able to at least get an idea of what a big thing it is. The construction is to continue for several years for though the one million, four hundred and ninety thousand dollars that the last legislature voted will not by any means carry out the plans, it is expected that the next legislature will at least do as well, if not better. The first of the new dormitories will be completed next March and the other three at intervals of six weeks from then. After that will come an enlargement of Swain hall or possibly a new commons, and then new class room buildings. The new class room buildings, along with several others, are to form a large rectangle back of the South building, extending south into the territory that is now woods.

The building committee in charge of the program are composed of the following men: Col. J. Bryan Grimes of Raleigh, chairman; C. T. Woolen of Chapel Hill, secretary; James A. Gray, Jr., of Winston-Salem, Haywood Parker of Asheville, W. N. Everett of Rockingham, John Sprunt Hill of Durham, George Stephens of Asheville, and President Chase and Dr. McNider of Chapel Hill.

T. C. Atwood, who is the head of all the departments of the construction, is a member of the class of '97 at Boston Tech. Among his other work probably the best known to the college student is the famous Yale bowl. Just before he undertook this job he was in charge of the new factories of the Durham Hosiery Mills that have been going up in Durham and elsewhere.

Garland Porter, president of the student body, worked during the past summer at Atlantic City.

Charlie Parker of the class of 1922 returned to the University after an extended stay in England. Due to a slight error in his passports he was able to gain a quite thorough knowledge of the Liverpool jail.

Phillip Hettleman has entered Columbia University where he will take up the study of law and commerce.

"Yank" Tanty, a former Carolina football star, was on the Hill Saturday for the Wake Forest game.
